101 Reds Counted Dead In Fighting Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—While U.S. troops fanned out around Plei Me in mop-up operations, a toll of 101 Viet Cong dead was claimed today in fighting only 20 miles northwest of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman reported the heavy Communist casualties were suffered in an attack by an estimated two battalions of Viet Cong on a Vietnamese ranger battalion camped at Duc Lap.

Government casualties were termed moderate. American advisers with the rangers suffered light casualties, but all returned to duty after treatment, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong hit the ranger camp at Duc Lap last June and again last month. The attack early today followed the same pattern — a barrage by mortars and small arms and then an assault on the camp.

The rangers fought back, and artillery and air assaults were made quickly on the attackers. The spokesman credited the repulse of the attack and the high Viet Cong casualties to coordination of ground and air fire power.

At Plei Me, airborne American cavalrymen landed and swept south to clear out the last Communist strongpoint threatening the Special Forces camp.

Light mortar and recoilless rifle fire fell during the night near the camp which had been under siege for a week. But the troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division met no resistance as they pushed through the jungle 210 miles northeast of Saigon.

The decision to send out the American troops apparently was made after a South Vietnamese column of infantry and armored vehicles which had relieved the post Monday was hurled back by heavy Communist fire when it began moving south of the camp.

On one ridge the U.S. troops found an abandoned Viet Cong outpost overlooking the camp and the body of one North Vietnamese regular soldier. The area had been heavily bombed by U.S. planes during the siege.

Atop one hill the advancing Americans found one of the Communists' main observation posts. The enemy had pulled out so fast they left behind ammunition, equipment and clothing.

Until Tuesday afternoon the South Vietnamese had turned down offers by U.S. forces to join in the battle. At that point, the government troops were confident that they had chased the Communists away.

The camp was preparing to receive high government officials and accept congratulations for holding out when the Communists opened fire again. Assaults were directed against both the camp and the relief column, and light casualties were inflicted.

There were unconfirmed reports that the equivalent of a full North Vietnamese division was in the area. But U.S. military sources said only one regiment — about 1,200 men — was believed to have engaged the government troops.

The 1st Cavalry moved through the jungle along easy paths. Nearly 600 air strikes had blasted away the undergrowth and stripped trees of branches and leaves.

U.S. officials in Washington had been baffled by the renewal of the Communist attack after the arrival of the 1,300-man relief force. One official speculated that the Reds were trying to "pull a psychological Dien Bien Phu" — a victory which Communist propaganda could liken to the disastrous French defeat in 1954.

The official said the loss of Plei Me would have embarrassed U.S. and South Vietnamese military leaders but would have had nothing like the military effect of the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu.

In other action, an estimated 500 to 600 Viet Cong attacked a government outpost 37 miles southeast of Quang Ngai but withdrew nine hours later after artillery and U.S. naval gun fire were called in, officials said.

Draft Of Men Over 26 Believed Off At Present

Pilot Foils Cuban's Plot For Hijack

Move To Gamble Leads Captain To Overpower Exile

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—High above the Florida Key Capt. K.I. Carlile faced a decision aboard National Airlines Flight 209 from Miami to Key West:

He could obey the desperate commands of an armed Cuban exile and fly the plane on to Havana, or he could gamble and attempt to overpower him.

Carlile decided to gamble, and with the help of his crew disarmed the would-be hijacker Tuesday. The plane landed at Key West at 1:09 p.m. (EST), only nine minutes late.

The exile, Luis Medina Perez, 20, who said he wanted to see his family in Cuba, was wounded and taken prisoner in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion. He was one of 60 prisoners returned to the United States April 14, 1962.

Perez pleaded guilty Tuesday to attempted piracy of an airplane—a federal offense which could carry the death penalty—and was held here in default of $25,000 bond.

The propjet Electra, with a crew of five and 27 passengers including Medina, was 20 minutes out of Miami when the control tower at Miami International Airport got its first word of the incident.

"Have a man on airplane with gun holding it on stewardess," radioed Copilot D.S. McDaniel, 29. "He wants to go to Havana."

Capt. Carlile, 46, filled in the details after the plane landed at Key West.

The FBI said Medina was armed with a BB target pistol which he concealed in a paper bag so that only the butt protruded.

FBI Agent Ralph Jenen of Key West said this made the pistol look like a 45-caliber automatic.

Students Giving Blood

Gesture Of Support For U.S. Policy In Viet Nam

By The Associated Press

Thousands of college students are giving blood to the armed forces with Pentagon appproval as a gesture of support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The junior class at Washington State University collected 750 pints in three days. Hundreds more were turned away for health reasons.

A "bleed-in" is being organized by the Denver Center of Colorado University.

"We wanted to show that not all collge students rush around saying 'no' to everything," said sophomore Bill Van Pelt of Denver, drive organizer.

Pentagon approval came as it was revealed that the May Second Movement prepared to raise funds to send medical supplies to the Communist Viet Cong.

Steve Cherkoss of Berkeley, Calif., a West Coast leader of the movement, who called the United States the "aggressor" in Viet Nam, said his group had "the go-ahead" from the International Red Cross to send the supplies. He did not elaborate on "the go-ahead."

Students at more than a dozen American universities and colleges across the nation are involved in blood drives. The drives came into being after the anti-Viet Nam demonstrations.

The Defense Department said Tuesday it has asked the American Red Cross to collect the blood donations. A defense spokesman said that while the blood is not needed in Viet Nam, it will be used for military requirements within the United States.

He said the first collections will be made early next month at the University of Illinois, where 2,000 volunteer donors have signed up.

"We've had several inquiries already from groups on other campuses who want to provide donations," said Philip Hinterberger, 22, of Alton, Ill., president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Illinois, sponsors of the drive.

In Berkeley, Cherkoss said that sending medical supplies to the Communist Viet Cong would be a "concrete political act against U.S. imperialism."

He said the drive to aid this country's enemy would begin at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif. "Depending on the success of the program at Stanford," Cherkoss said, movement chapters at San Francisco State College, Sacramento State College and the University of California will start similar fund drives.

The movement takes its name from a demonstration on May 2, 1964, which it claims was the first against U.S. intervention in Viet Nam.

Need Filled By Postwar Baby 'Crop'

Married Men May Be Called Soon, Officials Reveal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deputy director of the Selective Service said today that men over 26 have little to fear from the draft at this time — the bumper crop of postwar babies is filling the bill to a great extent.

"Under present circumstances, I don't anticipate that we'll be getting into men over 26,"

Col. Daniel O. Omer said in an interview. "Right now about 150,000 to 160,000 youths a month are coming into their 19th birthday, and this year about 2 million men will reach the age of 18."

Under present law, youths under 19 cannot be drafted. But Omer estimated that about 30 per cent, or 600,000, of the 2 million 18-year-olds will be eligible for induction next year. About 40 per cent will be excused because of school, he said.

As for the 19-year-olds, Omer said that a large number of them will enlist.

"Always when draft calls are high, enlistments are up," he said. "Right now enlistments are good.

"Last month we had calls for 27,000 men, and 33,000 men enlisted after they were examined and found acceptable."

Because of the great number of volunteers, he said, "we missed our call by a few men — about 500.

"So we sort of feel that we were responsible for getting many men into the service who probably would not have enlisted if they hadn't known the call

County To Supply 28 Under November Call

Columbiana County is to supply 28 of the 3,961 Ohioans scheduled to be called up for induction in November, figures from Selective Service headquarters at Columbus show.

State officials said: "We may call up some married men for examination, but it is unlikely any will be inducted, at least as the situation appears now."

They pointed out that with the pool of eligibles "evaporating" with volunteer enlistments, the situation could change in the future.

Victims Believed All British

All 36 Aboard Are Killed In Crash Of British Plane

LONDON (AP) — A British domestic airliner exploded in flames on its third attempt to land in shifting fog at London Airport early today, killing all 36 persons aboard.

"We could see a sheet of flame which seemed to stretch the length of the runway," said one airport employe. "We could see people among the flames but they were obviously dead."

The plane, a four-engine Vanguard turboprop designed to carry 139 passengers, was landing at 1:23 a.m. after a flight from Edinburgh, Scotland. Operated by British European Airways, it carried 30 passengers, one a child, and a crew of 6.

The airline said it was believed all aboard were British. Four hours after the crash all the bodies had been recovered.

It was the first fatal crash for a passenger-carrying Vanguard, which since 1961 has been BEA's workhorse on domestic routes. The deaths also were London Airport's first passenger fatalities in almost 15 years. A BEA twin-engine Viking from Paris crashed and killed 28 persons Oct. 31, 1950. That crash also occurred in fog.

Airport officials said visibility on the runway at the time of the crash today was 500 yards. As fire engines and ambulances raced out, it closed into less than 100 yards and sometimes to zero as fog patches rolled over the No. 1 runway.

The airline said the pilot had made two previous attempts to land, and just before the crash was heard to turn on full power, apparently trying to get airborne again.

John Dabbs, working at an airport service station, said he heard the impact and saw a huge orange flame light the sky.

"Then I saw the plane coming along the runway from the east, breaking up and exploding as it went," he said.

"Seats and bodies were scattered all over the runway. Then the wings broke off.

Modified Space Rendezvous

'Station Keeping' Slated For Next Gemini Flight

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The next U.S. manned Gemini flight will include a modified space rendezvous, called station keeping, it was learned today.

Details of Gemini 7's flight plan came to light as engineers and scientists sought causes for the failure of an Agena rocket, which canceled the first actual attempt to rendezvous and dock two satellites in space Monday.

Station keeping is similar to airplanes flying in formation. Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., the Gemini 7 astronauts, will try to keep within 100 to 300 feet of their Titan 2 second-stage booster for two and one-half orbits.

The United States attempted rendezvous exercises on the last three Gemini missions. All failed.

Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, the Gemini 4 astronauts, tried to "fly in formation" with their booster but could not keep up with it. They had to cancel the experiment when fuel ran low.

While Borman and Lovell are flying along with their booster, they will take pictures and make radiation readings of the burned-out rocket shell.

After 3 hours and 56 minutes of station keeping, astronaut Borman, of Tucson, Ariz., will

Surfacing Scheduled For New Parking Lot

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry is expected to complete preliminary work today and begin Thursday on applying a blacktop surface to the newest city-operated parking lot on W. 5th St. near Jackson St.

The contractor's crews started work Tuesday on fine grading and installation of a slag base. The company said the preparatory work should be finished today, allowing the actual surfacing to begin tomorrow morning, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said.

The lot is the former Hazel Laughlin property, located on the south side of W. 5th St. just east of Jackson St. The city purchased the site several months ago and razed two frame houses to clear the way for the parking lot.

$100-Billion Budget Called Not Far Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $119.3 billion in appropriations voted by the 1965 Congress reinforces the view of fiscal experts that the day of the $100-billion-plus budget is not far off.

The only question, they say, is whether the ceiling will be pierced in the current fiscal year or in the one that starts next July 1.

An appropriations total is no sure guide to what the actual spending will be in a specific year. Much of the money voted in 1965 will not be spent this year.

President Johnson held his first two spending budgets, submitted last year and this, slightly below the $100-billion mark. His budget message to Congress last January forecast spending of $99.7 billion for the current year, fiscal 1966.

So far the administration has not revised this figure, although it probably will do so when the Budget Bureau completes its review of actions of the 1965 Congress.

Congressional experts believe the spending estimate for fiscal 1966 may be revised upward to exceed $100 billion.

United Fund Lists $79,727 In Collection

The United Fund campaign has moved to almost 70 per cent of its $115,000 goal with collections of $79,727 today, Carl Werner, secretary of the organization, announced.

Most of the recent collections have been from the two mercantile groups, dealing with the large and smaller stores and businesses in the district.

The payroll deduction method is being emphasized by employers and drive officials as a means of providing the financial help for 12 community service agencies in the organization.

Richard Martin, drive chairman, said a meeting of trustees and campaign leaders will be held Monday night at the YMCA for reports on the drive.

Municipal Court Actions

Continuances Granted 12 On Sunday Sale Charges

Acting at the request of the defendants, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted continuances until five dates in early November for 12 East Liverpool business houses named in affidavits alleging they violated the Ohio "blue law" by transacting business on Sunday, Oct. 17.

None of the defendants entered a plea to the charges, which were filed Monday by two officials of Hill's Department Store at Calcutta. The Hill's officials acted after they and their employes had been charged in county courts with violation of the same Sunday law.

The defendants went to police headquarters voluntarily Tuesday after they had been notified by the police department that warrants were on file. Many posted $32.50 appearance bonds to await arraignment this morning.

The court's action this morning was finished in approximately 10 minutes. The defendants went before the judge singly or in small groups to request the continuances, which were granted quickly.

Five of the cases were set for Thursday, Nov. 4. The defendants are Malcolm McBurney, operator of McBurney's Pharmacy at W. 6th St. and St. Clair Ave.; Price-Less Discounts on E. 5th St.; Sevey's Pharmacy, 2241 St. Clair Ave.; William O'Neil, as manager of People's Drugstore on E. 5th St., and Bloor's Pharmacy, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. George Aronson and Bernard Fineman are counsel for all five.

Three of the cases are set Nov. 8. They are: Gallagher's McAllister Market, 629 St. Clair Ave., represented by Paul Tobin; the Isaly Dairy Store on E. 6th St., which had no counsel this morning, and Shirl Vincent as manager of the Pearl China Co. on old Route 30, rep-

Daugherty Advises One Halloween 'Night'

In keeping with the policy of other area communities, Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville today urged that children observe Halloween "trick or treat" night on Saturday only.

The mayor pointed out the added safety to the children by visiting the homes of friends and neighbors on just one night and asked the visitations be made between 6 and 9 p. m.

Police can be on the alert and residents can leave their porch lights on to provide safe walking for the children, he explained.

Motorists also are urged to drive cautiously as the smaller children might dart into the street in the excitement of the evening, the mayor said.

Parents should accompany their children to prevent them being molested by others, he advised.

Airport Sites Inspected By 2 State Aides

Eight potential sites for a proposed Columbiana County Airport were visited by two Ohio Department of Aviation aides, accompanied by county leaders, Tuesday and three sites were given priority ratings on the basis of "eye appeal" inspection.

Swaney Airport at Glenmoor, from which owner Mike Turk has offered free the amount of property needed for an airport, is among the three upper priority sites.

The other two sites, which the county subcommittee on airports requested news media not identify at this time because the owners had not been contacted, are in the northern part of the county near Columbiana.

Ernest Webb, assistant to Norman Crabtree, state avaiation chief, and L. W. Farnsworth, also an aide with the aviation department, toured the sites and conferred with civic and government leaders at a meeting in Lisbon.

Crabtree was unable to attend as planned because of a meet-

The forecast is partly cloudy, with a low of from 34 to 38. Thursday is expected to be partly cloudy and a little cooler.

Car Hits Pole, Power's Cut In Wide Area

Electrical power was cut off for almost 2½ hours in a wide area of East Liverpool early this morning after a Midland man's auto skidded into a utility pole at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elm St., snapping a wire, police reported.

The outage was timed at 2:23 a. m., when a 1960 hardtop driven by John P. Tobin, 58, of 707 Midland Ave. rammed the pole and then rebounded into a halted 1964 two - door sedan driven by Robert M. Waite, 20, of 577 Sturgis Ave.

All service was restored at 5:45, the Ohio Power Co. reported. The outage affected an area that stretches from North St. on the North Side almost to the Ohio River. It affected a general area in the downtown district that covered all the territory east of Broadway and St. Clair Ave. to a point on the west end of the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

Although the pole was not sheared off, the fact that one wire broke and fell to the ground

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—While U.S. troops fanned out around Plei Me in mop-up operations, a toll of 101 Viet Cong dead was claimed today in fighting only 20 miles northwest of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman reported the heavy Communist casualties were suffered in an attack by an estimated two battalions of Viet Cong on a Vietnamese ranger battalion camped at Duc Lap.

Government casualties were termed moderate. American advisers with the rangers suffered light casualties, but all returned to duty after treatment, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong hit the ranger camp at Duc Lap last June and again last month. The attack early today followed the same pattern — a barrage by mortars and small arms and then an assault on the camp.

The rangers fought back, and artillery and air assaults were made quickly on the attackers. The spokesman credited the repulse of the attack and the high Viet Cong casualties to coordination of ground and air fire power.

At Plei Me, airborne American cavalrymen landed and swept south to clear out the last Communist strongpoint threatening the Special Forces camp.

Light mortar and recoilless rifle fire fell during the night near the camp which had been under siege for a week. But the troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division met no resistance as they pushed through the jungle 210 miles northeast of Saigon.

The decision to send out the American troops apparently was made after a South Vietnamese column of infantry and armored vehicles which had relieved the post Monday was hurled back by heavy Communist fire when it began moving south of the camp.

On one ridge the U.S. troops found an abandoned Viet Cong outpost overlooking the camp and the body of one North Vietnamese regular soldier. The area had been heavily bombed by U.S. planes during the siege.

Atop one hill the advancing Americans found one of the Communists' main observation posts. The enemy had pulled out so fast they left behind ammunition, equipment and clothing.

Until Tuesday afternoon the South Vietnamese had turned down offers by U.S. forces to join in the battle. At that point, the government troops were confident that they had chased the Communists away.

The camp was preparing to receive high government officials and accept congratulations for holding out when the Communists opened fire again. Assaults were directed against both the camp and the relief column, and light casualties were inflicted.

There were unconfirmed reports that the equivalent of a full North Vietnamese division was in the area. But U.S. military sources said only one regiment — about 1,200 men — was believed to have engaged the government troops.

The 1st Cavalry moved through the jungle along easy paths. Nearly 600 air strikes had blasted away the undergrowth and stripped trees of branches and leaves.

U.S. officials in Washington had been baffled by the renewal of the Communist attack after the arrival of the 1,300-man relief force. One official speculated that the Reds were trying to "pull a psychological Dien Bien Phu" — a victory which Communist propaganda could liken to the disastrous French defeat in 1954.

The official said the loss of Plei Me would have embarrassed U.S. and South Vietnamese military leaders but would have had nothing like the military effect of the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu.

In other action, an estimated 500 to 600 Viet Cong attacked a government outpost 37 miles southeast of Quang Ngai but withdrew nine hours later after artillery and U.S. naval gun fire were called in, officials said.

Draft Of Men Over 26 Believed Off At Present

Pilot Foils Cuban's Plot For Hijack

Move To Gamble Leads Captain To Overpower Exile

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—High above the Florida Key Capt. K.I. Carlile faced a decision aboard National Airlines Flight 209 from Miami to Key West:

He could obey the desperate commands of an armed Cuban exile and fly the plane on to Havana, or he could gamble and attempt to overpower him.

Carlile decided to gamble, and with the help of his crew disarmed the would-be hijacker Tuesday. The plane landed at Key West at 1:09 p.m. (EST), only nine minutes late.

The exile, Luis Medina Perez, 20, who said he wanted to see his family in Cuba, was wounded and taken prisoner in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion. He was one of 60 prisoners returned to the United States April 14, 1962.

Perez pleaded guilty Tuesday to attempted piracy of an airplane—a federal offense which could carry the death penalty—and was held here in default of $25,000 bond.

The propjet Electra, with a crew of five and 27 passengers including Medina, was 20 minutes out of Miami when the control tower at Miami International Airport got its first word of the incident.

"Have a man on airplane with gun holding it on stewardess," radioed Copilot D.S. McDaniel, 29. "He wants to go to Havana."

Capt. Carlile, 46, filled in the details after the plane landed at Key West.

The FBI said Medina was armed with a BB target pistol which he concealed in a paper bag so that only the butt protruded.

FBI Agent Ralph Jenen of Key West said this made the pistol look like a 45-caliber automatic.

Students Giving Blood

Gesture Of Support For U.S. Policy In Viet Nam

By The Associated Press

Thousands of college students are giving blood to the armed forces with Pentagon appproval as a gesture of support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The junior class at Washington State University collected 750 pints in three days. Hundreds more were turned away for health reasons.

A "bleed-in" is being organized by the Denver Center of Colorado University.

"We wanted to show that not all collge students rush around saying 'no' to everything," said sophomore Bill Van Pelt of Denver, drive organizer.

Pentagon approval came as it was revealed that the May Second Movement prepared to raise funds to send medical supplies to the Communist Viet Cong.

Steve Cherkoss of Berkeley, Calif., a West Coast leader of the movement, who called the United States the "aggressor" in Viet Nam, said his group had "the go-ahead" from the International Red Cross to send the supplies. He did not elaborate on "the go-ahead."

Students at more than a dozen American universities and colleges across the nation are involved in blood drives. The drives came into being after the anti-Viet Nam demonstrations.

The Defense Department said Tuesday it has asked the American Red Cross to collect the blood donations. A defense spokesman said that while the blood is not needed in Viet Nam, it will be used for military requirements within the United States.

He said the first collections will be made early next month at the University of Illinois, where 2,000 volunteer donors have signed up.

"We've had several inquiries already from groups on other campuses who want to provide donations," said Philip Hinterberger, 22, of Alton, Ill., president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Illinois, sponsors of the drive.

In Berkeley, Cherkoss said that sending medical supplies to the Communist Viet Cong would be a "concrete political act against U.S. imperialism."

He said the drive to aid this country's enemy would begin at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif. "Depending on the success of the program at Stanford," Cherkoss said, movement chapters at San Francisco State College, Sacramento State College and the University of California will start similar fund drives.

The movement takes its name from a demonstration on May 2, 1964, which it claims was the first against U.S. intervention in Viet Nam.

Need Filled By Postwar Baby 'Crop'

Married Men May Be Called Soon, Officials Reveal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deputy director of the Selective Service said today that men over 26 have little to fear from the draft at this time — the bumper crop of postwar babies is filling the bill to a great extent.

"Under present circumstances, I don't anticipate that we'll be getting into men over 26,"

Col. Daniel O. Omer said in an interview. "Right now about 150,000 to 160,000 youths a month are coming into their 19th birthday, and this year about 2 million men will reach the age of 18."

Under present law, youths under 19 cannot be drafted. But Omer estimated that about 30 per cent, or 600,000, of the 2 million 18-year-olds will be eligible for induction next year. About 40 per cent will be excused because of school, he said.

As for the 19-year-olds, Omer said that a large number of them will enlist.

"Always when draft calls are high, enlistments are up," he said. "Right now enlistments are good.

"Last month we had calls for 27,000 men, and 33,000 men enlisted after they were examined and found acceptable."

Because of the great number of volunteers, he said, "we missed our call by a few men — about 500.

"So we sort of feel that we were responsible for getting many men into the service who probably would not have enlisted if they hadn't known the call

County To Supply 28 Under November Call

Columbiana County is to supply 28 of the 3,961 Ohioans scheduled to be called up for induction in November, figures from Selective Service headquarters at Columbus show.

State officials said: "We may call up some married men for examination, but it is unlikely any will be inducted, at least as the situation appears now."

They pointed out that with the pool of eligibles "evaporating" with volunteer enlistments, the situation could change in the future.

Victims Believed All British

All 36 Aboard Are Killed In Crash Of British Plane

LONDON (AP) — A British domestic airliner exploded in flames on its third attempt to land in shifting fog at London Airport early today, killing all 36 persons aboard.

"We could see a sheet of flame which seemed to stretch the length of the runway," said one airport employe. "We could see people among the flames but they were obviously dead."

The plane, a four-engine Vanguard turboprop designed to carry 139 passengers, was landing at 1:23 a.m. after a flight from Edinburgh, Scotland. Operated by British European Airways, it carried 30 passengers, one a child, and a crew of 6.

The airline said it was believed all aboard were British. Four hours after the crash all the bodies had been recovered.

It was the first fatal crash for a passenger-carrying Vanguard, which since 1961 has been BEA's workhorse on domestic routes. The deaths also were London Airport's first passenger fatalities in almost 15 years. A BEA twin-engine Viking from Paris crashed and killed 28 persons Oct. 31, 1950. That crash also occurred in fog.

Airport officials said visibility on the runway at the time of the crash today was 500 yards. As fire engines and ambulances raced out, it closed into less than 100 yards and sometimes to zero as fog patches rolled over the No. 1 runway.

The airline said the pilot had made two previous attempts to land, and just before the crash was heard to turn on full power, apparently trying to get airborne again.

John Dabbs, working at an airport service station, said he heard the impact and saw a huge orange flame light the sky.

"Then I saw the plane coming along the runway from the east, breaking up and exploding as it went," he said.

"Seats and bodies were scattered all over the runway. Then the wings broke off.

Modified Space Rendezvous

'Station Keeping' Slated For Next Gemini Flight

Details of Gemini 7's flight plan came to light as engineers and scientists sought causes for the failure of an Agena rocket, which canceled the first actual attempt to rendezvous and dock two satellites in space Monday.

Station keeping is similar to airplanes flying in formation. Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., the Gemini 7 astronauts, will try to keep within 100 to 300 feet of their Titan 2 second-stage booster for two and one-half orbits.

The United States attempted rendezvous exercises on the last three Gemini missions. All failed.

Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, the Gemini 4 astronauts, tried to "fly in formation" with their booster but could not keep up with it. They had to cancel the experiment when fuel ran low.

While Borman and Lovell are flying along with their booster, they will take pictures and make radiation readings of the burned-out rocket shell.

After 3 hours and 56 minutes of station keeping, astronaut Borman, of Tucson, Ariz., will

Surfacing Scheduled For New Parking Lot

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry is expected to complete preliminary work today and begin Thursday on applying a blacktop surface to the newest city-operated parking lot on W. 5th St. near Jackson St.

The contractor's crews started work Tuesday on fine grading and installation of a slag base. The company said the preparatory work should be finished today, allowing the actual surfacing to begin tomorrow morning. Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said.

The lot is the former Hazel Laughlin property, located on the south side of W. 5th St. just east of Jackson St. The city purchased the site several months ago and razed two frame houses to clear the way for the parking lot.

$100-Billion Budget Called Not Far Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $119.3 billion in appropriations voted by the 1965 Congress reinforces the view of fiscal experts that the day of the $100-billion-plus budget is not far off.

The only question, they say, is whether the ceiling will be pierced in the current fiscal year or in the one that starts next July 1.

An appropriations total is no sure guide to what the actual spending will be in a specific year. Much of the money voted in 1965 will not be spent this year.

President Johnson held his first two spending budgets, submitted last year and this, slightly below the $100-billion mark. His budget message to Congress last January forecast spending of $99.7 billion for the current year, fiscal 1966.

So far the administration has not revised this figure, although it probably will do so when the Budget Bureau completes its review of actions of the 1965 Congress.

Congressional experts believe the spending estimate for fiscal 1966 may be revised upward to exceed $100 billion.

United Fund Lists $79,727 In Collection

The United Fund campaign has moved to almost 70 per cent of its $115,000 goal with collections of $79,727 today, Carl Werner, secretary of the organization, announced.

Most of the recent collections have been from the two mercantile groups, dealing with the large and smaller stores and businesses in the district.

The payroll deduction method is being emphasized by employers and drive officials as a means of providing the financial help for 12 community service agencies in the organization.

Richard Martin, drive chairman, said a meeting of trustees and campaign leaders will be held Monday night at the YMCA for reports on the drive.

Municipal Court Actions

Continuances Granted 12 On Sunday Sale Charges

Acting at the request of the defendants, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted continuances until five dates in early November for 12 East Liverpool business houses named in affidavits alleging they violated the Ohio "blue law" by transacting business on Sunday, Oct. 17.

None of the defendants entered a plea to the charges, which were filed Monday by two officials of Hill's Department Store at Calcutta. The Hill's officials acted after they and their employes had been charged in county courts with violation of the same Sunday law.

The defendants went to police headquarters voluntarily Tuesday after they had been notified by the police department that warrants were on file. Many posted $32.50 appearance bonds to await arraignment this morning.

The court's action this morning was finished in approximately 10 minutes. The defendants went before the judge singly or in small groups to request the continuances, which were granted quickly.

Five of the cases were set for Thursday, Nov. 4. The defendants are Malcolm McBurney, operator of McBurney's Pharmacy at W. 6th St. and St. Clair Ave.; Price-Less Discounts on E. 5th St.; Sevey's Pharmacy, 2241 St. Clair Ave.; William O'Neil, as manager of People's Drugstore on E. 5th St., and Bloor's Pharmacy, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave. George Aronson and Bernard Fineman are counsel for all five.

Three of the cases are set Nov. 8. They are: Gallagher's McAllister Market, 629 St. Clair Ave., represented by Paul Tobin; the Isaly Dairy Store on E. 6th St., which had no counsel this morning, and Shirl Vincent as manager of the Pearl China Co. on old Route 30, rep-

Daugherty Advises One Halloween 'Night'

In keeping with the policy of other area communities, Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville today urged that children observe Halloween "trick or treat" night on Saturday only.

The mayor pointed out the added safety to the children by visiting the homes of friends and neighbors on just one night and asked the visitations be made between 6 and 9 p. m.

Police can be on the alert and residents can leave their porch lights on to provide safe walking for the children, he explained.

Motorists also are urged to drive cautiously as the smaller children might dart into the street in the excitement of the evening, the mayor said.

Airport Sites Inspected By 2 State Aides

Eight potential sites for a proposed Columbiana County Airport were visited by two Ohio Department of Aviation aides, accompanied by county leaders, Tuesday and three sites were given priority ratings on the basis of "eye appeal" inspection.

Swaney Airport at Glenmoor, from which owner Mike Turk has offered free the amount of property needed for an airport, is among the three upper priority sites.

The other two sites, which the county subcommittee on airports requested news media not identify at this time because the owners had not been contacted, are in the northern part of the county near Columbiana.

Ernest Webb, assistant to Norman Crabtree, state avaiation chief, and L. W. Farnsworth, also an aide with the aviation department, toured the sites and conferred with civic and government leaders at a meeting in Lisbon.

Crabtree was unable to attend as planned because of a meet-

Car Hits Pole, Power's Cut In Wide Area

Electrical power was cut off for almost 2½ hours in a wide area of East Liverpool early this morning after a Midland man's auto skidded into a utility pole at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elm St., snapping a wire, police reported.

The outage was timed at 2:23 a. m., when a 1960 hardtop driven by John P. Tobin, 58, of 707 Midland Ave. rammed the pole and then rebounded into a halted 1964 two - door sedan driven by Robert M. Waite, 20, of 577 Sturgis Ave.

All service was restored at 5:45, the Ohio Power Co. reported. The outage affected an area that stretches from North St. on the North Side almost to the Ohio River. It affected a general area in the downtown district that covered all the territory east of Broadway and St. Clair Ave. to a point on the west end of the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

Although the pole was not sheared off, the fact that one wire broke and fell to the ground

Wellsville Seeks Man On New Housing Unit

Wellsville City Council, at a special meeting Tuesday night, voted to submit the names of three men to officials who will appoint a five-man board to govern the newly-formed Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Council said it hopes to have at least one of the three selected so Wellsville will be represented officially on the board.

The authority, designed to provide low-rent dwellings, was officially created Oct. 12 by the State Housing Board at Columbus. Mayor George E. Willshaw of East Liverpool received a copy of the resolution yesterday.

Two of the board will be named by Willshaw, as mayor of the largest city in the county, and one each will be appointed by the county commissioners, the Common Pleas Court judges and the Probate Court judge.

Willshaw will appoint one member for a one-year term and the other for a five-year term.

Suggested for appointment by Council were Arthur Montgomery, co-owner of the A. & M. Shoe Store on Main St. and president of the Greater Wellsville Association; William J. Shoub, a former mayor, and Wayne Rose, clerk of Council.

Charles Donaldson, secretary of the Greater Wellsville Association, presented the proposal to Council that action be taken to attempt to have a Wellsville representative named to the board. He suggested Montgomery, Shoub, Donald Penn, another city merchant, and James Salsgiver of Broadway, a member of the Wellsville Planning Commission.

Council discussed the matter and the names of Rose, Allen Dalrymple and Delmar T. O'Hara were added to the list. O'Hara was present and said he would be glad to serve if named, but preferred not being included.

A secret vote was held to select those to be suggested.

O'Hara said he attended the meeting held at Columbus on the county's application for creation of a housing authority. He said it was principally the action of East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salem that was responsible for the approval of the authority and feels Wellsville should be represented on the governing board.

Council discussed how many names should be submitted and the qualifications needed by possible candidates. Those selected have agreed to serve if appointed.

Letters will be sent the various officials urging that a Wellsville representative be named to the board.

Tobin reported he was headed upgrade on E. 5th St. when another vehicle struck his car from the rear and caused it to hit the pole.

Waite told police he saw Tobin's car "swerving and skidding" in front of him as it rounded a turn. Waite said he halted just as Tobin's car hit the pole. Then the Midland car rebounded and hit the front of Waite's car, he said.

Tom Kratt, 233 Center St., a witness, corroborated Waite's report, police said. Kraft said Waite's car was halted when Tobin's auto hit the pole and then rebounded, police said. The collision caused extensive damage to the front of Tobin's car and also damaged the front of Waite's auto, officers said.

Tobin was fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the reckless driving charge today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The decoration is the highest given by the United States to a military unit.

Heavy air strikes continued today against communication routes and other targets in North Viet Nam, and land-and-carrier-based planes continued to pound suspected Viet Cong targets inside South Viet Nam.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon reported that enemy dead in combat last week were almost five times as many as the number of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces killed.

The spokesman said 761 Viet Cong were killed, compared with 11 Americans killed and 143 South Vietnamese.

Other casualty figures for the week which ended Oct. 23 were: U.S. forces—70 wounded, 13 missing in action or captured; South Vietnamese—474 wounded, 65 missing or captured; Viet Cong—107 captured.

A U.S. spokesman announced that a powder case for a 5-inch gun exploded Tuesday aboard the destroyer Turner Joy, killing two men, blowing another overboard and seriously injuring three others. The man blown overboard was presumed lost, he said.

The spokesman said the cause of the explosion was not known and an investigation was ordered.

The judge set a hearing Nov. 10 in the case of McGill's Grocery at E. 3rd and Washington Sts., represented by James L. McSweeney of Wellsville. A hearing is set Nov. 12 for Golden Star Dairyland at W. 5th and Market Sts., represented by Lang.

Because it was on top of the stack of affidavits, the case against People's Drugstore was called first. Aronson moved for a continuance to allow himself to familiarize himself with the case. The motion was granted. Then he pointed out to the court that he represented four others in the same series of charges. The other four cases were continued to the same date.

The Sunday closing cases were called after the daily police lineup had been completed.

"We come now to the 12 cases pertaining to the Sunday closing law," the judge announced. "As your name is called, step forward with your counsel, if you have one. The court will give you the opportunity to plead or make any statement you wish."

Then the 12 cases were continued in quick succession and court adjourned. Virtually every seat in the chamber was filled during the brief procedure.

Hearings are set Nov. 9 for Rayl's Market, 246 W. 4th St., and Reark's Cigar Store, located in the Little Building. Neither business place was represented by counsel this morning.

The judge set a hearing Nov. 10 in the case of McGill's Grocery at E. 3rd and Washington Sts., represented by James L. McSweeney of Wellsville. A hearing is set Nov. 12 for Golden Star Dairyland at W. 5th and Market Sts., represented by Lang.

Because it was on top of the stack of affidavits, the case against People's Drugstore was called first. Aronson moved for a continuance to allow himself to familiarize himself with the case. The motion was granted. Then he pointed out to the court that he represented four others in the same series of charges. The other four cases were continued to the same date.

The Sunday closing cases were called after the daily police lineup had been completed.

"We come now to the 12 cases pertaining to the Sunday closing law," the judge announced. "As your name is called, step forward with your counsel, if you have one. The court will give you the opportunity to plead or make any statement you wish."

Then the 12 cases were continued in quick succession and court adjourned. Virtually every seat in the chamber was filled during the brief procedure.

More Home Rule For Ohio

State Issue No. 2, the proposed Urban Service Authority amendment, provides an opportunity for better government and should be approved in Tuesday's election.

Adoption of the amendment would set the stage for marriages of governmental convenience.

Purpose of the amendment is to make it easier for local communities to solve problems on an areawide basis, such as extension of police and fire protection, hospital service, rubbish collection and disposal and virtually any other service, except those affecting public utilities and schools.

Approval of the amendment is only the first permissive step. Areas wanting to set up service authorities would have to go to their own voters twice—first with a charter commission proposal, later with a charter itself.

The question of electing a charter commission could be put on the ballot by initiative petition, or by a city council, or board of county commissioners. Majority approval would be required by voters within the largest city and in the area affected outside the city.

Since the amendment is limited to cities of 50,000 or more population, its application would be restricted at the outset to 13 metropolitan counties.

All Ohioans have a stake in the amendment, however. For without permission to act individually, metropolitan areas have no recourse but to go to the General Assembly with their problems and seek laws affecting not only them but their smaller neighbors as well.

Issue No. 2 recognizes that Ohio's diverse interests are not always best served by statewide lawmaking and local voters may be better equipped to cope with local or area problems.

Issue No. 3 Makes Sense

In the belief that it will encourage more efficient use of judicial talent in less populous counties, we endorse State Issue No. 3 and urge its approval in Tuesday's election.

This proposed constitutional amendment would permit voters in counties of 40,000 population or less to decide whether one person should serve as judge of two or more courts, including common pleas, municipal, juvenile, probate and county courts.

In most small counties, a single judge already handles both juvenile and probate court duties. Further doubling up makes sense, where case loads are light.

The proposed amendment seeks to solve a problem many thinly-populated counties have had in trying to encourage competent legal talent to seek relatively low-paying judgeships.

While it would be left to the legislature to determine salaries of judges serving more than one court, those willing to devote full time to the job and tackle reasonable case loads could expect to be rewarded with more attractive pay.

This is strictly a permissive amendment. It would be up to the people or the county commissioners to initiate a vote on the question of telescoping judicial duties. Incumbent judges would be permitted to serve out their terms.

Issue No. 3 is such a logical proposal we can only wonder why it wasn't written into the Ohio constitution years ago.

The Queen And The Beatles

We can be glad we didn't have to explain to skeptical Britons why the four Beatles were given the Order of the British Empire by Queen Elizabeth II.

But to Britons who weren't skeptical, recognition of their service to Her Majesty is no mystery. The four young men who made the Pied Piper of Hamelin look like a truant officer have done almost as much for the United Kingdom these last few years as Scotch whiskey, or English woolens.

They have tapped the U.S. market with a new kind of export. They have exploited in a most sensational manner the potentialities of hysteria among U.S. females of tender age.

They have done this in a manner creditable to the Crown. That is to say, they have remained superbly poised at all times, looking objectively at themselves and their frenzied following. They never looked ashamed.

They have won the grudging respect of their critics in this country. The lads are not great singers and instrumentalists, but how much money is the lady in the church choir making with her perfect-pitch voice? How much is the prize-winning musician making?

Academic Dialogue

By Truman Twill

"We're going to have to do something about the students," said the dean to the president.

"That is what they are paying us for," replied the president to the dean. "Why do you think we should make academic waves at this time?"

The dean tapped his teeth.

When he spoke, it was as though he had gone back in time to find the words. "Because we are not as old in our bodies as in our minds, sir," he mused. "We know the kids are right. They've always been right. You and I were students once—remember? And we were always right, weren't we?"

The president pursed his lips. "I suppose so, were," he snorted. "What are you talking about? Quit beating around the bush."

"Very well, sir," sighed the dean. "We knew and students of today know there are some teachers who make students want to learn and other teachers who make learning so unattractive that students resist them.

"It always has been this way. But today's students are restless. They're demanding the right to grade their teachers. We're going to have to do something about it here. Our own students are getting restless."

The president pursued his lips. "I suppose so. Restlessness is the spirit of the time. I'm restless, too. Do you think we should let the kids rate the staff the way they're going to do it at Yale, Cornell and some of those big places?"

The dean sat forward in his chair. His eyes glistened. "That's exactly what I think, sir," he said firmly. "I think every graduate should be invited to rate all the teachers he has had and hand in a form when he leaves the old school—and I mean when he leaves."

A shadow of a smile flickered on his lips.

The president noticed it.

"And we would study the results," he said. "Then we would make some charts, in three or four colors. We would write pieces for the trade journals about progress at Kissible U. And then do you know what we would do?"

"Give me one guess," suggested the dean. "We would put the results in deep storage and forget them. The students would have had a chance to get even with the profs they didn't like. We would have had a chance to know who should get raises and no one's feelings would have been hurt."

"Meaning we would not let student opinions sway our judgement?" suggested the president, though he already knew that was exactly what the dean meant.

"You took the words out of my mouth," agreed the dean. "Otherwise, how would anyone survive in this racket long enough to be a dean? Or, if you will pardon the expression, a president? There is more to teaching than teaching, we both know that."

"Check," agreed the president. "Just because a student says a teacher isn't a teacher doesn't mean the teacher isn't a teacher. No sir. Maybe the student isn't a student, either."

Searching For Guevara

By Henry Taylor

An Argentine relative of Ernesto ("Che") Guevara, Cuba's No. 2 Red, privately tells me the unrevealed reactions and opinions of his family to the mystery of Guevara's disappearance, still not explained by Fidel Castro.

Source of the relative's revelations is Guevara's father, Ernesto Guevara Lynch, an Irish name, oddly enough, as so many are in Latin America. He is a successful contractor born and reared in the Argentine capital and certainly not a Communist. But he married a Communist, a Senorita de la Serna.

Their son Ernesto impressed the family and neighbors as strange from the beginning. His boyhood nickname among schoolmates was not "Che." It was "Loco," meaning "touched;" and it fell on a boy who seemed stealthy when not stealing, fiery when not indolent, crass and cynical as he grew up, disoriented if not reckless.

HE WAS a good student and entered the Medical School of the University of Buenos Aires. He never practiced medicine, but his medical knowledge helped solidify him with Castro and the guerrillas fighting in the Cuban mountains.

"Che" drank up his mother's Communist doctrine like a thirsty desert and carried her zeal into the university. But he became discouraged. On a motorcycle tour through the southern Argentine lakes, he decided to break away from Buenos Aires. To his father's dismay but with his mother's blessing he left for Chile.

There he married, and there he divorced his wife, Communist-style — a simple "goodbye."

"Che" was still unsettled when he met Castro in Mexico City and family pride burst out all over when he surfaced as a leader in Cuba.

The son was so entrenched and had been on so many missions for Castro that his family was not alarmed at first when he was reported absent.

But as time passed and the mystery hit the headlines in Buenos Aires Senor Guevara tried to reach his son's wife in Havana. He finally got through to her on the telephone. All she said was: "Come here. Please, please come here. Come here yourself. Come quickly!"

Argentina has no diplomatic relations with Castro's Cuba and Senor Guevara could not go.

HE IS CONVINCED "Che" is dead. He states the family's search for some trace of him has gotten no place among all the people they secretly contacted in Cuba and elsewhere abroad.

When guerrilla fighting broke out in Argentina's mountains a few months ago the rumor swept the world that "Che" was in his native country, and it was claimed locally he had come to Buenos Aires to visit his mother's tomb.

"The police were watching the tomb," he says. "They know 'Che' was not here. So does our family."

Within the family circle, Senor Guevara says if Castro had dismissed his son, or "Che" had bolted, Castro would have castigated him long ago and certainly no later than his recent Havana broadcast.

Of if Castro knew for sure "Che" was dead he would say so and blame some crime on the United States, the Central Intelligence Agency or any convenient whipping boy.

"But suppose my son reappears?" the father asks. "What could Castro say then? He says the spy services of the world are looking for my son. I do not think anybody in the world is looking for 'Che' harder than Fidel Castro.

"No," the father insists, "he is dead. I do not know when he died, where or how he died. But he sent us clippings and wrote us often from Havana, and we have had not one word, no signal of any kind or a single message, since 'Che' vanished."

Another Cross Burning

Liberal Labor Backs Lindsay

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK — At 11:25 a.m. last Friday, Dave Dubinsky, labor's most peppery and piquant leader, was about to telephone his good friend Lyndon Johnson to discuss operations — surgical, not political.

Victor Riesel

Saucy Dubinsky is the proud owner of a herniorrhapy incision which he wanted to compare with the most famous cholecystectomy cut of all. But just then the phone rang.

It was Arthur Goldberg. It was no matter of state which the ambassador had on his mind. It was matter for the the Stage Delicatessen. How would "DD" like a "corn beef sandwich"? And so the appointment was made.

Other internationally famed Democrats have been calling. It has all been very cordial.

Obviously no one was taking as a personal insult the fact that Dubinsky and his powerful ladies' garment union, and his colleague of tactical genius, the hatters' Alex Rose, were fighting to elect John Lindsay, liberal Republican, as mayor of the nation's biggest Democratic stronghold.

None of the national Democratic chiefs — especially not Lyndon Johnson or Hubert Humphrey — have been angered by the momentary and monetary defection of Dubinsky and the swing-vote Liberal Party.

RIGHT AFTER DUBINSKY'S hospital stint, which closely followed the Liberal Party's dramatic endorsement of Lindsay, Mr. Johnson telephoned Dubinsky at his home. Thereafter the President invited Messrs. Dubinsky and Rose to White House dinners. There were cordial and off-the-record conversations between both men and Lyndon Johnson.

All this despite the fact that Lindsay is a Republican, albeit he has asked Dick Nixon, Tom Dewey and Nelson Rockefeller not to campaign for him.

Why this cordiality? Because neither the Liberals nor the national Democrats believe that a Lindsay victory in New York City, gargantuan though it is, will affect the national Democratic Party — except to move it — and the Republican Party as well — into more liberal ways.

There is reasoning here of the kind which has made Dubinsky and Rose masters of political craft. It is based on the Supreme Court ruling summed up in the phrase "one man, one vote." Call it reapportionment. Call it anything.

What it means is the shifting of political power from the countryside to the big, teeming cities. Thus the power passes into the hands of the veteran political machines be they Democratic or Republican.

This could be the end of independent political action. This would mean that whoever holds the power would take for granted all groups inside their coalition.

In New York City, the labor and intellectual leaders of the Liberal Party decided to declare their independence of the Democratic Party force. This did not mean a permanent break. It did mean that the Liberals would be in a powerful bargaining position.

How? If liberal Republican Lindsay wins this will be a "warning," the Liberal Party leaders believe, to the Republicans in all other major cities to swing his ideological way.

IF LINDSAY WINS, it will be a "warning" in New York that the Democrats cannot take the Liberals for granted. And it will be a catalyst to Liberals in all other cities where there are strong Democratic machines such as Chicago.

It's a daring move by Dubinsky, Rose and Professor Timothy Costello. They may lose badly. The rest of labor in this city is backing the gentle and ethical Abraham Beame.

Such organizations as the Central Labor Council and its affiliates have set up Beame campaign headquarters in every election district. They are running nine torchlight parades. They are pouring money, manpower and caravans into the drive for the Democrats.

If the "regular" labor leaders win for Beame, they will have won a city.

If the irregular Liberals win for Lindsay, they will have put pins and needles into all the nation's Liberals — and may win a nation.

There's lots more here than is being reported. It's eyeball to eyeball all the way.

Long Gone!

A missing persons case of 700 years ago has been closed at Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado.

Scientific sleuths of the National Park Service-National Geographic Society Wetherill Mesa Project have concluded a seven-year study of the Pueblo Indian site. The cliff dwellers flourished and reached a high state of culture before mysteriously vanishing seven centuries ago.

Wetherill Mesa experts believe a disaster similar to the Dust Bowl of the 1930's drove the Indians from the mesas and cliff homes about A.D. 1300. The accumulated evidence: some 30,000 museum specimens, 10,177 photographic negatives and prints and more than 1,000 color slides of the dwelling site.

Wetherill Mesa's cliff community stood in one of the many canyons in 80-square-mile Mesa Verde National Park — a forested, canyon-carved plateau whose name means "green table" in Spanish. The Wetherill ruins will be opened to the public in 1967 or 1968.

The exhaustive diggings and research at Wetherill Mesa have been hailed as one of the most thorough archeological explorations ever undertaken in the United States. The interpretive approach in considering such aspects as the change in aboriginal diet, trends and shifts in population, and relationship between climate and human occupation, will serve as a pilot study for future digs by the National Park Service.

Grin And Bear It

"It's juvenile to think that massed protest can ever influence legislation . . . only lobbyists can!"

Lindsay Needed

New York Vote Watched

The political eye of the nation next week will be on the election of a mayor in New York City.

Ordinarily, a contest for mayor in a city, no matter how large, is not a reflection of political currents across the country. But the mayoralty vote in New York could reveal evidence of a trend that will have a bearing on the congressional elections of 1966 as well as on the presidential campaign in 1968.

If a protest vote of substantial proportions is cast against "boss rule" and political corruption in New York City, it may symbolize the beginning of a nationwide reaction.

Every now and then, people get tired of seeing public funds and public power misused, and they react to "boss rule" in an emphatic way.

In past decades, the people have at times administered a severe rebuke to Tammany Hall in New York City, as voters, irrespective of party, supported a reform movement and elected the nominee of the opposition party or the candidate of a "fusion" party.

In many instances, when a strong protest is voiced, American voters do not vote for the candidate of the opposition just because of his likeable personality or even his record.

They vote primarily to repudiate or punish the party in power. Essentially, they vote for a change.

BASIC ISSUE in New York is whether the voters there, including independent-minded Democrats, want to let the Democratic political organization stay in control or are ready to turn out the incumbents and clean house with a reform program.

Conspicuous examples of this occurred when John Purroy Mitchel and Fiorello LaGuardia each won mayoralty races in New York City on "fusion" tickets supported by voters from all political parties.

The Republican nominee for mayor, U. S. Rep. John Lindsay, isn't emphasizing his connection with the Republican party, but is endeavoring to get Democratic votes by stressing his independence of party.

He did not support Barry Goldwater in the last presidential campaign, and this has alienated many Republican voters who think he should have remained loyal to the party's candidate.

The fundamental issue in New Hork is honest government. This is more important than worrying about any candidate's individual record in the past as a party regular or as an independent.

Differences of opinion inside a party on the national level also have proved to be the way to lose elections. It takes time for the factions to see the error of their ways.

In 1912, for example, the Republican party split wide open, and the "progressive" or insurgent faction actually polled more votes in the presidential election that year than did the regulars. But neither group got much satisfaction out of the balloting, because the Democratic nominee won by a plurality.

The votes of the two Republican blocs, however, together constituted a numerical majority.

The subsequent four years were spent by Republican party leaders in trying to blame the other fellow's faction, but in the end it became apparent there had to be unity if the party expected to survive.

The result in 1916 was the selection of a compromise candidate to whom both sides gave hearty support. He lost by a narrow margin, but the Republican party was reunited and in 1918 won a majority of both houses of Congress. Then, two years later, a Republican president was elected by a landslide.

IT ISN'T easy to bring about internal peace in a political party within a year after a debacle like that which occurred in 1964, but the only argument that has ever made any headway in bringing opposing factions together within a party is desire for victory.

The question is how much good is accomplished as a result of wreaking political revenge. In the long run, the only thing that matters is whether the party in power can be dislodged, and whether the abuses perpetrated by those who have held office continuously for many years will be corrected by a change in administration.

If, by change, the Democratic nominee proves the winner by a narrow margin, perhaps a lesson will have been learned and the cause of efficiency and honesty in public service taken more seriously than in the past.

More Home Rule For Ohio

State Issue No. 2, the proposed Urban Service Authority amendment, provides an opportunity for better government and should be approved in Tuesday's election.

Issue No. 2 recognizes that Ohio's diverse interests are not always best served by statewide lawmaking and local voters may be better equipped to cope with local or area problems.

Issue No. 3 Makes Sense

In the belief that it will encourage more efficient use of judicial talent in less populous counties, we endorse State Issue No. 3 and urge its approval in Tuesday's election.

This proposed constitutional amendment would permit voters in counties of 40,000 population or less to decide whether one person should serve as judge of two or more courts, including common pleas, municipal, juvenile, probate and county courts.

In most small counties, a single judge already handles both juvenile and probate court duties. Further doubling up makes sense, where case loads are light.

The proposed amendment seeks to solve a problem many thinly-populated counties have had in trying to encourage competent legal talent to seek relatively low-paying judgeships.

While it would be left to the legislature to determine salaries of judges serving more than one court, those willing to devote full time to the job and tackle reasonable case loads could expect to be rewarded with more attractive pay.

This is strictly a permissive amendment. It would be up to the people or the county commissioners to initiate a vote on the question of telescoping judicial duties. Incumbent judges would be permitted to serve out their terms.

Issue No. 3 is such a logical proposal we can only wonder why it wasn't written into the Ohio constitution years ago.

Searching For Guevara

An Argentine relative of Ernesto ("Che") Guevara, Cuba's No. 2 Red, privately tells me the unrevealed reactions and opinions of his family to the mystery of Guevara's disappearance, still not explained by Fidel Castro.

But as time passed and the mystery hit the headlines in Buenos Aires Senor Guevara tried to reach his son's wife in Havana. He finally got through to her on the telephone. All she said was: "Come here. Please, please come here. Come here yourself. Come quickly!"

Argentina has no diplomatic relations with Castro's Cuba and Senor Guevara could not go.

HE IS CONVINCED "Che" is dead. He states the family's search for some trace of him has gotten no place among all the people they secretly contacted in Cuba and elsewhere abroad.

When guerrilla fighting broke out in Argentina's mountains a few months ago the rumor swept the world that "Che" was in his native country, and it was claimed locally he had come to Buenos Aires to visit his mother's tomb.

"The police were watching the tomb," he says. "They know 'Che' was not here. So does our family."

Within the family circle, Senor Guevara says if Castro had dismissed his son, or "Che" had bolted, Castro would have castigated him long ago and certainly no later than his recent Havana broadcast.

Of if Castro knew for sure "Che" was dead he would say so and blame some crime on the United States, the Central Intelligence Agency or any convenient whipping boy.

"But suppose my son reappears?" the father asks. "What could Castro say then? He says the spy services of the world are looking for my son. I do not think anybody in the world is looking for 'Che' harder than Fidel Castro.

"No," the father insists, "he is dead. I do not know when he died, where or how he died. But he sent us clippings and wrote us often from Havana, and we have had not one word, no signal of any kind or a single message, since 'Che' vanished."

Another Cross Burning

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK — At 11:25 a.m. last Friday, Dave Dubinsky, labor's most peppery and piquant leader, was about to telephone his good friend Lyndon Johnson to discuss operations — surgical, not political.

Victor Riesel

Saucy Dubinsky is the proud owner of a herniorrhapy incision which he wanted to compare with the most famous cholecystectomy cut of all. But just then the phone rang.

It was Arthur Goldberg. It was no matter of state which the ambassador had on his mind. It was matter for the the Stage Delicatessen. How would "DD" like a "corn beef sandwich"? And so the appointment was made.

Other internationally famed Democrats have been calling. It has all been very cordial.

Obviously no one was taking as a personal insult the fact that Dubinsky and his powerful ladies' garment union, and his colleague of tactical genius, the hatters' Alex Rose, were fighting to elect John Lindsay, liberal Republican, as mayor of the nation's biggest Democratic stronghold.

None of the national Democratic chiefs — especially not Lyndon Johnson or Hubert Humphrey — have been angered by the momentary and monetary defection of Dubinsky and the swing-vote Liberal Party.

RIGHT AFTER DUBINSKY'S hospital stint, which closely followed the Liberal Party's dramatic endorsement of Lindsay, Mr. Johnson telephoned Dubinsky at his home. Thereafter the President invited Messrs. Dubinsky and Rose to White House dinners. There were cordial and off-the-record conversations between both men and Lyndon Johnson.

All this despite the fact that Lindsay is a Republican, albeit he has asked Dick Nixon, Tom Dewey and Nelson Rockefeller not to campaign for him.

Why this cordiality? Because neither the Liberals nor the national Democrats believe that a Lindsay victory in New York City, gargantuan though it is, will affect the national Democratic Party — except to move it — and the Republican Party as well — into more liberal ways.

There is reasoning here of the kind which has made Dubinsky and Rose masters of political craft. It is based on the Supreme Court ruling summed up in the phrase "one man, one vote." Call it reapportionment. Call it anything.

What it means is the shifting of political power from the countryside to the big, teeming cities. Thus the power passes into the hands of the veteran political machines be they Democratic or Republican.

This could be the end of independent political action. This would mean that whoever holds the power would take for granted all groups inside their coalition.

In New York City, the labor and intellectual leaders of the Liberal Party decided to declare their independence of the Democratic Party force. This did not mean a permanent break. It did mean that the Liberals would be in a powerful bargaining position.

How? If liberal Republican Lindsay wins this will be a "warning," the Liberal Party leaders believe, to the Republicans in all other major cities to swing his ideological way.

IF LINDSAY WINS, it will be a "warning" in New York that the Democrats cannot take the Liberals for granted. And it will be a catalyst to Liberals in all other cities where there are strong Democratic machines such as Chicago.

It's a daring move by Dubinsky, Rose and Professor Timothy Costello. They may lose badly. The rest of labor in this city is backing the gentle and ethical Abraham Beame.

Such organizations as the Central Labor Council and its affiliates have set up Beame campaign headquarters in every election district. They are running nine torchlight parades. They are pouring money, manpower and caravans into the drive for the Democrats.

If the "regular" labor leaders win for Beame, they will have won a city.

If the irregular Liberals win for Lindsay, they will have put pins and needles into all the nation's Liberals — and may win a nation.

There's lots more here than is being reported. It's eyeball to eyeball all the way.

Long Gone!

A missing persons case of 700 years ago has been closed at Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado.

Scientific sleuths of the National Park Service-National Geographic Society Wetherill Mesa Project have concluded a seven-year study of the Pueblo Indian site. The cliff dwellers flourished and reached a high state of culture before mysteriously vanishing seven centuries ago.

Wetherill Mesa experts believe a disaster similar to the Dust Bowl of the 1930's drove the Indians from the mesas and cliff homes about A.D. 1300. The accumulated evidence: some 30,000 museum specimens, 10,177 photographic negatives and prints and more than 1,000 color slides of the dwelling site.

Wetherill Mesa's cliff community stood in one of the many canyons in 80-square-mile Mesa Verde National Park — a forested, canyon-carved plateau whose name means "green table" in Spanish. The Wetherill ruins will be opened to the public in 1967 or 1968.

The exhaustive diggings and research at Wetherill Mesa have been hailed as one of the most thorough archeological explorations ever undertaken in the United States. The interpretive approach in considering such aspects as the change in aboriginal diet, trends and shifts in population, and relationship between climate and human occupation, will serve as a pilot study for future digs by the National Park Service.

New York Vote Watched

The political eye of the nation next week will be on the election of a mayor in New York City.

Ordinarily, a contest for mayor in a city, no matter how large, is not a reflection of political currents across the country. But the mayoralty vote in New York could reveal evidence of a trend that will have a bearing on the congressional elections of 1966 as well as on the presidential campaign in 1968.

If a protest vote of substantial proportions is cast against "boss rule" and political corruption in New York City, it may symbolize the beginning of a nationwide reaction.

Every now and then, people get tired of seeing public funds and public power misused, and they react to "boss rule" in an emphatic way.

In past decades, the people have at times administered a severe rebuke to Tammany Hall in New York City, as voters, irrespective of party, supported a reform movement and elected the nominee of the opposition party or the candidate of a "fusion" party.

In many instances, when a strong protest is voiced, American voters do not vote for the candidate of the opposition just because of his likeable personality or even his record.

They vote primarily to repudiate or punish the party in power. Essentially, they vote for a change.

BASIC ISSUE in New York is whether the voters there, including independent-minded Democrats, want to let the Democratic political organization stay in control or are ready to turn out the incumbents and clean house with a reform program.

Conspicuous examples of this occurred when John Purroy Mitchel and Fiorello LaGuardia each won mayoralty races in New York City on "fusion" tickets supported by voters from all political parties.

The Republican nominee for mayor, U. S. Rep. John Lindsay, isn't emphasizing his connection with the Republican party, but is endeavoring to get Democratic votes by stressing his independence of party.

He did not support Barry Goldwater in the last presidential campaign, and this has alienated many Republican voters who think he should have remained loyal to the party's candidate.

The fundamental issue in New York is honest government. This is more important than worrying about any candidate's individual record in the past as a party regular or as an independent.

Differences of opinion inside a party on the national level also have proved to be the way to lose elections. It takes time for the factions to see the error of their ways.

In 1912, for example, the Republican party split wide open, and the "progressive" or insurgent faction actually polled more votes in the presidential election that year than did the regulars. But neither group got much satisfaction out of the balloting, because the Democratic nominee won by a plurality.

The votes of the two Republican blocs, however, together constituted a numerical majority.

The subsequent four years were spent by Republican party leaders in trying to blame the other fellow's faction, but in the end it became apparent there had to be unity if the party expected to survive.

The result in 1916 was the selection of a compromise candidate to whom both sides gave hearty support. He lost by a narrow margin, but the Republican party was reunited and in 1918 won a majority of both houses of Congress. Then, two years later, a Republican president was elected by a landslide.

IT ISN'T easy to bring about internal peace in a political party within a year after a debacle like that which occurred in 1964, but the only argument that has ever made any headway in bringing opposing factions together within a party is desire for victory.

The question is how much good is accomplished as a result of wreaking political revenge. In the long run, the only thing that matters is whether the party in power can be dislodged, and whether the abuses perpetrated by those who have held office continuously for many years will be corrected by a change in administration.

If, by change, the Democratic nominee proves the winner by a narrow margin, perhaps a lesson will have been learned and the cause of efficiency and honesty in public service taken more seriously than in the past.

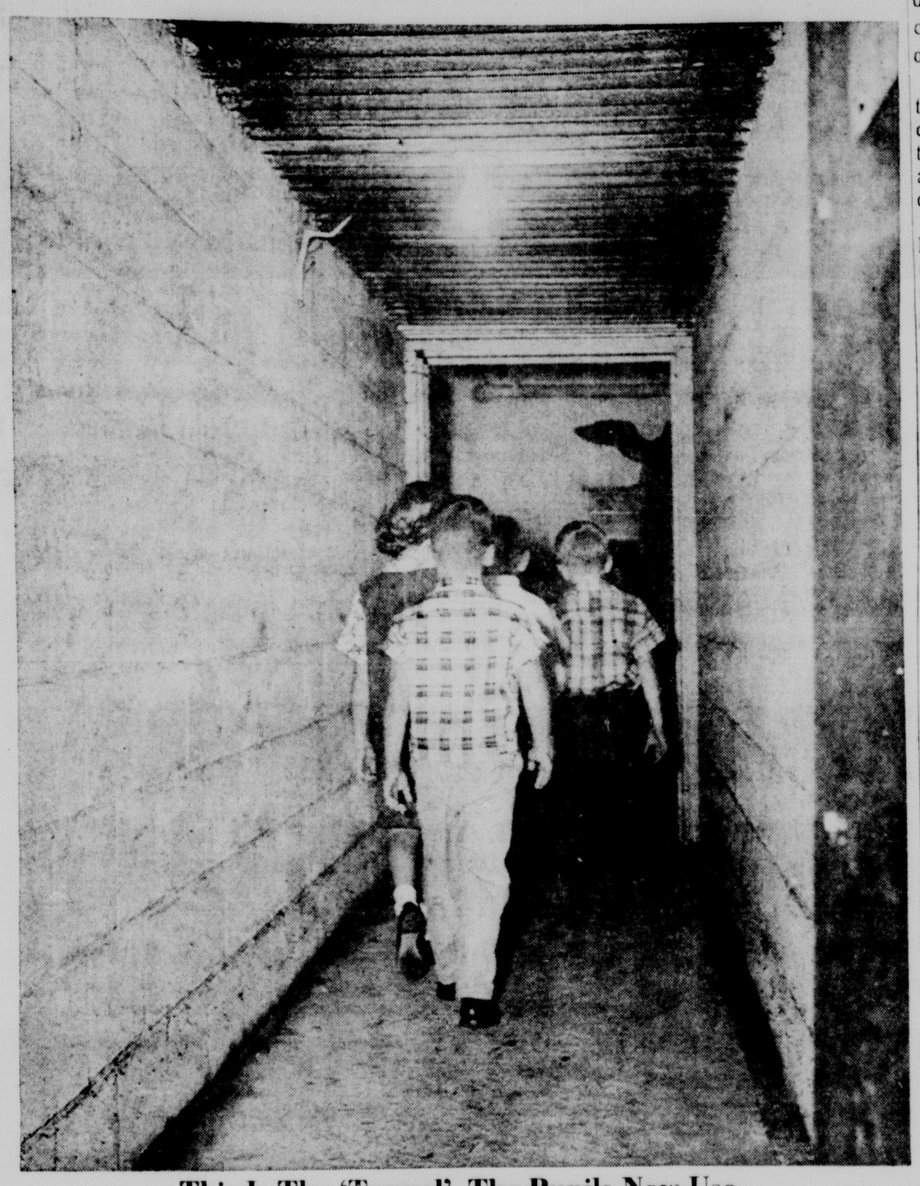
Garfield Will Be Closed If Wellsville OK's Bonds



This Is The 'Tunnel' The Pupils Now Use

An $885,000 bond issue will face voters of the Wellsville School District Tuesday in conjunction with a proposed $1,193,938 building program. The state would provide $308,938 of the total. This is the first of five articles reviewing improvements outlined by the school administration and the Citizens Committee for Improvement of Wellsville Schools.

One section of Wellsville's Garfield School is 75 years old and in need of extensive repairs, school officials point out in their campaign to inform the public of the need for the proposed building program which will go to the voters of the Wellsville School District next Tuesday.

Garfield no longer will be used if the bond issue passes and new schools are built.

THERE ARE two separate buildings. One was constructed in 1890 and the other in 1905. The two are connected by a tunnel, lighted by one incandescent bulb. It not only is dreary, but also damp, officials explained.

There was a two - room addition built in 1940 and two more rooms were added in 1955.

Samuel Linger is the principal. The school has 12 teachers and a projected enrollment for the coming term of 353.

There are two sections of kindergarten and two of each grade, first through fifth, but only one sixth grade. Children residing from 14th St. to the western city limits attend Garfield.

Large sections of plaster have fallen from the ceilings and walls. In the winter, snow and rain blow through the old windows. The doors need replaced, as do the gutters. The leaking roof has been a constant source of trouble.

The interior wooden steps are worn and should be replaced or repaired. Most of the floors are uneven.

Maintenance costs are high, with paint peeling from walls a few months after being applied, among other things.

The old toilet facilities are shared by the students and teachers. At present, only one of the girls' rest rooms has hot water. The other three rest rooms have only cold water. The principal's office is small and does not provide the proper privacy needed.

The kindergarten room was converted from a regular classroom and is drab and uninviting in appearance. The school nurse uses a screened-off section in the basement when visiting the school for examinations.

Weather Threatens Underground H-Blast

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—High wind and clouds threatened today to blot out an underground hydrogen blast four times stronger than the atomic bombs of World War II.

A spokesman for the Defense Department's Atomic Support Agency said word from the test site on Amchitka Island, in the Aleutian chain, was that bad weather left only a two per cent chance the 80-kiloton thermonuclear explosion would be set off.

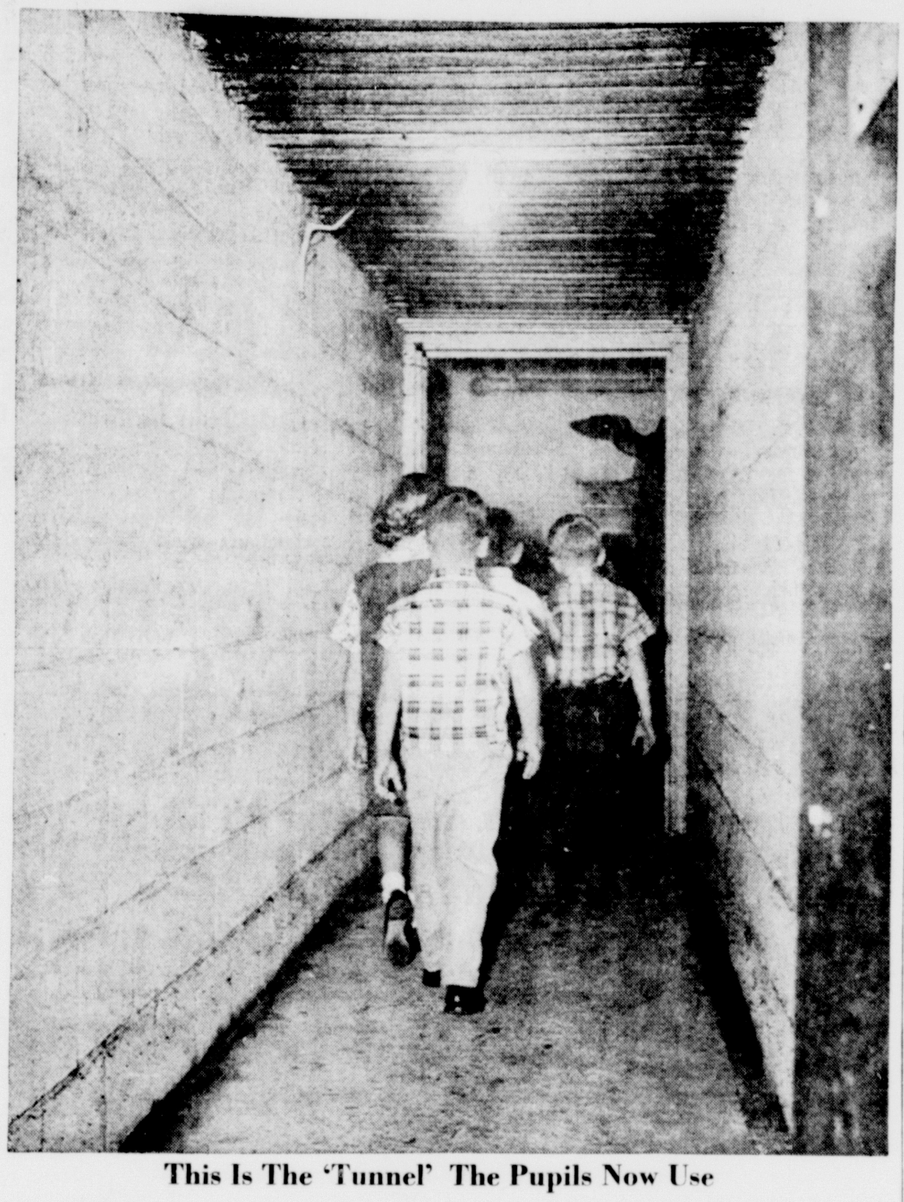
Garfield Will Be Closed If Wellsville OK's Bonds



This Is The 'Tunnel' The Pupils Now Use

An $885,000 bond issue will face voters of the Wellsville School District Tuesday in conjunction with a proposed $1,193,938 building program. The state would provide $308,938 of the total. This is the first of five articles reviewing improvements outlined by the school administration and the Citizens Committee for Improvement of Wellsville Schools.

One section of Wellsville's Garfield School is 75 years old and in need of extensive repairs, school officials point out in their campaign to inform the public of the need for the proposed building program which will go to the voters of the Wellsville School District next Tuesday.

Garfield no longer will be used if the bond issue passes and new schools are built.

THERE ARE two separate buildings. One was constructed in 1890 and the other in 1905. The two are connected by a tunnel, lighted by one incandescent bulb. It not only is dreary, but also damp, officials explained.

There was a two - room addition built in 1940 and two more rooms were added in 1955.

Samuel Linger is the principal. The school has 12 teachers and a projected enrollment for the coming term of 353.

There are two sections of kindergarten and two of each grade, first through fifth, but only one sixth grade. Children residing from 14th St. to the western city limits attend Garfield.

Large sections of plaster have fallen from the ceilings and walls. In the winter, snow and rain blow through the old windows. The doors need replaced, as do the gutters. The leaking roof has been a constant source of trouble.

The interior wooden steps are worn and should be replaced or repaired. Most of the floors are uneven.

Maintenance costs are high, with paint peeling from walls a few months after being applied, among other things.

The old toilet facilities are shared by the students and teachers. At present, only one of the girls' rest rooms has hot water. The other three rest rooms have only cold water. The principal's office is small and does not provide the proper privacy needed.

The kindergarten room was converted from a regular classroom and is drab and uninviting in appearance. The school nurse uses a screened-off section in the basement when visiting the school for examinations.

For Board At Wellsville

Four Of Candidates Express Views

Four of the seven candidates for the Wellsville Board of Education have answered a questionnaire relative to their views on various issues, Wellsville City Teachers Association reports.

The WCTA said the request was made so the voters of the school district would know where each one stands.

Responding were incumbent William Ferrall, 1608 Chester Ave.; Harold D. Reed, 1615 Brandon Dr.; Phillip H. Chronister, who has an East Liverpool R. D. 1 mailing address but resides in the Wellsville school district, and William T. Pickens of Broadway.

DANIEL L. MASON, owner of Mason's Foodliner, could not be reached by telephone and did not reply, the WCTA commented. Jay Williamson declined to answer and incumbent Russell Dysert, board president, said he will "stand on his record," the association reported.

Each was asked why he is a candidate, what talents and experience he will bring to bear on board activities, how he will vote on State Issue No. 1, the building bond issue and the local 3-mill operating levy, how he stands on extra-curricular activities, how he would respond to an individual or group calling with a complaint against a teacher or administrator and to briefly state his view as to the functions of a school board.

Ferrall, Chronister and Reed stressed their interest in the education of children as their reason for being candidates. Pickens said he is a candidate because "I feel that not enough help or backing is given to dedicated teachers."

Ferrall, Chronister and Reed cited their backgrounds in response to the question on their talents and experience. All said they are familiar with construction and maintenance. Ferrall also pointed to his previous experience on the board.

Pickens listed "fairness, broadmindedness and willingness to listen to both sides."

Reed and Chronister said they will vote in favor of all three proposals on the Nov. 2 ballot. Ferrall and Pickens said they will vote for State Issue No. 1 and the 3-mill levy, but will vote against the $885,000 building bond issue.

PICKENS SAID he is opposed to the bond issue because "I don't believe in hauling children out from town." Under the state's proposal, some children from the town area would be transported to Hillcrest to attend school.

Ferrall simply answered "No" without elaborating.

Ferrall, Chronister and Reed all agreed in general that extracurricular activities are necessary and desirable, but that academic work should be stressed first. Pickens said that sometimes this is the only viewpoint the public has of a school and that they should be stressed along with good study habits.

Relative to action on complaints from the public against teachers, Ferrall, Chronister and Reed suggested that the parents go first to the teacher, then the building principal, followed by the superintendent and finally the Board of Education.

Ferrall, Reed and Chronister agreed in general that the duties of the board is a policy - setting group, not an administrative one. Pickens said the board should see that the teachers and children have good surroundings and environment.

was large and they were acceptable."

Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine commandant, said Tuesday that the Marine Corps may be able to eliminate part of its draft calls because of increasing volunteers.

In a talk at Los Angeles, Greene said the corps hopes to increase its manpower by 30,000 men within the next five months.

Selective Service officials revealed Tuesday that the ban against drafting childless men who were married before midnight Aug. 26 had been lifted, enabling local draft boards to meet the recently increased manpower quotas.

President Johnson's announcement of the Aug. 26 cutoff date, made that afternoon, precipitated a rush to the altar by many young couples hoping to beat the draft.

Two weeks ago the Defense Department requested a draft quota of 45,224 men for December, the largest quota since the Korean war.

By early next year, Omer predicted, nearly all states will be drafting married men under 26 in order to fill their quotas An Associated Press survey indicated Tuesday that at least 12 states plan to start drafting married men without children in December. The states are New Mexico, Alabama, Washington, Illinois, New Hampshire, Montana, Minnesota, Maryland, Idaho, Connecticut, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Nine other states — California, Nevada, Oklahoma, Maine, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska and Massachusetts — indicated that by January they may begin taking such men.

Omer said he considered the decision to draft those married men a further assurance that men over 26 are not immediately in line for the draft.

The colonel, who is also general counsel of Selective Service, explained that there is a manpower pool of 500,000 men who were married on or before Aug. 26 and who must be inducted before men over 26.

The order of selection for induction now is:

1. Registrants who have disregarded their draft notices or draft regulations.
2. Volunteers.
3. 1A single men and men married since Aug. 26 who are between 19 and 26.
4. Men who married before Aug. 26 and who maintain a bona fide family relationship in their homes.
5. Men over 26.
6. Men between 18½ and 19.

Four Of Candidates Express Views

Four of the seven candidates for the Wellsville Board of Education have answered a questionnaire relative to their views on various issues, Wellsville City Teachers Association reports.

The WCTA said the request was made so the voters of the school district would know where each one stands.

Responding were incumbent William Ferrall, 1608 Chester Ave.; Harold D. Reed, 1615 Brandon Dr.; Phillip H. Chronister, who has an East Liverpool R. D. 1 mailing address but resides in the Wellsville school district, and William T. Pickens of Broadway.

DANIEL L. MASON, owner of Mason's Foodliner, could not be reached by telephone and did not reply, the WCTA commented. Jay Williamson declined to answer and incumbent Russell Dysert, board president, said he will "stand on his record," the association reported.

Each was asked why he is a candidate, what talents and experience he will bring to bear on board activities, how he will vote on State Issue No. 1, the building bond issue and the local 3-mill operating levy, how he stands on extra-curricular activities, how he would respond to an individual or group calling with a complaint against a teacher or administrator and to briefly state his view as to the functions of a school board.

Ferrall, Chronister and Reed stressed their interest in the education of children as their reason for being candidates. Pickens said he is a candidate because "I feel that not enough help or backing is given to dedicated teachers."

Ferrall, Chronister and Reed cited their backgrounds in response to the question on their talents and experience. All said they are familiar with construction and maintenance. Ferrall also pointed to his previous experience on the board.

Pickens listed "fairness, broadmindedness and willingness to listen to both sides."

Reed and Chronister said they will vote in favor of all three proposals on the Nov. 2 ballot. Ferrall and Pickens said they will vote for State Issue No. 1 and the 3-mill levy, but will vote against the $385,000 building bond issue.

PICKENS SAID he is opposed to the bond issue because "I don't believe in hauling children out from town." Under the state's proposal, some children from the town area would be transported to Hillcrest to attend school.

Ferrall simply answered "No" without elaborating.

Ferrall, Chronister and Reed all agreed in general that extra-curricular activities are necessary and desirable, but that academic work should be stressed first. Pickens said that sometimes this is the only viewpoint the public has of a school and that they should be stressed along with good study habits.

Relative to action on complaints from the public against teachers, Ferrall, Chronister and Reed suggested that the parents go first to the teacher, then the building principal, followed by the superintendent and finally the Board of Education.

Ferrall, Reed and Chronister agreed in general that the duties of the board is a policy - setting group, not an administrative one. Pickens said the board should see that the teachers and children have good surroundings and environment.

Draft

was large and they were acceptable."

Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine commandant, said Tuesday that the Marine Corps may be able to eliminate part of its draft calls because of increasing volunteers.

In a talk at Los Angeles, Greene said the corps hopes to increase its manpower by 30,000 men within the next five months.

Selective Service officials revealed Tuesday that the ban against drafting childless men who were married before midnight Aug. 26 had been lifted, enabling local draft boards to meet the recently increased manpower quotas.

President Johnson's announcement of the Aug. 26 cutoff date made that afternoon, precipitated a rush to the altar by many young couples hoping to beat the draft.

Two weeks ago the Defense Department requested a draft quota of 45,224 men for December, the largest quota since the Korean war.

By early next year, Omer predicted, nearly all states will be drafting married men under 26 in order to fill their quotas. An Associated Press survey indicated Tuesday that at least 12 states plan to start drafting married men without children in December. The states are New Mexico, Alabama, Washington, Illinois, New Hampshire, Montana, Minnesota, Maryland, Idaho, Connecticut, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Nine other states — California, Nevada, Oklahoma, Maine, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska and Massachusetts — indicated that by January they may begin taking such men.

Omer said he considered the decision to draft those married men a further assurance that men over 26 are not immediately in line for the draft.

The colonel, who is also general counsel of Selective Service, explained that there is a manpower pool of 500,000 men who were married on or before Aug. 26 and who must be inducted before men over 26.

The order of selection for induction now is:

1. Registrants who have disregarded their draft notices or draft regulations.
2. Volunteers.
3. 1A single men and men married since Aug. 26 who are between 19 and 26.
4. Men who married before Aug. 26 and who maintain a bona fide family relationship in their homes.
5. Men over 26.
6. Men between 18½ and 19.

She wore the engagement ring of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Alice Bebout, and the lavalier of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Frances Dornick.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Hartford of 1765 Maple Ave., Wellsville. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Dornick of Wellsville R. D. 1.

The Rev. James McCollam, pastor, and the Rev. Bruce Davis, assistant, officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of palms, ferns and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie fashioned with an Empire waistline, round neckline and long, pointed sleeves. Lace and seed pearl appliques formed accents. The A-line skirt featured a chapel train which was later transformed into a bustle.

She carried her mother's Eastern Star Bible topped with an arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and satin streamers. In observing the traditions, she carried a white linen handkerchief, the gift of Mrs. Elizabeth Ballard of Cleveland.

New Kind Of Kinsey Report Seen Needed

CINCINNATI (AP)—With all the talk about teen-agers and sex, a New York social scientist thinks what is needed is "a new kind of Kinsey Report."

"We need to make a study of 'give in' to belong to the group —the one who is 'chicken' and goes home," said Dr. Celia S. Deschin of Adelphi College's graduate school of social work.

Dr. Deschin, here to speak at the 75th annual Ohio Welfare Conference, said some persons think such youngsters who refuse to conform in order to belong suffer an emotional disturbance. She said she doubts it.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Grover Jackman, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin peau de soie. It was fashioned with a high, bias cut, draped neckline and a fitted bodice featuring long, tapered sleeves. The box pleated sheath skirt was bordered with French imported re - embroidered Alencon lace.

Her crown of matching Alencon lace and tiny seed pearls held her elbow - length bouffant veil of imported silk illusion. She wore a strand of graduated cultured pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy with the lovers' knots tied in the white satin streamers. All the familiar traditions were observed.

Miss Brigid O'Farrell, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and wore a floor - length sheath of peacock blue styled with an Empire velvet bodice and satin peau de soie skirt. Her headpiece was a matching velvet pillbox. She carried a cascade bouquet of bronze and gold pompons.

BRIDESMAIDS were Miss Carol Ludwig of Kent, Mrs. David McEwen of Youngstown and Mrs. William Helfrich. Miss Sharon O'Farrell of Warren, cousin of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

They appeared in Empire - style gowns of moss green designed with velvet bodices and peau de soie skirts and matching velvet pillboxes. They carried cascade bouquets of bronze pompons. The gowns and headpieces of the bridal party were fashioned by Mrs. Harry Pallard.

Patrick J. O'Farrell served as his brother's best man. Ushers were William K. O'Farrell and Michael J. O'Farrell, his other brothers; Joseph Costello, his cousin, and Stephen Moore.

The mother of the bride selected an ensemble of sandlewood knit with black and coffee brown accessories complemented by a corsage of yellow tearoses. The bridegroom's mother chose a knit ensemble of American Beauty Rose which featured a beaded jacket. Her accessories were in Autumn Haze color and her corsage, pink rosebuds.

A RECEPTION for 125 followed at the Chester American Legion Home. The buffet table was centered with a four-tier cake, placed on separators and topped with a fountain-shaped crystal vase, adorned with cherubs, and filled with lily-of-the-valley and roses. The silver-and-white color theme of the bridal table was highlighted with a miniature bridal couple mounted on a pedestal, above which were suspended wedding rings. An oblong vase, filled with white pompons, was encircled with ruffled lace and tiny wedding bells.

Aides were Mrs. Gerald Costello, aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Tad DiLoreto, and Mrs. Marie Hays.

Miss Mary Jane Vazquez registered from Cleveland, Columbus, Canton, Kent, Wellsville, Chester, Pittsburgh and Midland.

The newlyweds, graduates of East Liverpool High School, are residing in a newly - furnished home at Cuyahoga Falls. The bridegroom, a member of the State Highway Patrol, is stationed at Akron.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's family at Piatt's Tea Room in Wellsville.

Among the pre-nuptial showers were those given by the bridesmaids, by Miss Vazquez and Mrs. Charlotte Reed.

Miss America Of 1964 Plans To Get Divorce

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Miss America of 1964, Donna Axum Buckley of El Dorado, Ark., says she plans to divorce her husband of less than a year.

Mrs. Buckley, who won the Miss America title in September 1963, said in an interview her marriage to Michael Alan Buckley, 23, of Bloomington, Ill., "just didn't work out."

She would not say when she would file for the divorce, but said she would file at El Dorado, where she has been staying recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hurley Axum.

The couple eloped and wed Dec. 21 in a quiet ceremony witnessed only by a Pine Bluff, Ark., minister and his daughter. Mrs. Buckley said she wanted a simple wedding because she was tired of fanfare.

She and Buckley met as students at the University of Arkansas.

New Kind Of Kinsey Report Seen Needed

CINCINNATI (AP)—With all the talk about teen-agers and sex, a New York social scientist thinks what is needed is "a new kind of Kinsey Report."

"We need to make a study of 'give in' to belong to the group —the one who is 'chicken' and goes home," said Dr. Celia S. Deschin of Adelphi College's graduate school of social work.

Dr. Deschin, here to speak at the 75th annual Ohio Welfare Conference, said some persons think such youngsters who refuse to conform in order to belong suffer an emotional disturbance. She said she doubts it.

Wellsville Will Test Unbeaten JU Eleven Thursday

The first kickoff on the local gridiron scene this week comes Thursday night with two games on tap featured by the appearance of undefeated Jefferson Union at Wellsville at 8 p.m.

The other contest Thursday finds Brilliant invading Stanton Local with kickoff there at 7:30 p.m. The Thursday games were scheduled due to a Jefferson County teacher's meeting.

The Wellsville Tigers will attempt to make homecoming a success but rate a heavy underdog against the precisioned forces of Jefferson Union.

COACH Ken Woods is looking for a tough game from the Yellow jackets. Only a year ago Wellsville had little trouble conquering JU but Norm Allison, a former assistant at Beaver Local has come up with a powerhouse.

JU has gone through seven straight opponents. Woods points out the Jackets have a "good all-around offense but also plays sound defensive ball."

THE BIG gun for unbeaten Jackets is Rick Riggs, a 170-pound halfback. "Riggs has good speed and when they need that extra yardage he gets the ball," Woods said.

JU is coming off a 44-0 victory over Southern while Wellsville lost a 16-0 lead in falling to Salem, 20-16 last week.

STANTON Local will be attempting to snap out of a slump which has shown a tie and two defeats in its last three games.

Stanton dropped a 16-6 verdict to Springfield Local last week while Brilliant was winning 6-0 over Smithfield. Brilliant will bring a 5-2 record to the Stanton gridiron Thursday.

WEIRTON brings a 4-2-1 record to East Liverpool where the Potters will be out to bounce back after an inspired showing against Big Red which ended in a 28-18 loss.

Weirton wound up battling to a 0-0 tie last week with Wheeling. The Wheeling eleven is the team Martins Ferry defeated 16-14 for its only victory of the season while East Liverpool rolled to a 40-6 romp over the Purple Riders.

Oak Glen packs up its six-game winning streak and travels to Fairmont West Friday night. Coach Bob Starkey's team will go after victory No. 8 against a Fairmont team which is in the midst of a mediocre campaign.

MIDLAND, which found the winning formula last week for its top offensive effort, will be entertaining New Brighton but the Lions have put together a 6-1 record and lost only to Beaver by a 7-6 margin.

Two games in the Tri-County League shows Columbiana, which has won its last two starts after dropping five in a row, visiting Louisville the league leader. The other contest pits winless Lisbon at Leetonia.

SALEM, which will be East Liverpool's opponent next week, entertains Boardman while South Side steps out of its class to meet Ford City in an exhibition game.

Saturday's four game schedule is headed by Southern Local's visit to Beaver Local where the Beavers are heavy favorites to win their fourth game. Southern only has been successful one time this season.

Thornton Boosts Lead In TD Race

With three games remaining, Chris Thornton who has rolled up 1,133 yards of real estate so far this season for the Wellsville Tigers, has widened his lead in the district scoring race.

The 190-pound whiz scored twice against Salem although the Tigers lost, 20-16. The two td's raised his total to 14 for the season giving him 84 points, which is 18 better than Beaver Local's Larry Roberts who holds second place with 66.

One time leader, Fritz Ziegler is third with 62 points as his United Local team rolls on as the district's only unbeaten eleven.

There is a large gap between the top three scorers going from Ziegler's 62 to 46 for Columbiana fullback Dick Keller.

United with its 7-0 record also is ranked seventh in the Ohio Class A ratings.

While United has a seven game streak going, Oak Glen is in the process of having the best record in the school's young history, has won its last six games with Wellsville the only to master the Bears this season.

With three weeks remaining in the local football season, only five teams have winning records while 10 others are either batting .500 or on the short end of victories.

Warmath Hopes OSU Tilt Won't Hurt Friendship

"Not playing each other before," Warmath told the Chicago Football Writers meeting Tuesday, "Woody and I have always gotten along splendidly."

Hayes is dean of Big Ten coaches, now in his 15th season at Ohio State, and Warmath is in his 12th Gopher season, but Saturday's game at Columbus will mark their first meeting on the field. The teams last met in 1951.

Browns Show Improvement Defensively

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns defense is getting better, according to National Football League statistics. The figures are backed by a few of the Browns who should know.

"I know we give up quite a few yards," said captain and linebacker Galen Fiss. "But we don't give up that big play. We figure if you make a team drive for what it gets, somewhere in that drive the other fellow just might make a mistake.

"We don't take too many risks on defense. I know people say 'the Browns lay back and let you come at them.' But that's all right with us. We're ready when they come."

The Browns, leading the NFL'S Eastern Division with a 5-1 record, host the Minnesota Vikings Sunday and a sellout crowd of 80,000 is expected.

Last year the Browns were last in the league in total defense. Now, Cleveland is tied for eighth.

"We're world champs now," said defensive tackle Dick Modzelewski. "Jim Kanicki (defensive tackle) has learned to play alongside Bill Glass. I've learned to play next to Paul Wiggin. We know and recognize each other's strength and faults."

The Browns and Vikings are more closely matched on defense than any two NFL teams playing each other Sunday.

Both clubs have given up exactly 1,894 yards to opponents.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is getting to be the time for the traditional college football game. That means, they are traditionally tough to pick.

Last week's selections brought the season average to .727.

Michigan State over Northwestern — Lightning does strike twice in the same spot but will it strike four times? Three times previously under Coach Duffy Daugherty the Spartans have been tagged the nation's best only to be upset in the next game. This week they again are No. 1—but the lesson has been learned.

Arkansas over Texas A&M — The schedule maker has been kind to Arkansas since its terrific triumph over Texas.

Nebraska over Missouri — The Huskers have the nation's best total and rushing offenses and lead in team scoring. They also have a dual carburetor in quarterbacks Bob Churchich and Fred Duda. Against this, Missouri offers Charlie Brown.

Notre Dame over Navy — The Middies have no answer for Notre Dame's Larry Conjar and Nick Rassas.

Louisiana State and Alabama over Mississippi and Mississippi State — A college football doubleheader played on a neutral field at Jackson, Miss., with Alabama and Mississippi State playing the daylight half.

Texas over Southern Method- ist — Who can remember when Texas lost three Southwest Conference games in a row?

Georgia Tech over Duke — Scotty Glacken, Duke quarterback, hurt and likely will not play again this year.

Oregon State over Washington State — The Cougars have beaten three Big Ten teams, but Oregon State is a member of Coast Conference.

Ohio State over Minnesota, Bowling Green over Miami, Cincinnati over North Texas State, Ohio University over Dayton, Iowa over Indiana, Michigan over Wisconsin, Toledo over Kent State, Xavier over Villanova.

Coach Sorry About Story On Kent Loss

KENT, Ohio (AP) — "I am deeply sorry the entire incident took place," an assistant Kent State University football coach said after being quoted as saying officiating caused Kent's 7-6 loss to Bowling Green State University last Saturday.

Kent officials said Tuesday that they were upset over a story which quoted assistant coach Tony Ware. In a news release, Ware denied telling a reporter that game films showed Willie Asbury scoring a touchdown which would have won the game, and added:

"I told the gentleman it was hard to tell from the film, and that I found it hard to believe an official could make a judgment call of an inch at the goal line. When it came out in the papers, I was quoted as saying Willie scored."

He added "I should not have said anything. Officials never beat you, you beat yourself, and that is what we did."

Brown Named Offensive Player Of Week In NFL

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This has to be Jim Brown Week. The Cleveland fullback has been making news every day, lugging a football, talking about retirement, signing to handle a fight telecast in Toronto. Or just talking about Jim Brown and the Browns.

Brown's tremendous performance Sunday against the New York Giants was enough to earn Associated Press recognition as the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Jim had plenty of competition. Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins hit with 12 of 14 passes, the last 10 in a row, in leading his mates to an upset victory over St. Louis.

Fran Tarkenton scrambled and set a career record of 407 yards passingby completing 21 of 35 in the wild Minnesota-San Francisco game. Rudy Bukick had a hot hand for the Chicago Bears. John Unitas did it again for Baltimore, throwing three touchdown passes and running for another score.

But it was Brown with 177 yards rushing in 24 carries at Yankee Stadium who stole the headlines. Jim also caught three passes for 18 yards and surprised everybody by throwing a 39-yard TD pass to Gary Collins. All in all, Brown accounted for 234 yards in Cleveland's 38-14 romp.

"This was the greatest single game effort I have ever seen by Jim," aid owner Art Modell of the Browns after the game. His teammates felt the same way. Capt. Galen Fiss gave him the game ball.

Speaking at a Monday luncheon, Sam Huff of Washington, his old adversary, called Brown "the greatest running back ever born."

It was a week like that for Brown, whose total of 738 yards in only six games gives him a shot at his own all-time record of 1,863 in 1963.

Heffner Is New Manager Of Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—"I wasn't a 'book' player and I'm not a 'book' manager," is how Don Heffner describes the way he is going to manage the Cincinnati Reds' baseball team.

The 54-year-old Heffner, who once played second base on the same New York Yankees' team as Babe Ruth, was named to the job Tuesday. He succeeds Dick Sisler, who was dismissed as manager on Oct. 4 after the Reds folded in the final week and ended the season in fourth place.

Heffner's new boss is an old friend, Reds' President-General Manager Bill DeWitt, who gave him his first minor league manager's job in 1947 with the St. Louis Browns' organization. Heffner had been a coach with the New York Mets for the last two seasons. He has a two year contract with the Reds at an undisclosed salary.

"There are times to gamble and there are times to be conservative," said the pipe-smoking Heffner, discussing his baseball strategy.

"Take this situation: your lead-off man in the first inning hits a double down either line and everybody in the park knows it's a sure double. I'll settle for the double and don't believe in having the man try to stretch it into three unless it's obvious that he can go into third base standing up."

If there were one out when the batter hit the double, he would send the man on to third, Heffner added.

In disclosing Heffner's appointment at a news conference, DeWitt said he had talked to about six other candidates for the job. Heffner's name as the next Cincinnati manager was mentioned several times during the World Series, but both he and DeWitt said they came to terms only Monday.

Heffner — known as Jeep in his playing days — was born Feb. 8, 1911, at Rouzerville, Pa. He broke into the majors in 1934 with the Yankees, and after four seasons moved on to St. Louis where DeWitt was then vice president-general manager. Later he played for Philadelphia and Detroit in the American League.

Before becoming manager of the Red' former Pacific Coast League affiliate, Heffner also served as a coach for the Kansas City Athletics and the Detroit Tigers.

Miami Back Honored By Conference

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Talk about your M & M athletic tamdems (Mantle and Maris, etc.)—Miami's Redskins proudly present Matte and Moore.

Al Moore was named Mid-American Conference back of the week today, an honor accorded just last week to teammate Bruce Matte.

The conference's lineman of the week is Bob Rowe, Western Michigan tackle whose defensive work sparked a 3-0 blanking of Toledo last Saturday night.

Moore, a sophomore, earned his honors for ripping through Ohio University for 145 yards in 30 attempts. The workhorse effort in a 34-0 Redskin triumph broke the Miami record for carries in a single game.

And it was largely the threat of Matte, the ace Redskin quarterback, that gave Moore running room against Ohio.

Rowe, a 6-foor-4, 230 - pound junior from Flushing, Mich., racked up 12 solo tackles and five assists against Toledo.

Others nominated for back of the week on the strength of last Saturday's work include Andy Socha of Marshall, Steve Terlep of Western Michigan, Jim Berkey of Toledo and Willie Asbury of Kent State.

Westgate-Steubenville Junior High Game Off

As an apparent aftermath of the East Liverpool-Steubenville Big Red game last Friday night, the game between Westgate and Grant Junior High of Steubenville scheduled Thursday has been cancelled. The decision to cancel the game was made at a meeting of the Steubenville Athletic Board Tuesday night.

Following last Friday's varsity game between the Potters and Big Red, head coach Abe Bryan of Steubenville said "as long as I am head coach I will never bring another team to East Liverpool." Bryan apparently was bitter over the rough play and the manner in which the officials handled the game.

Defensive Player Cited For Back Of Week Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — It was another big weekend for runners and passers, but a defensive player — safety Bill Eastman of Georgia Tech — was named today as The Associated Press Back of the Week.

"I didn't think one player could ever do so many things in one game," Tech defensive coach Jim Carlen said of Eastman's performance in the Yellow Jackets' 37-16 victory over Navy Saturday.

What the 5-foot-10, 163-pound Eastman did was return a punt 86 yards for a touchdown, recover a fumble, intercept two passes and deflect three others, make nine tackles and contribute four key blocks on punt returns.

What makes the Columbus, Miss., native's performance even more remarkable is that this is his first season on defense. He was a quarterback on the Tech freshman 1963 team and was held out of action last year.

Pushing Eastman for the honor was Tulsa quarterback Bill Anderson, who had another great afternoon in the 49-6 trouncing of Cincinnati, completing 32 of 55 passes for 451 yards and six touchdowns. He also scored once and threw a pair of two-point conversion passes.

Mays, Yat Are Named '65 Slugging Champs

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielders Willie Mays of San Francisco and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston won the 1965 major league slugging championships, the final averages revealed today.

Mays had a .645 mark in leading the National League for the fifth time. The past season, he collected 360 total bases in 558 times at bat. Among his 177 hits were 21 doubles, 3 triples and 52 home runs, the latter a major league high.

The Giants' star also paced the NL in 1954, 1955, 1957 and 1964. The 1965 campaign was the 12th straight in which Mays has compiled at least 300 total bases. This extended his own league record. He also lifted his career slugging average four points to .593, another NL mark.

Yastrzemski topped the American League with .536 on 265 total bases in 494 at bats. He had 45 doubles, 3 triples and 20 homers among 154 hits. Yastrzemski is the first Boston player to lead the AL in slugging since Ted Williams in 1957.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee was second in the National League with a .560 average.

Tony Conigliaro, Yastrzemski's teammate, and Detroit's Norm Cash wound up in a second-place tie in the American League. Each slugged .512.

Redskins Seen Team To Beat Around MAC

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Someone forgot to tell Coach Bo Schembechler that his Miami football team was supposed to be down this year.

The resurgent Redskins, who started out like they never were going to win a ball game, evened their record at 3-3 last weekend in a 34-0 rout of winless Ohio University.

Now Miami looks like the team to beat in the Mid-American Conference as it prepares for an invasion of Bowling Green Saturday in the league's top attraction.

If Bowling Green (3-0) prevails, the Falcons are almost a cinch to take their second straight title. If the Redskins (3-1) triumph, it could lead to their first championship since 1958.

Schembechler, obviously delighted with his team's recent play, said "We are a young team that is playing well and getting better every game."

But, he added cautiously:

"We'll have to play better than at any time this year to beat them."

The Falcons squeaked by Kent State 7-6 last week and Western Michigan nipped Toledo on a field goal in the dying seconds in other league action. Marshall dropped its second straight, a 23-7 decision to Louisville.

Kent (2-1-1) still with a mathematical chance to win, plays at Toledo (1-3) and Marshall (1-1) goes against Western (1-2-1) at Kalamazoo.

Outside the league, Ohio U. (0-3) gets its best chance to break into the victory column when it plays at Dayton (0-5-1).

Schembechler calls Bowling Green a strong team "with great personnel. They're big, strong and like to run. We're smaller and quicker and like to throw more."

Schembechler said, "Tremendous improvement in our defense has been a big factor in our winning."

Potters Place Last In Meet

The East Liverpool Cross Country team could do no better than third in a tri-angular meet Tuesday at Aliquippa.

Cannon - McMillian won the meet with 26 points while Hopewell was second with 39. East Liverpool totaled 55.

Paul Tekula of Hopewell finished first in a time of 10:49 over the 2⅛ mile course.

Greg Manning came home first for the Potters finishing seventh while Pete Manning was 10th, Bill Loy 11th, Jerry Wood 13th and Mike Schuck 14th.

The Potters will run Saturday in the district meet at St. Clairsville.

Ex-Teammate Tops Pistons

BY The Associated Press

The Detroit Pistons, rocked by early injuries to three key players and then rattled by the deadly shooting of ex-teammate Don Ohl, have slipped into the National Basketball Association's Western Division cellar.

Ohl, traded from Detroit to Baltimore after the 1963-64 season, sparked the visiting Bullets to a 117-98 romp over the crippled Pistons Tuesday night with a 27-point barrage.

In the only other game played, the Lakers came from behind and edged the New York Knickerbockers 104-102 in Los Angeles. The victory was the Lakers' 14th straight over the Knicks at home.

Baseball Players File In Hospitals For Care

By HAL BOCK

Their long season finally completed, baseball players are beginning to filter into hospitals across the country, having various aches and pains cared for.

The famed Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., is the busiest by far with three ball players already checked in.

Wes Parker, first baseman for the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers, joined American League batting champion Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins and shortstop Tony Kubek of the New York Yankees at the clinic Tuesday.

Parker will undergo a series of allergy tests and have X rays taken of his shoulder. The rangy first baseman also plans a routine physical checkup.

Oliva, who batted .321 and won his second straight batting crown, will undergo surgery Friday for taumatic periostitis of the middle finger on his right hand.

The injury, which caused Oliva to lose his bat frequently after missing pitches, involves an overgrowth of bone caused by repeated injury to the knuckle.

The surgery, expected to keep Oliva hospitalized for four days, will return the knuckle to normal size.

Kubek suffered through the worst season in his career last year, batting .218. The veteran infielder was troubled by a sore left shoulder through much of the campaign and will undergo examinations at the clinic.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh's slugging Willie Stargell and New York Met relief pitcher Gordon Richardson were set to undergo knee operations.

CHICAGO (AP) — The NCAA Council, having given South Dakota State University a slap on the wrist for basketball recruiting violations, concludes a three-day meeting today.

The NCAA announced South Dakota State was reprimanded and censured for the violation in which the basketball coach recruited a junior college athlete and supplied him with cash to pay off a debt.

The university investigated the charges and then relieved the coach, James Iverson, of his duties.

At the same time, the council announced that Navy, Texas and Miami, Fla., were restored to full rights and privileges after one year of probation.

Navy and Texas had been found guilty of football recruiting violations and Miami was put down for violating basketball recruiting rules.

Giants Show More Ground Than Packers

NEW YORK (AP) — Quick now, which attack is best — Green Bay's or New York's? Ninety nine out of 100 will say Green Bay but the latest National Football statistic show the Giants have gained more ground.

Statistics can be most misleading. For instance, they show Green Bay eighth in running, 11th in passing and ninth in total offense. But the all-important won-and-lost standings show Green Bay way out there with a 6-0 record. New York is 10th in running, seventh in passing and eighth in total offense. But they are 3-3 in the standings after absorbing a 38-14 beating from Cleveland.

The figures also show that Cleveland's much-maligned defense is better than a year ago when the Browns won the championship. Cleveland has permitted opponents to complete 45.1 per cent of their passes, has intercepted 10, given up 4.3 yards per rush and permitted 1,894 yards over-all.

However, the Browns are not among the leaders on defense. Baltimore's strong unit is showing the way in both total defense and rushing defense. St. Louis has the best record on pass defense and also has put on the best pass rush, throwing the quarterback 25 times for 226 yards.

San Francisco's high-powered offensive unit which scored 41 points and still lost last week, leads the NFL in total offense and passing.

Councilman Cuts Red Tape In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Councilman John E. Held is trying to cut some red tape—and save the city some money—by making a $3 refund on a parking citation from his own pocket.

Held said Tuesday he was mailing the money to C. Jack Rusk, who says he got a ticket while parked at a faulty meter.

After the traffic department agreed the meter had been out of order, Rusk asked the city to reimburse him. Held sent him the money after the motorist filed a request for a special ordinance, which would have cost the city $27.

Tulsa's Twilley Picked As Week's Top Lineman

By NORMAN ROWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa end Howard Twilley and his battery mate, quarterback Billy Anderson, are a couple of perfectionists who won't be satisfied as long as some passes miss the mark.

Twilley, named Lineman of the Week for his performance last Saturday in Tulsa's 49-6 win over Cincinnati, was still disgusted over the one he missed when informed of the honor.

"I'm surprised I got it," he said, shaking his head slowly from side to side. "Did you see the one I missed?"

The miss that upset the Galena Park, Tex., senior brought a gasp from the crowd and the comment, "Well, now we know he's human," from a Cincinnati sports writer.

"I had it on my finger tips but my knee hit it when I started to bring it in," Twilley said. "I'd have had it if I had dived.

"I really hate to miss a pass," he added. "It's such a long way back to the huddle."

The 5-foot, 10-inch, 180-pounder recalled that he missed one almost as easy back in the Houston game, Tulsa's first of the season.

In the meantime, he's caught 73 (enough to win the NCAA pass receiving title in any year but 1964 when he won it with 95) for 1,014 yard and seven touchdowns.

In the Cincinnati game, Tulsa's sixth of the season, he caught 14 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns. He also kicked a conversion and caught a conversion pass.

"I had a pretty good game," he smiled, "but I think my best one was against Memphis State."

Against Memphis, Twilley caught 16 for 267 yards and two touchdowns.

Anderson, the nation's leading passer, hit 32 of 55 for 451 yards and six touchdowns against Cincinnati.

"I wasn't really sharp," he said. "I missed some early that I should have had."

fire his 9 and 10 aft rocket thrusters for 54 seconds to climb into a safe orbit for the 331-hour and 18-minute, 209-orbit trip.

This maneuver will take place over Australia. The Titan 2 booster section will gradually slip into the atmosphere and burn up. The Gemini spacecraft would return the same way if the firing to boost the orbit were not executed over Australia.

Gemini 7 was expected to be launched about Dec. 10 but could be moved up as near as Thanksgiving. The flight is primarily a medical data gathering mission.

There are 19 experiments to be performed during the 14-day trip, the longest manned flight yet.

200 Shouting Youths Riot In Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—About 200 shouting, rock-throwing Negro and Spanish - American youths rioted near downtown Phoenix late Tuesday night. Police brought it under control two hours later.

A dozen auto windshields and several store windows were smashed. Two persons, including a policeman, were hit by rocks that shattered the windshields of moving cars.

Although both of those hit are white, police said there were no apparent racial overtones to the rioting.

The rock throwing started outside a dance at a Negro neighborhood park southeast of downtown Phoenix. An officer said two Negro youths were fighting when police arrived, then without apparent explanation, others started throwing rocks at passing cars.

Budget

et director, already has conceded the budget for next year, fiscal 1967, will go above $100 billion.

The $119.3 billion in appropriations voted this year was exceeded only by the $147.1 billion in 1942, the first year of World War II. It is $13.2 billion more than Congress voted last year.

Johnson submitted appropriations requests this year of $121.7 billion, so Congress achieved a $2.4-billion cut.

Part of the money voted this year will be spent this fiscal year, but a substantial portion will not go out of the Treasury until later years.

Groat, White Included In Big Swap With Phils

The deal obviously opened the way for other trades, especially for the Phillies, who already have slugger Dick Stuart at first base and both Bobby Wine and Ruben Amaro for shortstop.

White and Johnson apparently were the key figures in the six-played swap. It was known that the Phillies were disenchanted with Stuart and figured to look for help at first base.

The Cardinals recently began a house-cleaning of the team that won the National League pennant in 1964 but slumped to sixth last season with the trade of third baseman Ken Boyer to the New York Mets for southpaw pitcher Al Jackson and infielder Charles Smith.

Ike Sees Peace In Viet Nam When Reds Halt Aggression

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says peace in Viet Nam can come when Communists give up "aggression in their hearts and guns in their hands."

He also said during a taped television interview program that the United States will stop bombing North Viet Nam when the Communists "stop murdering innocent people."

Eisenhower said he spoke as an individual regarding the North Viet Nam raids, but Arthur J. Gold, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, noted the Eisenhower position is the same as that of the U.S. government.

Eisenhower, Goldberg and Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall appeared on CBS' "The World Town Meeting of the Air." It was transmitted overseas Tuesday night via the Early Bird communications satellite.

The three were questioned by students in Belgrade, London, Paris and Mexico City.

Replying to quetions which at times appeared hostile, Eisenhower suggested at one point that a questioner not try to be funny. Another time, he asked a student whether he wanted an answer or wanted to make a speech.

Eisenhower, Goldberg and Marshall all agreed the United States can live peacefully with any nation which establishes a socialist government by self-determination. All were critical of what they called "Communist imperialism."

Eisenhower also said Russia has never abandoned its goal of ruling the world.

Jury Hears Testimony In Ferry Crash

PITTTSBURGH — Testimony continued today in U. S. Federal Court in the trial for Capt. William Adams of Pittsburgh, pilot of a riverboat which collided with the Shippingport Ferry in 1963, causing the death of two men.

Adams has been charged by the federal government with negligence in the collision of the Consolidated Coal Co.'s towboat Humphrey with the ferry Oct. 1, 1963, in fog.

R. A. (Dick) Pidgeon, 42, of Mt. Lebanon and Phillip McManus, 35, of Pittsburgh, both Crucible Steel Co. employes on their way to work on the ferry, lost their lives.

They and two other men either jumped or were knocked into the river as the leading barges of the tow struck the ferry flat carrying eight autos and the ferry tug, Chrismor, operated by Robert Christy.

A jury was seated Friday in the trial before Judge Joseph Willson and testimony began Monday. Several Midland area residents were summoned as witnesses.

The case was expected to go to the jury later this week.

Two Fines Assessed For Traffic Charges

NEW CUMBERLAND — William A. Clark, 57, of New Cumberland R.D. was fined $50 and costs by Judge John D. Herron in police court here with reckless driving by Chief Jake Baxter.

In another hearing by Herron, Timmy Monroe, 17, of Newell was fined $25 and costs for failure to report an accident. He was cited by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Boy, 11, Dies In Iron Lung After Firm Cuts Off Power

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Audie Barrett, 11, died early Tuesday in an iron lung after Nashville Electric Service, unaware that he suffered from polio, shut off power because no one was paying the bill.

A company spokesman said the power was shut off Friday because no bills had been paid since a former occupant moved last June. He said no one had contacted the company since the power was discontinued.

"The lung would have made no difference whatever," said the medical examiner, Dr. W. J. Core, after an autopsy.

Coe said the youth had a "well-established" case of pneumonia in the right lung and a lesser case in the left. He estimated that the pneumonia was contracted several days ago.

The boy, who had suffered from the after - effects of polio six years, died after his mother, Helen Barrett, tried to operate the respirator by hand.

Mrs. Barrett said her son was not required to be in the iron lung during the day, but spent most nights there.

"I was trying to break him from the lung and we kept him out of it a lot of time," the distraught mother said.

Dr. W. J. Core, metropolitan medical examiner, was authorized to make an autopsy to determine the exact cause of death.

A company spokesman first said the power had been shut off Monday, but later General Manager J. L. Sisk said a check of records showed it was turned off Friday.

Police said Mrs. Barrett left the machine for a few minutes and when she returned she realized the boy was dead.

Mayor Receives 'Model' Code To Control Building

Mayor George E. Willshaw today received from the Ohio Municipal League at Columbus a copy of the 381-page National Building Code that will be referred to Council for possible adoption in East Liverpool.

The model code, recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, was sent to the mayor by John Gotherman, research director of the municipal league. The official also furnished a sample copy of a two-page ordinance enacted at Reynoldsburg in adopting the code for use in that city.

Willshaw said he expects to turn over the information to Council at its next meeting Monday night. At the mayor's request, Council agreed earlier to consider the code.

Building codes have been studied here intermittently since 1958 by Council and the City Planning Commission.

Basketball Remains Class A

Midland Board Approves Class B Football Status

The Midland Board of Education has approved the reclassification of Midland High School athletic patriciation to Class B in football and track, while maintaining the Class A program in basketball.

The Board acted on the recommendation of the Midland Athletic Council Monday in a special conference. The Athletic Council voted on the reclassification in a meeting at the High School Oct. 19.

The school officials must notify the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association in Harrisburg by Oct. 31 on the reclassification.

In the past, Midland High School, which has an enrollment of 287 students, has participated in Class A sports which contains schools enrolling 800 to 1200 students. In Class B, Midland will participate with schools enrolling less than 800 pupils.

Presently, Class AA schools in the area, enrolling more than 1200 students, are Aliquippa, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Farell, New Castle and Sharon.

Classified in Class B along with Midland are New Brighton, Riverside, Western Beaver and Monaca — impending.

Midland school officials report that next season's football schedule isn't complete, but tentative games will be played with Mohawk (B), East Liverpool (AA), Beaver (A), Monaca (B), Rochester (A), New Brighton (B), Freedom (A) and Burgettstown (A), impending.

Tulsa's Twilley Picked As Week's Top Lineman

By NORMAN ROWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa end Howard Twilley and his battery mate, quarterback Billy Anderson, are a couple of perfectionists who won't be satisfied as long as some passes miss the mark.

Twilley, named Lineman of the Week for his performance last Saturday in Tulsa's 49-6 win over Cincinnati, was still disgusted over the one he missed when informed of the honor.

"I'm surprised I got it," he said, shaking his head slowly from side to side. "Did you see the one I missed?"

The miss that upset the Galena Park, Tex., senior brought a gasp from the crowd and the comment, "Well, now we know he's human," from a Cincinnati sports writer.

"I had it on my finger tips but my knee hit it when I started to bring it in," Twilley said. "I'd have had it if I had dived.

"I really hate to miss a pass," he added. "It's such a long way back to the huddle."

The 5-foot, 10-inch, 180-pounder recalled that he missed one almost as easy back in the Houston game, Tulsa's first of the season.

In the meantime, he's caught 73 (enough to win the NCAA pass receiving title in any year but 1964 when he won it with 95) for 1,014 yard and seven touchdowns.

In the Cincinnati game, Tulsa's sixth of the season, he caught 14 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns. He also kicked a conversion and caught a conversion pass.

"I had a pretty good game," he smiled, "but I think my best one was against Memphis State."

Against Memphis, Twilley caught 16 for 267 yards and two touchdowns.

Anderson, the nation's leading passer, hit 32 of 55 for 451 yards and six touchdowns against Cincinnati.

"I wasn't really sharp," he said. "I missed some early that I should have had."

Gemini

fire his 9 and 10 aft rocket thrusters for 54 seconds to climb into a safe orbit for the 331-hour and 18-minute, 209-orbit trip.

This maneuver will take place over Australia. The Titan 2 booster section will gradually slip into the atmosphere and burn up. The Gemini spacecraft would return the same way if the firing to boost the orbit were not executed over Australia.

Gemini 7 was expected to be launched about Dec. 10 but could be moved up as near as Thanksgiving. The flight is primarily a medical data gathering mission.

There are 19 experiments to be performed during the 14-day trip, the longest manned flight yet.

200 Shouting Youths Riot In Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—About 200 shouting, rock-throwing Negro and Spanish - American youths rioted near downtown Phoenix late Tuesday night. Police brought it under control two hours later.

A dozen auto windshields and several store windows were smashed. Two persons, including a policeman, were hit by rocks that shattered the windshields of moving cars.

Although both of those hit are white, police said there were no apparent racial overtones to the rioting.

The rock throwing started outside a dance at a Negro neighborhood park southeast of downtown Phoenix. An officer said two Negro youths were fighting when police arrived, then without apparent explanation, others started throwing rocks at passing cars.

et director, already has conceded the budget for next year, fiscal 1967, will go above $100 billion.

The $119.3 billion in appropriations voted this year was exceeded only by the $147.1 billion in 1942, the first year of World War II. It is $13.2 billion more than Congress voted last year.

Johnson submitted appropriations requests this year of $121.7 billion, so Congress achieved a $2.4-billion cut.

Part of the money voted this year will be spent this fiscal year, but a substantial portion will not go out of the Treasury until later years.

Groat, White Included In Big Swap With Phils

The deal obviously opened the way for other trades, especially for the Phillies, who already have slugger Dick Stuart at first base and both Bobby Wine and Ruben Amaro for shortstop.

White and Johnson apparently were the key figures in the six-played swap. It was known that the Phillies were disenchanted with Stuart and figured to look for help at first base.

The Cardinals recently began a house-cleaning of the team that won the National League pennant in 1964 but slumped to sixth last season with the trade of third baseman Ken Boyer to the New York Mets for southpaw pitcher Al Jackson and infielder Charles Smith.

Ike Sees Peace In Viet Nam When Reds Halt Aggression

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says peace in Viet Nam can come when Communists give up "aggression in their hearts and guns in their hands."

He also said during a taped television interview program that the United States will stop bombing North Viet Nam when the Communists "stop murdering innocent people."

Eisenhower said he spoke as an individual regarding the North Viet Nam raids, but Arthur J. Gold, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, noted the Eisenhower position is the same as that of the U.S. government.

Eisenhower, Goldberg and Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall appeared on CBS' "The World Town Meeting of the Air." It was transmitted overseas Tuesday night via the Early Bird communications satellite.

The three were questioned by students in Belgrade, London, Paris and Mexico City.

Replying to quetions which at times appeared hostile, Eisenhower suggested at one point that a questioner not try to be funny. Another time, he asked a student whether he wanted an answer or wanted to make a speech.

Eisenhower, Goldberg and Marshall all agreed the United States can live peacefully with any nation which establishes a socialist government by self-determination. All were critical of what they called "Communist imperialism."

Eisenhower also said Russia has never abandoned its goal of ruling the world.

Whether To Fire Military Leaders

Dominican Regime Seen To Be Nearing Showdown

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Member of the Dominican Republic's shaky provisional government appeared today to be nearing a showdown over whether to fire the top leaders of the armed forces.

The danger of more large-scale violence was believed ruled out by the presence of the 10,000-man Inter-American Peace Force patrolling the capital.

But there was a possibility that the long and costly rehabilitation program for the country might be dealt a serious setback if President Hector Garcia-Godoy was forced out by the crisis. Then the Organization of American States would be faced with the task of creating a new provisional regime.

The prevailing view in influential circles was that the major portion of Garcia-Godoy's Cabinet, sympathetic to the rebel cause, would resign if the president did not immediately fire the armed forces secretary, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, and the chiefs of staff of the army, navy and air force.

The president was reported unwilling to take this decisive step because the U.S. government and the OAS had made clear that they considered such action undesirable at this time. Garcia-Godoy reportedly does not wish to alienate the only source of badly needed economic support for the country, which is on the brink of bankruptcy.

Rebel sympathizers charge that the military chiefs ordered indiscriminate bombing of Santo Domingo's civilian population in the early days of the April revolt.

The military leaders deny this and fear their ouster would pave the way for extreme leftists to take over the armed forces.

This fear has chilled relations between the president and the military, which considers that Garcia-Godoy picked a Cabinet that is oriented too much toward the rebels.

Turkey Has Youngest Premier In Its History

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Justice party chief Suleyman Demirel succeeded in forming a new conservative government today and became the youngest prime minister in Turkey's history.

It was the first one-party government since the 1960 army revolution which overthrew the late Premier Adnan Menderes' regime. The Justice party won a majority in Parliament in national elections Oct. 10.

Whether To Fire Military Leaders

Dominican Regime Seen To Be Nearing Showdown

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Member of the Dominican Republic's shaky provisional government appeared today to be nearing a showdown over whether to fire the top leaders of the armed forces.

The danger of more large-scale violence was believed ruled out by the presence of the 10,000-man Inter-American Peace Force patrolling the capital.

But there was a possibility that the long and costly rehabilitation program for the country might be dealt a serious setback if President Hector Garcia-Godoy was forced out by the crisis. Then the Organization of American States would be faced with the task of creating a new provisional regime.

The prevailing view in influential circles was that the major portion of Garcia-Godoy's Cabinet, sympathetic to the rebel cause, would resign if the president did not immediately fire the armed forces secretary, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, and the chiefs of staff of the army, navy and air force.

The president was reported unwilling to take this decisive step because the U.S. government and the OAS had made clear that they considered such action undesirable at this time. Garcia-Godoy reportedly does not wish to alienate the only source of badly needed economic support for the country, which is on the brink of bankruptcy.

Rebel sympathizers charge that the military chiefs ordered indiscriminate bombing of Santo Domingo's civilian population in the early days of the April revolt.

The military leaders deny this and fear their ouster would pave the way for extreme leftists to take over the armed forces.

This fear has chilled relations between the president and the military, which considers that Garcia-Godoy picked a Cabinet that is oriented too much toward the rebels.

Turkey Has Youngest Premier In Its History

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Justice party chief Suleyman Demirel succeeded in forming a new conservative government today and became the youngest prime minister in Turkey's history.

It was the first one-party government since the 1960 army revolution which overthrew the late Premier Adnan Menderes' regime. The Justice party won a majority in Parliament in national elections Oct. 10.

Expansion Rate Exceeds Average In 2 Ohio Areas

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, using newly developed regional indicators, published today a study showing that the Lexington, Ky., and Columbus and Dayton, Ohio, areas have expanded at a higher - than-average rate in the fourth district.

"Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Toledo are areas that have been most vulnerable to business recessions and to slowdowns in general economic activity," the Federal Reserve Bank said in the October issue of its "Economic Review."

The relatively slow growth of Pittsburgh, "while attributable in part to the primary metals industry," was blamed mainly on the slow growth of other industry.

Cleveland suffers from less extreme fluctuations in manufacturing activity because that city "is not dominated by the primary metals industry, as is the case in Pittsburgh," the report said.

4-H'ers Honored

County Programs Recognized

LISBON — Columbiana County has received recognition on a statewide level for two phases of 4-H work.

The Beaver Creek 4-H Club of Salem has been honored for its participation in a community beautification program and the 4-H Junior Leaders for their recent "slow-moving" vehicle emblem campaign.

The announcement came from the 4-H office at Ohio State University in Columbus.

Officials at the 4-H office here said it is the first time the county has received recognition in these two areas of the program. Groups from 88 counties were competing for the awards.

The 97 clubs throughout Columbiana County have carried out some type of safety programs throughout the year, including participation in the annual safety oratorical contest last summer. Leaders pointed out that the safety phase of 4-H work has been emphasized in the county for years.

The Beaver Creek club received recognition for its work in developing a park in the Teagarden covered bridge area. Members mowed weeds, hauled brush, drained an area near the west side of the bridge, built two picnic tables, rebuilt a spring outlet and in general turned the area into a picnic spot.

Police Car Hit While Halted; Man Charged

An East End man was cited after his auto hit the rear of a halted police cruiser Tuesday night at 10:37 on E. 5th St. at Washington St., police reported.

The 1956 auto operated by David Franklin Wilson, 20, of 1728 Holliday St. rammed the rear of the 1964 model cruiser driven by Lt. Kenneth H. Mooney, 35, officers said.

Wilson was charged under a section of the City Code that forbids starting a vehicle until the movement can be made "with reasonable safety."

The crash damaged the rear bumper, deck lid and back up lights of the cruiser and caused extensive damage to the front of the private auto, owned by Frank M. Wilson, also of 1728 Holliday St., officers said.

Mooney said the cruiser was halted for a traffic light when it was struck from the rear. Wilson, headed west on E. 5th St., said he also halted for the traffic signal. As it changed, he said, he started forward, but his foot slipped off the clutch pedal and caused the car to lurch forward and hit the rear of the cruiser.

Wilson's Municipal Court hearing is set Thursday at 9 a. m.

A collision on Elizabeth St. at Pennsylvanna Ave. Tuesday damaged a 1965 two-door sedan driven by Joyce Camp, 30, of Smiths Ferry and a 1965 model pickup truck operated by Monroe Williams, 45, of 2113 Harvey Ave., police said.

The woman said as she drove west on Elizabeth St. the truck rounded a turn and hit the left rear fender of her car.

During Rotary Meeting

Blair Again Emphasizes Higher Pay For Teachers

"One of the finest school systems in Ohio, a system that the citizens of East Liverpool will be proud of and with which teachers will want to stay; with properly-trained employes, and a college degree the minimum requirement."

BLAIR emphasized that bringing this advanced system into reality depends on the interest and cooperation of the citizens of East Liverpool, particularly at the present time, with public support needed to pass the proposed 3.5-mill school levy on the ballot next Tuesday.

The superintendent stressed the raising of teachers' salaries as the most pressing requirement, with the expansion and replacement of certain existing school buildings and facilities a secondary, but also most important, goal.

He displayed artists' conceptions of the new elementary buildings at LaCroft and in the East End areas.

After evaluating changes made in the last few years relative to teachers' salaries, Blair compared current pay structures in East Liverpool with those of adjacent communities.

East Liverpool, whose school system constitutes the largest in Columbiana County, nevertheless ranks at the lower end of the scale in the tri-state area relative to salaries, he said. A beginning teacher with a college degree earns $4,300 in the East Liverpool system, while in nearby Hancock County the minimum starting salary is $5,178, he pointed out.

WITH PAY scales ranging up to $9,600 for a teacher with an M.A. degree and 12 years' experience, there is a great temptation for some of the best qualified to move to other localities, resulting in a very competitive situation, Blair added.

"How shall we react to this challenge?" he asked. "When you select a doctor or attorney you attempt to select the best in the community. Unfortunately, this does not hold true in education," he stated. "We are unable to employ the best."

He continued to emphasize, however, that increased financial support would result in staffing better trained personnel, with the end result being a vastly-improved school system, reflecting itself in growth of the community. "The future lies in educational progress," he went on. "But if we are not careful, we will be too late to retain good teachers."

Passage of the levy, he said in conclusion, would result in raises of approximately $500 for teachers.

Blair was introduced by William McNutt, program chairman.

E. R. Chandler, who presided, announced a board meeting will be held Nov. 4 at noon in the dining room of the hotel.

Blair Again Emphasizes Higher Pay For Teachers

"One of the finest school systems in Ohio, a system that the citizens of East Liverpool will be proud of and with which teachers will want to stay; with properly-trained employes, and a college degree the minimum requirement."

BLAIR emphasized that bringing this advanced system into reality depends on the interest and cooperation of the citizens of East Liverpool, particularly at the present time, with public support needed to pass the proposed 3.5-mill school levy on the ballot next Tuesday.

The superintendent stressed the raising of teachers' salaries as the most pressing requirement, with the expansion and replacement of certain existing school buildings and facilities a secondary, but also most important, goal.

He displayed artists' conceptions of the new elementary buildings at LaCroft and in the East End areas.

After evaluating changes made in the last few years relative to teachers' salaries, Blair compared current pay structures in East Liverpool with those of adjacent communities.

East Liverpool, whose school system constitutes the largest in Columbiana County, nevertheless ranks at the lower end of the scale in the tri-state area relative to salaries, he said. He continued to emphasize, however, that increased financial support would result in staffing better trained personnel, with the end result being a vastly-improved school system, reflecting itself in growth of the community. "The future lies in educational progress," he went on. "But if we are not careful, we will be too late to retain good teachers."

Passage of the levy, he said in conclusion, would result in raises of approximately $500 for teachers.

Blair was introduced by William McNutt, program chairman.

E. R. Chandler, who presided, announced a board meeting will be held Nov. 4 at noon in the dining room of the hotel.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Second Farewell From Les

A Second Farewell From Les Crane insists that each time he gets fired from his late-night show on ABC-TV he winds up more successful.

"You should see the stack of scripts for TV pilots on my desk," says he with the stiff upper lip. "I'll admit I was tossed for a loop the first time I was fired, but then I found out it only helped my earning potential." After the network dumped Les earlier this year he says he was offered any TV-game show in the Goodson-Todman company's stable, a picture at Universal, a host job on the old "That Was the Week That Was" show, NBC's "Monitor," radio show and a part in "Burke's Law."

APPARENTLY none of these offers was too intriguing, however, because Les came back to ABC and the Nightlife show when they called. Even though he fails regularly, it seems to be what he likes best.

"If they had let me alone the first time, I'd have made it," says Les now of the show which started him on the road to successful failure a year ago.

That was the one he calls "show in the round," which had him roving around in a pit filled with guests and pointing a "shotgun" microphone at members of the audience who wanted to ask questions.

"I had Gov. George Wallace and Malcolm X on that show. It wasn't for people who like to just see chit-chat, but for the intelligentsia. But then some of the ABC-affiliated stations got nervous, and I was told no more shotguns," Les recalls.

WELL, A LOT of people got nervous watching Alabama's Wallace and the late but hardly lamented Malcolm X, so perhaps those nervous ABC affiliates could be excused, and Les admits there were times when he may have strived a bit too hard for "sensationalism."

"But when I became the charming host, the rating on the show went down. Then ABC wanted me to give it more guts again. And I did, but it had more legitimacy. It was more honest," says Les.

Honesty didn't work out, at least not with the handful of guinea pig viewing families who make up the Nielsen rating sample, so Les was fired and ABC began a policy of rotating hosts every four weeks. This turned out more disastrously than a late, late Warner Baxter movie.

"I WAS brought back. Then we moved to Hollywood and was a reek of the temporary but it was like working under the sword of Damocles. There were a reek of the temporary about it, even though two million people were watching. Can you imagine two million people!" emphasizes Les, who seems to have some trouble imagining it, too.

This week Les is doing another farewell performance, but most of the ABC stations around the country already have turned him off in favor of a local used car dealer interspersed with scenes from old John Boles and Una Merkel movies.

"I don't care," says the new Les (he's sporting one of those $15 Hollywood haircuts of Jay Sebring's). "As I said, I've got all those scripts, and my personal life is a happy one since I met Tina Louise. We're engaged, and I want her to have one of those June weddings."

TINA PLAYS the shipwrecked show girl in CBS-TV's "Gilligan's Island." She hasn't been married before, but Les has a former wife and three children whom he lost about the same time he first was fired from ABC.

Pat Collins, a nightclub hypnotist, says she introduced Les to Tina, but he says it was Paddy Chayefsky, the playwright who gained first fame writing about a lonesome butcher boy named Marty.

Les could go back to a regional TV show answering telephone calls from viewers, which was what he was doing in San Francisco before he was called to New York, but he has come too far now.

"All I can say is, if there isn't a place for my 'Nightlife'-type show on TV, then America is getting what it deserves," announces Crane as a parting shot which should give pause to all TV viewers.

5,700 Workers Remain Off Jobs

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Some 5,700 union employes at four Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. plants here remained off the job today in what was described by both company and union officials as an unauthorized strike.

The company's contract with the United Glassworkers Union expired at noon Monday and the workers began leaving their jobs Monday night. The union has asked the workers to continue on the job while negotiations continue in Miami, Fla.

The negotiations also cover 4,108 employes at plants in Charleston, W. Va.; Ottawa, Ill., and Shreveport, La., but men there are still on the job.

In Siege At Plei Me

U.S. Advisers Knew They Were Against Cong's Best

PLEI ME, South Viet Nam (AP) — After seven days of continuous action, the handful of U.S. Army advisers behind the barbed wire at Plei Me know they have been pitted against the Viet Cong's first team — a regiment from North Viet Nam's 308th Infantry Division. It shows on every haggard, grime-smeared face.

A relief column of more than 1,300 Vietnamese rangers, infantry, tanks and armored personnel carriers reached the besieged Special Forces camp Monday. The Viet Cong caught them in the open, and for more than an hour enemy mortars, heavy machine guns and automatic weapons poured fire into the relief force and into the camp.

Capt. Russell Hunter, the camp's doctor from Abilene, Tex., seemed to be everywhere inside the camp's perimeter as dead and wounded were carried in.

His week-old growth of beard was caked with brick-red dust and his eyes stared with fatigue.

One wounded U.S. adviser was brought to Hunter's underground aid station by other Americans. They carried him through the wire, under sniper fire, when South Vietnamese soldiers balked at bringing him in.

For some of Plei Me's defenders, the assault was too much. A noncom ripped the bandage off one Vietnamese soldier's arm and found no wound. Screaming with rage and grabbing him by the jacket, the noncom hauled the cowering soldier from a trench and kicked him back into the fight.

The camp's defenders retaliated with 50-caliber machine guns, mortars and small arms. U.S. Skyraiders and jet attack bombers pummeled thickets on a gentle rise south of Plei Me where the Viet Cong lay hidden.

Each time there was a lull, shots from concealed Viet Cong snipers sent everyone scurrying for cover.

Bomb fragments and shrapnel splattered the camp as the planes and big guns hit close to the wire. Gunners of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry division fired volley after volley of white phosphorus and high explosives with terrifying accuracy.

The Americans in Plei Me credited the planes with saving the camp. American pilots flew hundreds of sorties by day and night.

"When I meet a flyboy after I get out of here, I'm going to hug him and kiss him," said Maj. Charlie A. Beckwith. He commanded an American team which came to the rescue of Plei Me's beleaguered troops last Thursday with two companies of Vietnamese airborne rangers.

With no water for washing or shaving, Beckwith, 36, looked like an emaciated grizzly bear. He is from Atlanta, Ga.

"I thought it was all over, chief," said Staff Sgt. Frank Kowalski of Utica, N.Y. Kowalski, an artilleryman from the 1st Cavalry, had been attached to the Vietnamese 22nd Ranger Battalion.

"I bounced into a hole but it was a real small one and I bounced right out again," he said. Kowalski counted 10 mortar shells passing overhead as he sought a better hole.

Kowalski's forward artillery observer — another American — was wounded in the arm by a mine.

The onslaught pinned down part of the rangers in trenches, bunkers and tunnels dug by the Viet Cong less than 100 feet from the outer wire on the northern edge of Plei Me, scene of the heaviest attacks last week.

The Viet Cong abandoned the earthworks and several of their dead.

"It was as much as I could do to stay there," said Capt. Paul Leckinger, 32, of Rochester, N.Y., senior U.S. adviser to the 21st Rangers. Leckinger had spent part of his fourth son's first birthday hugging the dirt Saturday night when a North Vietnamese regiment began to attack the relief column on its way to Plei Me.

Crouching in forward trenches inside the camp were Plei Me's garrison and their families. Wives comforted infant children next to their menfolk. Most are members of the Montagnard tribes of Viet Nam's central highlands. The camp is about 210 miles north of Saigon.

After one brief firefight, a Viet Cong prisoner was brought in. He was Cao Xuan Hai, 22, a master sergeant in the 324th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 308th Division.

He smoked a cigarette as he sat on the floor of a hut and answered questions put to him by Brig. Gen. Doan Van Quang, commander of South Viet Nam's Special Forces, who had flown into Plei Me that morning.

Cao said his unit left Phu Tho, in North Viet Nam, in July and reached the area a week ago. He wore dust-stained khaki jungle fatigues. His badly swollen feet bulged out of sandals made from an old automobile tire.

Cao said volunteers to fight in South Viet Nam were easy to obtain because intensive American bombing in the Communist North was reducing already scant food supplies and soldiers could count on getting enough rice.

A diary found on the body of a dead North Vietnamese showed that the soldier's unit had been in position by the roadside since Oct. 19.

That was the day the camp first came under attack. The Viet Cong strategy apparently was to draw troops into a trap and destroy them as they came down the road.

The stratagem almost succeeded.

The relief column came under withering fire Saturday night and was split in two. But Leckinger, who was bringing up the rear with half of the 21st Rangers, denied his men were ambushed.

Second Farewell From Les

A Second Farewell From Les Les Crane insists that each time he gets fired from his late-night show on ABC-TV he winds up more successfu.

"You should see the stack of scripts for TV pilots on my desk," says he with the stiff upper lip. "I'll admit I was tossed for a loop the first time I was fired, but then I found out it only helped my earning potential." After the network dumped Les earlier this year he says he was offered any TV-game show in the Goodson-Todman company's stable, a picture at Universal, a host job on the old "That Was the Week That Was" show, NBC's "Monitor," radio show and a part in "Burke's Law."

APPARENTLY none of these offers was too intriguing, however, because Les came back to ABC and the Nightlife show when they called. Even though he fails regularly, it seems to be what he likes best.

"If they had let me alone the first time, I'd have made it," says Les now of the show which started him on the road to successful failure a year ago.

That was the one he calls "show in the round," which had him roving around in a pit filled with guests and pointing a "shotgun" microphone at members of the audience who wanted to ask questions.

"I had Gov. George Wallace and Malcolm X on that show. It wasn't for people who like to just see chit-chat, but for the intelligentsia. But then some of the ABC-affiliated stations got nervous, and I was told no more shotguns," Les recalls.

WELL, A LOT of people got nervous watching Alabama's Wallace and the late but hardly lamented Malcolm X, so perhaps those nervous ABC affiliates could be excused, and Les admits there were times when he may have strived a bit too hard for "sensationalism."

"But when I became the charming host, the rating on the show went down. Then ABC wanted me to give it more guts again. And I did, but it had more legitimacy. It was more honest," says Les.

Honesty didn't work out, at least not with the handful of guinea pig viewing families who make up the Nielsen rating sample, so Les was fired and ABC began a policy of rotating hosts every four weeks. This turned out more disastrously than a late, late Warner Baxter movie.

"I WAS brought back. Then we moved to Hollywood and was a reek of the temporary, but it was like working under the sword of Damocles. There were a reek of the temporary about it, even though two million people were watching. Can you imagine two million people!" emphasizes Les, who seems to have some trouble imagining it, too.

This week Les is doing another farewell performance, but most of the ABC stations around the country already have turned him off in favor of a local used car dealer interspersed with scenes from old John Boles and Una Merkel movies.

"I don't care," says the new Les (he's sporting one of those $15 Hollywood haircuts of Jay Sebring's). "As I said, I've got all those scripts, and my personal life is a happy one since I met Tina Louise. We're engaged, and I want her to have one of those June weddings."

TINA PLAYS the shipwrecked show girl in CBS-TV's "Gilligan's Island." She hasn't been married before, but Les has a former wife and three children whom he lost about the same time he first was fired from ABC.

Pat Collins, a nightclub hypnotist, says she introduced Les to Tina, but he says it was Paddy Chayefsky, the playwright who gained first fame writing about a lonesome butcher boy named Marty.

Les could go back to a regional TV show answering telephone calls from viewers, which was what he was doing in San Francisco before he was called to New York, but he has come too far now.

"All I can say is, if there isn't a place for my 'Nightlife' type show on TV, then America is getting what it deserves," announces Crane as a parting shot which should give pause to all TV viewers.

5,700 Workers Remain Off Jobs

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Some 5,700 union employes at four Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. plants here remained off the job today in what was described by both company and union officials as an unauthorized strike.

The company's contract with the United Glassworkers Union expired at noon Monday and the workers began leaving their jobs Monday night. The union has asked the workers to continue on the job while negotiations continue in Miami, Fla.

The negotiations also cover 4,100 employes at plants in Charleston, W. Va.; Ottawa, Ill., and Shreveport, La., but men there are still on the job.

In Siege At Plei Me

U.S. Advisers Knew They Were Against Cong's Best

PLEI ME, South Viet Nam (AP) — After seven days of continuous action, the handful of U.S. Army advisers behind the barbed wire at Plei Me know they have been pitted against the Viet Cong's first team — a regiment from North Viet Nam's 308th Infantry Division. It shows on every haggard, grime-smeared face.

A relief column of more than 1,300 Vietnamese rangers, infantry, tanks and armored personnel carriers reached the besieged Special Forces camp Monday. The Viet Cong caught them in the open, and for more than an hour enemy mortars, heavy machine guns and automatic weapons poured fire into the relief force and into the camp.

Capt. Russell Hunter, the camp's doctor from Abilene, Tex., seemed to be everywhere inside the camp's perimeter as dead and wounded were carried in.

His week-old growth of beard was caked with brick-red dust and his eyes stared with fatigue.

One wounded U.S. adviser was brought to Hunter's underground aid station by other Americans. They carried him through the wire, under sniper fire, when South Vietnamese soldiers balked at bringing him in.

For some of Plei Me's defenders, the assault was too much. A noncom ripped the bandage off one Vietnamese soldier's arm and found no wound. Screaming with rage and grabbing him by the jacket, the noncom hauled the cowering soldier from a trench and kicked him back into the fight.

The camp's defenders retaliated with 50-caliber machine guns, mortars and small arms. U.S. Skyraiders and jet attack bombers pummeled thickets on a gentle rise south of Plei Me where the Viet Cong lay hidden.

Each time there was a lull, shots from concealed Viet Cong snipers sent everyone scurrying for cover.

Bomb fragments and shrapnel splattered the camp as the planes and big guns hit close to the wire. Gunners of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry division fired volley after volley of white phosphorus and high explosives with terrifying accuracy.

The Americans in Plei Me credited the planes with saving the camp. American pilots flew hundreds of sorties by day and night.

$2,728 Damage Suit Thrown Out By Jury

A Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Monday afternoon ruled in favor of the defendant in a damage suit in which a Glenmoor resident sought $2,728.15 against one of his neighbors.

It brought in a verdict for Robert Miller of Cornell Ave., who had been sued by George Vujanovich, also of Cornell Ave., on a charge that a septic tank had deposited some of its waste onto the plaintiff's property.

Vujanovich also alleged that his young son had become ill as a result.

Rhodes Gives Views In Alleged Beating

CINCINNATI (AP)—The director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has full authority in the case of an alleged beating at Longview State Hopital, says Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes, in town for an industrial meeting, Tuesday changed the subject when asked if he would enter the investigation of the beating of Glenn Tudor, 28, Amelia. Mrs. Elmer Tudor, the patient's mother, says she wrote to Rhodes about the Oct. 9 beating.

Tudor's parents say they are not satisfied with official investigations by the hospital superintendent and by Martin Janis, director of the Mental Hygiene Department.

$2,728 Damage Suit Thrown Out By Jury

A Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Monday afternoon ruled in favor of the defendant in a damage suit in which a Glenmoor resident sought $2,728.15 against one of his neighbors.

It brought in a verdict for Robert Miller of Cornell Ave., who had been sued by George Vujanovich, also of Cornell Ave., on a charge that a septic tank had deposited some of its waste onto the plaintiff's property.

Vujanovich also alleged that his young son had become ill as a result.

Rhodes Gives Views In Alleged Beating

CINCINNATI (AP)—The director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has full authority in the case of an alleged beating at Longview State Hopital, says Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes, in town for an industrial meeting, Tuesday changed the subject when asked if he would enter the investigation of the beating of Glenn Tudor, 28, Amelia. Mrs. Elmer Tudor, the patient's mother, says she wrote to Rhodes about the Oct. 9 beating.

Tudor's parents say they are not satisfied with official investigations by the hospital superintendent and by Martin Janis, director of the Mental Hygiene Department.

Secret Talks Might Spark New Marches

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A series of conferences behind closed doors in Atlanta set the stage for possible new racial demonstrations in the South and what could be a solution to the school desegregation problem in Georgia's Taliaferro County.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. cut short a European tour to return to Atlanta Tuesday because, he said, he was "outraged at the acquittal of Collie Leroy Wilkins in Hayneville, Ala."

The Negro integration leader reported a similar reaction in Europe to the jury's verdict last Friday in the case of the 22-year-old Ku Klux Klansman charged with the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit civil rights worker.

"It appears urgent that the civil rights movement must voice all its influence in insisting on the proper administration of justice," King said. "I think it necessary to dramatize what has happend at a very high level and Hayneville occupies a symbolic position."

Then he met with his aides in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to plan the demonstrations.

SCLC members have been active recently in demonstrations protesting school segregation at Crawfordville, Ga., the Taliaferro County seat.

Attorneys Howard Moore Jr. and Donald L. Hollowell met for two hours with U.S. Circuit Court Judge Griffin B. Bell in Atlanta. They said a state plan to bus Taliaferro County Negro pupils to other counties with white pupils would not be satisfactory.

The attorneys said the Negroes would prefer to have Dr. Claude Purcell, state school superintendent, reopen a white school in Crawfordville on a desegregated basis. The school closed when all white pupils transferred to other counties.

Bell took the objections under advisement and indicated a ruling would be handed down in Augusta, along with a three-judge federal court's review of Purcell's plan.

At Wellsville Meeting

Auditor's Check On Books Bared

Wellsville City Council was informed Tuesday night that although the financial accounts of Mayor William Daugherty are current as of Oct. 16, audits conducted in January 1963 and August of this year show consistent delinquency in the deposit of city funds.

The information was supplied by Delmar T. O'Hara after a question was raised by Councilman Walter Henthorne relative to reports concerning the state audits.

HENTHORNE said he had heard rumors, but never had been officially shown one of the reports. He said he was told that O'Hara had been in Columbus conferring with State Auditor Roger Cloud about the August audit.

O'Hara said that he had talked with Cloud when he appeared for a Republican rally in Wellsville and later he and Columbiana County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis had received an invitation to visit Cloud's office and go over the report.

The audit was started on Aug. 2 and the mayor's deposits to the treasurer were more than $2,700 short at the time. The mayor made the entire payment the next day, accounting for the total funds, it was explained.

The audit made in 1963 shows the mayor was delinquent at that time and certain reprimands or admonitions were made by the state auditor's office in its report, but never followed up, O'Hara continued.

He presented a copy of the audit made of the mayor's office in 1963 for investigation by members of Council and pointed out figures showing that by the end of February 1964, the mayor had failed to deposit a total of $5,143.56 with the treasurer. He read other figures showing when payments were made and how much the delinquency was at each month.

O'HARA SAID the current examination shows that on Aug. 3 the mayor made three separate remittances of $1,070.25, $714 and $1,000.40. These were for the months of March, June and May, respectively.

The mayor is required by state law to make a monthly deposit of all money collected by his office, but the statute does not provide any penalty for failure to comply.

O'Hara said the report shows some of the money was unaccounted for during a period of four months.

Cloud ordered the special audit in August because of the irregularity in deposits and was concerned because this was the only situation of this nature in the state, O'Hara said.

O'Hara said he was not making any suggestions that anything wrong was being done with the money, but that he was concerned over the fact that the money was not being deposited regularly.

WHEN QUERIED as to whose duty it is to take action in such cases, O'Hara said the information is supplied to the city solicitor and city auditor.

Henthorne said, "This is city money. What if something should have happened to him and no one would have known where it was? At one time the figures show $3,000 was not deposited and this was the same time when Council had to transfer money in departments to meet expenses."

O'Hara said he believes that as of now all the money has been deposited. Councilman Aguin Bowling commented that this was the first examination report he had seen.

It also was pointed out that in the 1963 report, the examiner said $1,200 in distributor fees for pinball machines was never collected. O'Hara said the fee still hasn't been paid and no action has been made to collect it.

The group decided to extend a reminder to the 226 churches which use the chaplain service at the hospital for financial support. The secretary will insert notes in the church files which are kept in the chaplain's office at the hospital.

The next meeting will be Nov. 29 at 10 a. m. at the Covenant United Presbyterian Church in Wellsville. The Rev. Bruce Davis is pastor.

Stephen I. Eibling, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., screened a film, "Invitation To Ohio."

A $10 contribution was made to the Citizens Committee for Better Schools. Mrs. A. A. Turner Jr. led devotions.

The attendance banners were won by Miss Elanor Dudley's 1 A and William Wilson's 6 A.

Refreshments were served by the officers and committee chairmen. Arrangements of seasonal flowers were used on the buffet table.

The next meeting will be Jan. 11.

Secret Talks Might Spark New Marches

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A series of conferences behind closed doors in Atlanta set the stage for possible new racial demonstrations in the South and what could be a solution to the school desegregation problem in Georgia's Taliaferro County.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. cut short a European tour to return to Atlanta Tuesday because, he said, he was "outraged at the acquittal of Collie Leroy Wilkins in Hayneville, Ala."

The Negro integration leader reported a similar reaction in Europe to the jury's verdict last Friday in the case of the 22-year-old Ku Klux Klansman charged with the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit civil rights worker.

"It appears urgent that the civil rights movement must voice all its influence in insisting on the proper administration of justice," King said. "I think it necessary to dramatize what has happend at a very high level and Hayneville occupies a symbolic position."

Then he met with his aides in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to plan the demonstrations.

SCLC members have been active recently in demonstrations protesting school segregation at Crawfordville, Ga., the Taliaferro County seat.

Attorneys Howard Moore Jr. and Donald L. Hollowell met for two hours with U.S. Circuit Court Judge Griffin B. Bell in Atlanta. They said a state plan to bus Taliaferro County Negro pupils to other counties with white pupils would not be satisfactory.

The attorneys said the Negroes would prefer to have Dr. Claude Purcell, state school superintendent, reopen a white school in Crawfordville on a desegregated basis. The school closed when all white pupils transferred to other counties.

Bell took the objections under advisement and indicated a ruling would be handed down in Augusta, along with a three-judge federal court's review of Purcell's plan.

At Wellsville Meeting

Auditor's Check On Books Bared

Wellsville City Council was informed Tuesday night that although the financial accounts of Mayor William Daugherty are current as of Oct. 16, audits conducted in January 1963 and August of this year show consistent delinquency in the deposit of city funds.

The information was supplied by Delmar T. O'Hara after a question was raised by Councilman Walter Henthorne relative to reports concerning the state audits.

HENTHORNE said he had heard rumors, but never had been officially shown one of the reports. He said he was told that O'Hara had been in Columbus conferring with State Auditor Roger Cloud about the August audit.

O'Hara said that he had talked with Cloud when he appeared for a Republican rally in Wellsville and later he and Columbiana County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis had received an invitation to visit Cloud's office and go over the report.

The audit was started on Aug. 2 and the mayor's deposits to the treasurer were more than $2,700 short at the time. The mayor made the entire payment the next day, accounting for the total funds, it was explained.

The audit made in 1963 shows the mayor was delinquent at that time and certain reprimands or admonitions were made by the state auditor's office in its report, but never followed up, O'Hara continued.

He presented a copy of the audit made of the mayor's office in 1963 for investigation by members of Council and pointed out figures showing that by the end of February 1964, the mayor had failed to deposit a total of $5,143.56 with the treasurer. He read other figures showing when payments were made and how much the delinquency was at each month.

O'HARA SAID the current examination shows that on Aug. 3 the mayor made three separate remittances of $1,070.25, $714 and $1,000.40. These were for the months of March, June and May, respectively.

The mayor is required by state law to make a monthly deposit of all money collected by his office, but the statute does not provide any penalty for failure to comply.

O'Hara said the report shows some of the money was unaccounted for during a period of four months.

Cloud ordered the special audit in August because of the irregularity in deposits and was concerned because this was the only situation of this nature in the state, O'Hara said.

O'Hara said he was not making any suggestions that anything wrong was being done with the money, but that he was concerned over the fact that the money was not being deposited regularly.

WHEN QUERIED as to whose duty it is to take action in such cases, O'Hara said the information is supplied to the city solicitor and city auditor.

Henthorne said, "This is city money. What if something should have happened to him and no one would have known where it was? At one time the figures show $3,000 was not deposited and this was the same time when Council had to transfer money in departments to meet expenses."

O'Hara said he believes that as of now all the money has been deposited. Councilman Aguin Bowling commented that this was the first examination report he had seen.

It also was pointed out that in the 1963 report, the examiner said $1,200 in distributor fees for pinball machines was never collected. O'Hara said the fee still hasn't been paid and no action has been made to collect it.

Q.—How should furs be dried?

A. — Never dry a fur that has been worn in a rain or snow near any heat. Intense heat injures the fur. Remove the excess moisture with a dry cloth, then hang the fur in a cool place to dry.

Q. — How can I wash a chamois skin?

A. — Wash carefully in warm soapy water, don't rinse out the soap, and press the chamois carefully on a flat surface to dry. Do not hang in the air, since this will only make the chamois hard and dry.

Q. — How can I stiffen the bristles of a hairbrush after washing it?

A. — Dip the bristles into milk and water, using equal parts of each, then dry, preferably before a fire. Dipping the bristles into a strong solution of alum water is also effective.

Q. — How can I clean brocade?

A. — This job is best left to a dry - cleaning expert. You can, however, press procade by placing the material right side down on the ironing board and covering with a piece of thin white cloth or tissue paper. Do not dampen. Press with a warm (not hot) iron.

Missing Man Found Living With Friends

Dave McFaul, formerly of East Liverpool, explained to Sheriff Russell VanFossan in a meeting arranged last night at the Chester Post Office he plans to continue residing in Chester.

A one-legged man who uses crutches, he said he hitchhiked to Chester with some people who were traveling to Pittsburgh.

McFaul was reported missing from the home after he did not attend the evening meal, and a search of the home area was conducted by home personnel and others.

Sheriff VanFossan received a telephone call yesterday afternoon from an unidentified man who asked him to meet with McFaul at the Post Office.

At the meeting, McFaul told the sheriff he was in good condition with his Chester friends and had no intention of returning to the County Home. He had been a resident of the home since June 1964.

Another Of Klan Remains Silent On Questioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities questioned another reluctant witness today about Ku Klux Klan activities in North Carolina. It got no answers.

George Franklin Dorsett, 48, who the committee said is from Greensboro, N.C., refused to say even where he was born. He followed the pattern of a number of earlier Klan witnesses in declining to answer questions.

From its own investigators, the committee heard Tuesday about a Klan unit so secret that Klansmen are not allowed to learn fellow members' names. The top-security unit was identified as No. 100 in the Raleigh area.

But witnesses declined to testify about the unit, and refused answers also to questions about possible sources of firearms for Klansmen and about a wave of cross burnings across the state.

Man Found Guilty By Jury Of Lesser Charge In Beating

NEW CUMBERLAND — A charge of felonious assault against Thomas G. Palmer, 22, of Cameron, W. Va., was reduced to assault and battery by a Hancock County Circuit Court jury Tuesday after 2½ hours of deliberation.

The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" on the felonious assault charge, but "guilty" on the lesser charge.

Palmer had been indicted during the January session of the grand jury for felonious assault on James H. Carson, 26, of New Cumberland at the Cactus Bar, located on Route 30 between Chester and the Pennsylvania line, on Dec. 5, 1964.

Carson spent approximately five weeks in East Liverpool City Hospital recovering from the beating.

Palmer fled the county before he could be arraigned, but finally was arrested Aug. 28 by FBI agents in Glenville, W. Va., after having been declared a fugitive from justice. He was held in Hancock County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond until his arraignment before Judge Ralph Pryor on Sept. 14.

Yesterday's action followed testimony by several witnesses in a Circuit Court session Monday, with Judge Pryor presiding.

Sentencing by Judge Pryor was deferred until Nov. 12 at 9 a. m.

A Jackson County man who has turned up in East Liverpool at the same time in each of four consecutive years was unable to explain his annual migrations to Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today before he was fined $25 and costs on an intoxication charge.

The judge noted the record shows George Scurlock of Wellston has been arrested in East Liverpool each autumn since 1962. Scurlock said he was en route home after a trip to Pennsylvania in an attempt to obtain a birth certificate.

"Why do you hit East Liverpool every year at the same time?" the judge asked. Scurlock replied: "I don't know." He was arrested Tuesday night at 9:22 on Mulberry St., police said.

No action was taken on the bids. Commissioners plan to confer with Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, later about the bids and work. Beatty is in France.

CLEVELAND (AP)—A committee of businessmen and Negro leaders formed to solve racial problems has been successful here and the same plan may be started in Cincinnati and Columbus, a leader of the movement said Tuesday.

"Our biggest achievement is that we have established reliable lines of communication between Negroes and business leaders of our city," said attorney John W. Reavis, a leader in the Businessmen's Interracial Committee on Community Affairs.

Speaking at a United Appeal meeting, Reavis said this has been accomplished by setting up subcommittees on education, housing and unemployment.

Levy Backed In PTA Vote

The Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association endorsed the 3½-mill levy to increase salaries for all school personnel at its first meeting of the new term Monday night.

The association acted after Supt. Paul H. Blair discussed the levy.

Officers for the year were recognized. They are Paul Seckman, president; the Rev. Donald Rettger, vice president; Jack Wheeler, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Chafin, secretary, and Mrs. Vera Brereton, treasurer.

Seckman introduced Mrs. Ruth Armstrong, principal, who introduced the teachers. Mrs. Armstrong also spoke briefly on State Issue No. 1, increase of the state sales tax, which will be on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Mrs. Carla Barrett, ways and means chairman, reported on a rummage sale planned Nov. 22-24 at the City Market building.

Mrs. Alice Brown, membership chairman, said a drive now is in progress with a prize being awarded to the class which has the most members.

The association contributed $10 to the Child Counseling Center and voted $20 to each teacher for purchase of supplies for her room.

Robert Lorah, fifth - grade teacher, led the devotions. An ice cream party was won by Mrs. Margaret Roush's first grade for having the greatest percentage of parents at the meeting. Refreshments were served by the sixth grade mothers.

The next meeting will be Nov. 29.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1965. There are 65 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1858, our 26th president, Theodore Roosevelt, was born.

In 1795, a treaty was signed with Spain providing for commercial relations and free navigation of the Mississippi River by American and Spanish subjects.

In 1920, the League of Nations headquarters was transferred from London to Geneva.

In 1942, the British 8th Army stopped a heavy Axis counter-attack at El Alamein.

In 1944, Adm. Chester Nimitz declared the Japanese navy had suffered so heavily in the battle of the Philippines Sea it would be unable to challenge U.S. Navy units again.

Ten years ago — The Big Four foreign ministers' conference opened in Geneva.

Five years ago — Dr. Martin Luther King, sentenced to four months in prison in Decatur, Ga., following a sit-in demonstration, was ordered released pending an appeal on an earlier traffic violation sentence.

One year ago — Three crewmen and six persons on the ground were killed when a Navy twin-jet bomber crashed at El Centro, Calif.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1965. There are 65 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1858, our 26th president, Theodore Roosevelt, was born.

In 1795, a treaty was signed with Spain providing for commercial relations and free navigation of the Mississippi River by American and Spanish subjects.

In 1920, the League of Nations headquarters was transferred from London to Geneva.

In 1942, the British 8th Army stopped a heavy Axis counter-attack at El Alamein.

In 1944, Adm. Chester Nimitz declared the Japanese navy had suffered so heavily in the battle of the Philippines Sea it would be unable to challenge U.S. Navy units again.

Ten years ago — The Big Four foreign ministers' conference opened in Geneva.

Five years ago — Dr. Martin Luther King, sentenced to four months in prison in Decatur, Ga., following a sit-in demonstration, was ordered released pending an appeal on an earlier traffic violation sentence.

One year ago — Three crewmen and six persons on the ground were killed when a Navy twin-jet bomber crashed at El Centro, Calif.

FBI Asked To Probe Railroad Track Case

SOUTH POINT, Ohio (AP)—The FBI has been asked to investigate the placing of a huge boulder on and the removal of 10 feet of track from a railroad spur line leading to the strike-bound Nitrogen Division plant of Allied Chemical Corp.

A U. S. marshal, acting on orders of a federal judge, supervised removal of the boulder Tuesday and it wasn't until then that it was discovered the track had been removed. It was replaced and later a 90-car Norfolk & Western train entered the plant.

Beneath Glitter Of Prosperity

West Berlin Seen City Of Tension, Loneliness

BERLIN (AP)—Beneath its glitter of prosperity, West Berlin is a city of tension and loneliness. Each day on the average, two or more persons commit suicide in the Communist-encircled city. Half a dozen more attempt to kill themselves.

"The wall and the fact of being enclosed create an atmosphere of tension," says Dr. Berthold Moldenhauer, a chief psychiatrist at Karl-Bonhoeffer Mental Hospital.

Last year there were 881 known suicides, or 40 for every 100,000 inhabitants. It was only 110 less than Denmark, which has more than twice the population.

Ellen Balaszeskul, a psychiatric social worker, says "one of the most frequent reasons is loneliness of one kind or another." But she finds no single answer to why the suicide rate is high.

"The suicide rate in Berlin was high even before World War I," she said.

More than half of West Berlin's people are 45 or older, and about a quarter of the suicides are 50-60. The attempted suicides predominantly involve persons in the 20-30 age group.

Dr. Moldenhauer said most of the persons sent to the mental hospital after trying suicide are in an alcoholic and depressed state. The younger ones usually are treated in regular city hospitals.

The rate is especially high, he said, around holidays. The rate drops when the city faces a direct threat, such as when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev demanded in 1958 the withdrawal of all Aesten forces from Berlin.

"In the state of acute threat to life," Moldenhauer said, "most people react properly."

The Berlin Telephone Soul-Care Service was set up nine years ago. Telephones are manned around the clock to lend a sympathetic ear to troubled people. The service receives 15 telephone calls a day and conducts face-to-face interviews with five persons.

South Beaver Civic Group Sets Election On Nov. 17

The South Beaver County Civic Association will elect officers at its next meeting Nov. 17.

Leo O'Mara is chairman of the nominating committee, with the other members Elmer Spathelf, Anna McCoy, Louis Maratta, James Brooks, Mrs. Marshall Hoover, Donald Loughlin, Charles Ryland, Walter Tellish and Mrs. O. V. Boone.

The association, which will observe its 10th anniversary next spring, was formed in objection to the tax - exempt status of the Ambridge Water Authority in "invading" Raccoon, Independence and other townships with its Service Creek Reservoir, which it says "does not serve or measurably benefit these communities."

In a new program just adopted by the executive board, the association:

Supports legislation (House Bill 205) placing rates charged by municipal authorities for services performed under regulation by the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission, same as by a public utility.

Welcomes to Beaver County the Beaver County Campus of Pennsylvania State University as a neighbor to Geneva College.

Recognizes an urgent need for more information on the "atom smasher" proposed for the county.

Does not oppose a community college, and is willing to assist in this endeavor; however, there is so little background regarding cost, which must come from new local taxes, and administration, that caution would seem to be the keynote here.

Believes that Sunday is for God and family and not for unlimited commercial enterprise.

Proposes an area - wide approach to the increasingly pressing water needs of the South Side.

Supports legislation (specifically House Bills 783, 784, 2003 and 2004) which applies controls to authorities entering townships which they do not serve or measurably benefit.

Favors legislation enabling the State Department of Highways to take over the East Rochester-Monaca toll bridge and operate it as a free traffic artery.

Advocates planning and minimum zoning as an urgent necessity for the growing South Side.

Cails for rigid enforcement of legislation controlling stream pollution.

Vigorously opposes the proposed Beaver-Mahoning Canal.

Has President Signed Measure?

Rusk Visit To Johnson Shares Stage With Bill

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — A visit to President Johnson's ranch by Secretary of State Dean Rusk shared center stage at the Texas White House today with the $2-billion rivers and harbors bill.

Rusk flew to the LBJ Ranch, 15 miles west of here, late Tuesday night after addressing a Southern Methodist University audience in Dallas. Spokesmen said no emergency was involved in his meeting with Johnson — that Rusk just happened to be in the neighborhood and was asked to drop by.

As for the omnibus rivers and harbors, bill, authorizing 142 water projects, this question was left dangling after nearly a day of suspense: has Johnson signed it?

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers announced Tuesday morning Johnson had indeed signed the bill and would ignore one provision that, in Johnson's view, eroded presidential powers in violation of the Constitution.

After reporters in Washington learned the measue hadn't even reached Johnson's desk, Moyers said he had made a mistake. He said the bill was being flown here aboard an Air Force courie plane and would be signed Tuesday night.

Come midnight, however, the White House press office still couldn't say whether Johnson had actually signed the bill.

In announcing prematurely that Johnson had signed the bill, Moyers released a pesidential statement that argued the measure infringed on presidential powers because it provided that water resource development projects with price tags of less than $10 million could get appropriations only by action of the Senate and House Public Works committees.

Moyers explained the premature announcement by saying he had got word from the ranch about the signing of another measure and, by mistake, checked off the rivers and harbors bill as having been signed.

In his only official act of the day, beside signing some minor legislation, Johnson issued a statement in connection with the award of a presidential unit citation to the 42nd Ranger Battalion of South Viet Nam.

Johnson said the unit's action in Bac Lieu Province on May 13 "affords the world still another example of the courage and steadfast determination with which a brave people struggles to preserve its freedom."

Fighting 'Crime In The Streets'

U.S. Hopes To Modernize Law Enforcement Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — At precinct headquarters, a policeman checks an instrument panel to see if the doors of all merchants in the area are locked for the night.

On the street, a patrolman takes careful aim at a fleeing suspect, fires his weapon and brings him down, asleep and unharmed — with a tranquilizer dart.

If this doesn't sound like any police department you've ever heard of, wait a while — it may figure in police work of the future. The federal government is pitching in to try to streamline law enforcement at state and local levels as part of the Johnson administration's "war on crime."

After long years of staying out of "crime in the streets," the federal government is going to spend $7,249,000 in hopes of modernizing police department, court and correctional practices.

"Of course, we're not going to do it all in the three-year life of the Law Enforcement Assistance Act," said Courtney A. Evans, a former FBI official who has been given the job of putting the new law to work and earmarking the federal money for local projects.

"We're just hoping the little bit of money we can invest will result in substantial benefits to many persons beyond the immediate field of law enforcement," Evans, 51, said in an interview. "Perhaps we can set up some models in law enforcement for others to copy and record and disseminate what's been learned so that it becomes the literature of law enforcement."

Evans expects the first demonstration grants will be distributed in January and will range betwen $20,000 and $150,000.

Much of the impetus for application of the new law will come from suggestions of the National and District of Columbia crime commissions, Evans said. Meanwhile his office plans to recruit a panel of scientists to study the application of modern science to law enforcement.

"I think we have to generate additional, radically new applications of scientific methods to law enforcement," he said. "Police still go on patrols in 1965 as they did in 1700, and patrols are primarily used to prevent and detect crime.

"Why can't we develop a whole new field of scientific research devoted to law enforcement just as we did when we decided to explore outer space?"

$44 Million Hike In W. Va. School Budget Is Urged

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The state Board of Public Works has been asked to approve budget increases amounting to more than $44 million for the state's schools.

The board opened a series of hearings Tuesday on requests for the 1966-67 fiscal year budget.

The ten institutions governed by the Board of Education — Marshall University and nine colleges — have asked for an increase of $7.2 million over the current year.

State School Supt. Rex Smith told the board public schools will need a $15.5 million increase. Some of the funds would go for a new statewide kindergarten program, teacher salary increases, and additional aid for textbook buying.

West Virginia University President Paul A. Miller asked for a budget of $17.2 million, up $3.1 million.

The board will hear Welfare Department requests Nov. 2. Other hearings scheduled: health and mental health, Nov. 8; roads, Nov. 16; corrections and public safety, Nov. 17; natural resources, Nov. 19.

Has President Signed Measure?

Rusk Visit To Johnson Shares Stage With Bill

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — A visit to President Johnson's ranch by Secretary of State Dean Rusk shared center stage at the Texas White House today with the $2-billion rivers and harbors bill.

Rusk flew to the LBJ Ranch, 15 miles west of here, late Tuesday night after addressing a Southern Methodist University audience in Dallas. Spokesmen said no emergency was involved in his meeting with Johnson — that Rusk just happened to be in the neighborhood and was asked to drop by.

As for the omnibus rivers and harbors, bill, authorizing 142 water projects, this question was left dangling after nearly a day of suspense: has Johnson signed it?

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers announced Tuesday morning Johnson had indeed signed the bill and would ignore one provision that, in Johnson's view, eroded presidential powers in violation of the Constitution.

After reporters in Washington learned the measue hadn't even reached Johnson's desk, Moyers said he had made a mistake. He said the bill was being flown here aboard an Air Force courie plane and would be signed Tuesday night.

Come midnight, however, the White House press office still couldn't say whether Johnson had actually signed the bill.

In announcing prematurely that Johnson had signed the bill, Moyers released a pesidential statement that argued the measure infringed on presidential powers because it provided that water resource development projects with price tags of less than $10 million could get appropriations only by action of the Senate and House Public Works committees.

Moyers explained the premature announcement by saying he had got word from the ranch about the signing of another measure and, by mistake, checked off the rivers and harbors bill as having been signed.

In his only official act of the day, beside signing some minor legislation, Johnson issued a statement in connection with the award of a presidential unit citation to the 42nd Ranger Battalion of South Viet Nam.

Johnson said the unit's action in Bac Lieu Province on May 13 "affords the world still another example of the courage and steadfast determination with which a brave people struggles to preserve its freedom."

Fighting 'Crime In The Streets'

U.S. Hopes To Modernize Law Enforcement Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — At precinct headquarters, a policeman checks an instrument panel to see if the doors of all merchants in the area are locked for the night.

On the street, a patrolman takes careful aim at a fleeing suspect, fires his weapon and brings him down, asleep and unharmed — with a tranquilizer dart.

If this doesn't sound like any police department you've ever heard of, wait a while — it may figure in police work of the future. The federal government is pitching in to try to streamline law enforcement at state and local levels as part of the Johnson administration's "war on crime."

After long years of staying out of "crime in the streets," the federal government is going to spend $7,249,000 in hopes of modernizing police department, court and correctional practices.

"Of course, we're not going to do it all in the three-year life of the Law Enforcement Assistance Act," said Courtney A. Evans, a former FBI official who has been given the job of putting the new law to work and earmarking the federal money for local projects.

"We're just hoping the little bit of money we can invest will result in substantial benefits to many persons beyond the immediate field of law enforcement," Evans, 51, said in an interview. "Perhaps we can set up some models in law enforcement for others to copy and record and disseminate what's been learned so that it becomes the literature of law enforcement."

Evans expects the first demonstration grants will be distributed in January and will range betwen $20,000 and $150,000.

Much of the impetus for application of the new law will come from suggestions of the National and District of Columbia crime commissions, Evans said. Meanwhile his office plans to recruit a panel of scientists to study the application of modern science to law enforcement.

"I think we have to generate additional, radically new applications of scientific methods to law enforcement," he said. "Police still go on patrols in 1965 as they did in 1700, and patrols are primarily used to prevent and detect crime.

"Why can't we develop a whole new field of scientific research devoted to law enforcement just as we did when we decided to explore outer space?"

Storm Not Blowing Just One Way

Pro-U.S. Trend Continues In Asia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The storm over American military involvement in South Viet Nam isn't blowing just one way in Southeast Asia.

Along with gusts of criticism against the United States, there is a current of "Yankee, stay" sentiment.

Wellsprings of support for American policy are Thailand, the Philippines, Malaysia and Laos, whose governments and people feel their future is closely linked with the fate of South Viet Nam.

One Malaysian observer cautions: "If Viet Nam goes Communist, for us there may be no tomorrow."

The most strident opposition to U.S. involvement has come from Indonesia and Cambodia, which have bonds with Communist China and North Viet Nam.

Indonesian President Sukarno has condemned what he calls American "intervention and aggression" in South Viet Nam. It remains to be seen whether the recent crisis in Jakarta, with the solidifying of army power there, will mute Indonesia's anti-U.S. outcry.

Little change, if any, can be expected in the attitude of Cambodia. Its chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, sees China as the eventual victor.

Sihanouk is both scornful and angry toward the United States and what he calls the "pretended government" in Saigon. He broke relations with Washington last May after accusing U.S.-Vietnamese forces of intruding into Cambodian territory — where the Viet Cong are said to take refuge.

Singapore, Southeast Asia's newest independent state, has taken a somewhat less than warm line toward the American effort in Viet Nam. Its premier, Lee Kuan Yew, is pessimistic about U.S. ability to sweep back the Communist tide. He claims Americans know nothing about Southeast Asia — "that's why they are in a mess."

But in the Philippines, Thailand and Malaysia, official and popular opinion are running in favor of America's presence in South Viet Nam and its air strikes against the Red North.

The Thais, in fact, think the Americans could have moved in a bit earlier.

Thailand's Communist-hating Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman advocates "careful use of armed force" to prevent a Communist takeover in Viet Nam and eventually in all of Southeast Asia.

A long border with Laos has put Thailand close to the Indochina firing line. The feeling in Bangkok is that if Viet Nam falls, Laos will fall too, and Thailand also.

Thanat Khoman believes that, faced with American military power, the Communists "are beginning to feel that they cannot get what they want. There is no other way to stop aggression."

Although Thai military leaders say they need all their armed strength to meet threats developing along their own borders, Thailand has pitched in with some active help for the American-Viet Nam effort, including use of airfields.

The Thai air force has trained some 30 South Vietnamese pilots, and promises more of the same. Thai medical and development project teams are operating in South Viet Nam. Similar aid is being supplied by the Philippines whose foreign secretary, Mauro Mendez, is known to feel that no action taken by the United States in Viet Nam could be too strong. Neither President Diosdado Macapagal nor his chief opponent, Ferdinand Marcos, has made Viet Nam an issue in their campaigns for Nov. 9 presidential elections. A reliable private poll recently showed that 76 per cent of the Filipinos cheer for the Americans in Viet Nam, with only a few of the remaining 24 per cent actually in opposition.

Malaysia's Prime Minister Abdul Rahman is a vocal supporter of America's policy.

Although elements in his government would like to see Malaysia take a more neutral stand — in keeping with the country's efforts to win Afro-Asian friendship — Rahman insists the United States has no alternative but to fight.

"It is clear that the Communists were the aggressors. It is wrong to speak of American intervention," he says.

Rahman notes that Malaysia, while saddled with its own defense problems involving hostile Indonesia, is throwing open military centers to South Vietnamese personnel for training in jungle warfare. He recently welcomed Vietnamese Premier Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky.

The influential Straits Times, which does not hesitate to twit the United States on other matters, has praised President Johnson's Viet Nam decisions.

In neutralist Burma, which shares a frontier with Communist China, there has been criticism of U.S. policy — and also of North Viet Nam's refusal to negotiate a peaceful settlement. Burmese condemnation of "power bloc" competition in Viet Nam cuts two ways.

Laos has not let its official neutralist line get in the way of support for the United States. The government of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma has become increasingly aware of the role played by North Viet Nam and Communist China in stirring up Laotian civil strife. It's acknowledged that American pressure on the North Vietnamese has slackened the Red war effort in Laos.

The American-equipped Laotian air force raids the Ho Chi Minh trail, the jungle corridor in southern Laos used by the North Vietnamese to funnel men and equipment to South Viet Nam.

Huntington Jobless Lowest Since War II

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. (AP) —Unemployment in the Huntington metropolitan area, which includes Huntington, Ashland, Ky., and Ironton, Ohio, fell to its lowest point since World War II last month.

The West Virginia Department of Employment Security said Tuesday that as of Sept. 15, only 4.4 per cent of a total labor force of 91,350 was unemployed. The previous post-war low was 4.7 per cent in September 1955.

Blast Wrecks Home As Couple Moved In

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Mr. and Mr. John Ellis Loftin were moving into their new home in West Montgomery when the house was wrecked by an explosion.

The blast Tuesday night was attributed by firemen to an accumulation of gas in the attic. The explosion collapsed ceilings, toppled a part of the house's brick veneer wall, and blew out windows and doors. The Loftins escaped with minor injuries.

Police Seek Man, 45, Who Attacked Girl, 13

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police say they are seeking a man about 45-years-old who raped a 13-year-old girl after he dragged her off the street within sight of her East Side home.

Traffic Cases Bring Fines

LISBON — An East Rochester area motorist was fined a total of $35 Tuesday in Southwest Area County Court on two charges.

Gilbert S. Haessley, 27, of East Rochester R. D. 1, pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle on registration plates belonging to another and failure to stop in an assured clear distance. Judge J. L. MacDonald fined him $20 on the former charge and $15 on the latter.

Found guilty of operating a motor vehicle left of center were Donald H. Possage, 49, of Lisbon R. D. 2, fined $15, and Michael B. Todd, 19, of 1003 Church St., East Liverpool, fined $10.

Fined $15 each were Mary V. Frantz, 71, of 501 W. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, charged with failure to yield right-of-way when entering a through highway, and John D. Hawkins, 20, of Minerva R. D. 3, charged with failure to stop within an assured clear distance.

Two Wellsville hunters, charged by the game protector with hunting ducks before sunrise, were fined $15 each. They are Chuck Coen and William Carpenter. Judge MacDonald suspended the fines.

Two motorists forfeited appearance bonds of $15 each in separate cases. They were Donovan Strouse, 25, of Salineville, operating an unsafe vehicle, and Thomas L. Covert, 28, of 1266 Maple St., Salem, speeding.

Ohio Jobless Total Drops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's unemployment dropped from an estimated 131,000 in August to 100,000 in September, or from 3.3 to 2.5 per cent of the civilian labor force, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported Tuesday.

The report for September just issued said the total employment in the state was 3,897,000 in September, or 0.8 per cent higher. It added that the increase occurred in nonagricultural wage and salary employment, which reached a record high of e,384,000 in September—1.4 per cent above Augut.

Employment in manufacturing industries rose 2.0 per cent from August, to 1,338,000 in September. More than half the increase was attributable to recall of workers following model changeovers in the automobile industry, and among suppliers of automotive stampings, rubber products, and hardware.

On the other hand, blast furnaces and steel mill operators reported layoffs due to a decline in orders as inventories were being curtailed.

Average weekly earnings of production workers in Ohio factories rose nearly $1 from August, to $126.54 in September. The average workweek remained at 42 hours, unchanged from August.

In his three full years managing the St. Louis Cardinals, Johnny Keane's teams won 270 National League games and lost 216.

New Industry Discussed By Association

Officers said there is the prospect for two small industries, with inquiries having been made relative to suitable floor space.

Man, 52, Fatally Shot

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Mr. and Mr. John Ellis Loftin were moving into their new home in West Montgomery when the house was wrecked by an explosion.

The blast Tuesday night was attributed by firemen to an accumulation of gas in the attic. The explosion collapsed ceilings, toppled a part of the house's brick veneer wall, and blew out windows and doors. The Loftins escaped with minor injuries.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police say they are seeking a man about 45-years-old who raped a 13-year-old girl after he dragged her off the street within sight of her East Side home.

Traffic Cases Bring Fines

LISBON — An East Rochester area motorist was fined a total of $35 Tuesday in Southwest Area County Court on two charges.

Gilbert S. Haessley, 27, of East Rochester R. D. 1, pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle on registration plates belonging to another and failure to stop in an assured clear distance. Judge J. L. MacDonald fined him $20 on the former charge and $15 on the latter.

Found guilty of operating a motor vehicle left of center were Donald H. Possage, 49, of Lisbon R. D. 2, fined $15, and Michael B. Todd, 19, of 1003 Church St., East Liverpool, fined $10.

Fined $15 each were Mary V. Frantz, 71, of 501 W. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, charged with failure to yield right-of-way when entering a through highway, and John D. Hawkins, 20, of Minerva R. D. 3, charged with failure to stop within an assured clear distance.

Two Wellsville hunters, charged by the game protector with hunting ducks before sunrise, were fined $15 each. They are Chuck Coen and William Carpenter. Judge MacDonald suspended the fines.

Lloyd W. Moore, 36, of Wintersville forfeited a $71 appearance bond on a charge of overloading a commercial vehicle. A similar charge was placed against William Meier, 35, of Salem R. D. 2, who forfeited a $30 appearance bond.

Earl J. Miller, 36, of Steubenville forfeited a $25 bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle in excess of the legal height.

Two motorists forfeited appearance bonds of $15 each in separate cases. They were Donovan Strouse, 25, of Salineville, operating an unsafe vehicle, and Thomas L. Covert, 28, of 1266 Maple St., Salem, speeding.

Ohio Jobless Total Drops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's unemployment dropped from an estimated 131,000 in August to 100,000 in September, or from 3.3 to 2.5 per cent of the civilian labor force, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported Tuesday.

The report for September just issued said the total employment in the state was 3,897,000 in September, or 0.8 per cent higher. It added that the increase occurred in nonagricultural wage and salary employment, which reached a record high of e,384,000 in September—1.4 per cent above Augut.

Employment in manufacturing industries rose 2.0 per cent from August, to 1,338,000 in September. More than half the increase was attributable to recall of workers following model changeovers in the automobile industry, and among suppliers of automotive stampings, rubber products, and hardware.

Cannery operators hired additional seasonal workers. Increases also resulted from a pickup in orders for electrical machinery and settlement of labor disputes.

On the other hand, blast furnaces and steel mill operators reported layeffs due to a decline in orders as inventories were being curtailed.

Average weekly earnings of production workers in Ohio factories rose nearly $1 from August, to $126.54 in September. The average workweek remained at 42 hours, unchanged from August.

In his three full years managing the St. Louis Cardinals, Johnny Keane's teams won 270 National League games and lost 216.

New Industry Discussed By Association

New industry for the community was discussed during a meeting of the Greater Wellsville Association Monday night at Carnegie Library.

Officers said there is the prospect for two small industries, with inquiries having been made relative to suitable floor space.

Supt. Lowell Myers discussed the proposed bond issue for construction of new schools.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Please give me some advice on how to store homemade bread crumbs so they will stay fresh.

AVID READER.

DEAR FRIEND: Always toast bread in your oven before crushing it and stashing it away.

Bread contains moisture, and if baked in your oven (NOT broiler), the moisture dries out of it.

I put my bread crumbs in a plastic bag, twist the top, and put the bag and all in a fruit jar, or if you have an empty coffee can with a plastic lid — use that. I like it even better.

And while I am on this subject, I would like to talk about the mystery of the storing of foods in a freezer in those glorious coffee cans.

Many people wrote that when they put homemade applesauce, etc., in them, the food turned dark where the seam on the coffee can was.

I called and wrote to coffee manufacturers, home economists and national can companies. None had an answer, except to say that coffee cans were made exactly like all other cans, in which all other foods were packaged, and they had no idea why food turned dark along the metal seam in coffee cans.

I finally figured out that it is the oil in the coffee that seeps under the molding! When we wash these cans, we cannot get all the oil from under the molding. That's all there is to it.

So put your little minds at ease.

When you put foods into these lush cans with the plastic lids, just put a plastic bag in them first, twist the the top, and freeze away.

Of course, the plastic bag is not necessary if you use them for flour, sugar, etc.

Use your coffee cans — they're free. And, what lovely things they are.

Love,
HELOISE.

Crumbly Leavings

DEAR HELOISE: We keep a box, paper plate or tray on the cabinet (or just inside a cabinet) to put partially eaten crackers, sandwich trimmings, and any other crumby leavings that children can supply throughout the day.

Every day one of the children can take the plate outside to feed the birds . . . in the same spot daily.

It is so interesting to see the birds come for their daily meal.

MRS. J. P. J.

DEAR HELOISE: Being a substitute teacher, who has to leave for work on short notice, I find it handy to keep the baby's schedule and the cleaning instructions inside a cupboard door.

That way, the woman who comes in, knows exactly what should be done on a certain day, even though I may forget to tell her.

Candles For Pumpkin

DEAR HELOISE: Halloween is approaching, and the problem of candles for the children's real pumpkin (not paper mache, plastic, etc.) arises again.

I have found that removing the glass container and candle in my carafe stand, and placing them inside the pumpkins, eliminates the worry of the candle being the right size, and an accumulation of dripping wax. They burn longer, and you don't have to worry about the top of the pumpkin scorching or shrinking and having that horrible odor.

After Halloween is over, you simply remove container and candle.

If you don't have carafes with removable containers, you can purchase votive candles and use any baby food jar and get the same result.

MRS. JULIUS PONGRACZ.

DEAR HELOISE: To be sure my sewing machine is properly cared for, I taped a piece of paper to the machine (where it can be easily seen), and write the date my machine was last cleaned and oiled.

Woman At Barberton Wins In Neglect Suit

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Monica Shaffer, 40, of Barberton Tuesday was awarded $250,000 by a Summit County Common Pleas Court jury in a neglect suit against Barberton Citizens Hospital.

Mrs. Shaffer charged that Dr. Thomas P. Moore, a radiologist at the hospital negligently administered anesthetics for an operation called a bronchogram June 3, 1963, during which Mrs. Shaffer's heart stopped.

'Check Heating Appliances,' Fire Department Stresses

East Liverpool householders were urged today by Acting Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne to check heating appliances now to assure proper performance during the winter.

"Any heating appliance can get out of adjustment and should be checked annually," the acting chief pointed out. "Almost any home accident involving heating appliances can be avoided by taking simple precautions and using common sense."

Among appliances which should be inspected, Van Dyne said, are furnaces, water heaters, incinerators and room heaters. All should be checked for proper adjustment, proper ventilation, safe connections and proper operation of safety shut-off devices.

"All heating appliances need proper ventilation to operate safely and at top efficiency," he explained, cautioning that burning any fuel without a fresh air supply can produce carbon monoxide.

Vents carry away the products of combustion and should be checked regularly, he added.

He suggested a seven - point program to assure safe operation of home heating equipment: Be certain the heater is vented to a good chimney; be sure there is a cleanout opening with cap in the chimney under the vent or stove pipe; make certain the chimney is clean and drawing; be sure the vent pipe goes up, not down, from the heater to the chimney; use a safety thimble to keep the pipe from going too far into the chimney and seal around the pipe with cement or plaster; be sure that some outside fresh air is fed to the space where the heater is located; don't use a cooking range for room heating.

Van Dyne also emphasized that it is important to have a qualified installer connect the heater and make any adjustments. "It not only may save money in lower fuel bills, but it also can save your life," he declared.

Rehearing Is Declined In Candidate's Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The 7th District Court of Appeals has refused to rehear a case seeking disqualification of Joseph Donofrio as a candidate for Municipal Court judge, leaving his name on the ballot for the Nov. 2 election.

The Mahoning County Board of Elections disqualified enough signatures on Donofrio's nominating petitions to make the number of remaining names insufficient to qualify him for candidacy.

"THE BIBLE"
THE STANDARD OF AUTHORITY FOR MAN'S SALVATION
"Why I Am A Member Of The Church Of Christ"
II. THE CREED

The word "creed" comes from the Latin word "Credo" and means "I believe." A man's creed is whatever he believes. The creed of a church is whatever that church believes. God said concerning Christ, "Hear ye him" (Matthew 17:5). All we know about Christ and His word is found in the New Testament. The New Testament is, therefore, the sole and only creed of the Church of Christ. Whatever is in the New Testament, we believe it. Whatever is not in God's word, we reject it. This creed is perfect. It never has to be changed or brought up to date. "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today and forever" (Hebrews 13:8). Human creeds are always having to be revised and brought up to date. If I have a human creed, you will not accept it. If you have one, I will not accept it, hence human creeds cause division. God said, "Mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them" (Romans 16:17). Human creeds sow discord among the brethren and God hates those who do so (Proverbs 6:19). If a human creed has in it more than the Bible, it has too much. If it has less than the Bible, it has too little. The Bible, the whole Bible and nothing but the Bible is the creed of the Church of Christ. We submit to no other book. New Car Sales Record Help Offset Steel Dip

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — New car sales are setting a record this month, and by doing so are helping to offset the plunge of steel production to the lowest level in nearly two years.

These crosscurrents in the economy are important not only for what they reveal of the present state of industry and trade but perhaps more for what they might do to consumer and business psychology.

Steel long has had the reputation of being a basic industry. When mill production booms, the public thinks all must be well with the rest of the economy.

Auto sales long have been regarded as the chief clue to how the public feels about the present state of affairs and about future prospects. New car sales are a test both of how much money the public has to spend and of its willingness to spend it.

So now steel production is falling and auto sales are rising. Economists are quick to come up with explanations of both factors and of their apparent contradiction.

That cars are selling faster this October than last may not be as glamorous as it seems at first glance. That steel production is falling and new orders coming in slower than expected may not be as calamitous as it sounds.

In the first 20 days of October 547,000 American made cars were sold, compared with 374,000 in the like period of 1964. The industry counts on selling enough more to push October's total above 800,000. At mid-month, the dealers were selling 64 per cent more a day than a year earlier.

But comparisons can be tricky. This year the new models were displayed later. October is seeing the first chance the buyer had to get a 1966 model; a year ago the 1965 models had been around for some time. Also, last year General Motors was struck and many dealers were short of GM cars.

In the case of steel, the drop in production for eight straight weeks, with signs that the decline is continuing, also must be put into perspective. The mills now are producing at less than two-thirds of capacity, at the lowest level since December 1963.

But most of this drop had been expected. It resulted from the big buildup in stocks by consumers who feared a steel strike. This was averted by a new labor contract settlement early in September. Consumers have lots of steel on hand and aren't pressing the mills tor shipments.

But what is worrying the mills is that the drop in new orders, although that too was expected, is more severe than first thought likely and is lasting longer than the mills had hoped.

Vital Hormones Helping Safeguard Human Health

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Driving your car, you almost have a terrible accident.

And almost instantly, your heart speeds up.

Your heart of course couldn't "see" the threat. Neither could the glands inside you that spurted out adrenalin to make your heart start thumping.

Then how does such an astonishingly quick reaction come about?

The answer is fantastic. For at least eight separate events take place, in chain sequence, in perhaps three seconds or less.

The story is another example of the remarkable workings of the human body, plus new insights as to how vital hormones, such as adrenalin, really do their jobs. It's also an example of basic medical research digging ever deeper toward knowledge that might lead to new means of safeguarding human health.

As for those eight steps:

1. Your eyes spot danger, and register images in your brain, so you slam on brakes, steer away, or just luckily escape collision.

2. Your brain flashes nerve signals to your adrenal glands, sitting atop your kidneys, as well as to your heart and various other organs.

3. The nerve impulses stimulate the adrenals to release some adrenalin—about 1,000 times as much as when you're just resting—and stimulate nerve endings in the heart to release some nonadrenalin. Adrenalin and nonadrenalin are the hormones that mobilize energy to fight or run away.

4. The hormones reach the muscle cells of your heart.

5. But they don't act within these cells, and this is one new finding. Instead, they activate an enzyme, or chemical governor, which appears to be located in the cell membrane or wall.

6. This activated enzyme then brings about the release inside the cell of a special chemical, nicknamed cyclic amp.

7. Cyclic amp then activates one or more enzymes inside heart muscle cells.

8. And this enzyme — or enzymes — actually does the job of making your heart speed up and work harder — all because of what your eyes saw an instant ago.

Hormones are chemical messengers playing powerful roles in maintaining health and normal body functions. Different hormones are produced by the adrenals, the sex glands, the pituitary, and other glands. Each hormone affects only one or a few body organs or tissues.

Now, from reseach at Vanderbilt University, it appears that hormones carry their "messages" only part way. Upon reaching their target organs, they turn over the job of delivering the message to a kind of errand boy inside cells of the organ. And this errand boy is cyclic amp.

This chemical can mimic or do the job of at least some hormones, the researchers find.

These new studies of hormone action were described to the American Chemical Society recently by a team of Vanderbilt researchers, including Dr. Earl W. Sutherland, who first discovered amp; and Drs. R. W. Butcher and G. Alan Robison.

Cyclic amp seems to mediate or control the action of a variety of hormones, they said.

Recording Rips UNICEF's Award Of Peace Prize

The Nobel Prize was awarded to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). Children on Halloween collect pennies for UNICEF.

The recording, entitled "Let Freedom Ring" says "This UN organization gets gullible American parents to have their children go panhandling on Halloween for the world welfare state instead of traditional American trick or treat."

The recording also charges that large amounts of money collected by UNICEF go to Communist countries.

Robert G. King, district commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here, said Ohio Bell has no control over the recording.

King said the service was purchased by a Canton man who said the "Let Freedom Ring" movement is sponsored by a doctor in Sarasota, Fla.

Mrs. Paul Moon, chairman of the Central Stark County Inter-Faith Committee for UNICEF, said "We don't have any money for lawsuits. All our money goes to UNICEF. We probably will simply ignore it."

If Columbus had been born earlier, he probably could not have made his 1492 voyage to America. Boats were small; seamen could not sail into the wind and so stayed close to land; the compass was not available, and the stars had not been charted accurately. It was not until the mid-15th century that ocean navigation was established as a science, the National Geographic says.

Ex-Chester Woman's Husband Given Medal

Col. Eugene C. Barbero, deputy commander of the 2nd Support Brigade, was awarded the Legion of Merit at a recent review ceremony in Hanau, Germany.

The presentation was made by Maj. Gen. David B. Parker of the 7th Army.

Representative normal high and low temperatures: Cleveland 57-37, Columbus 59-37, Cincinnati 61-42. Cool Thursday, warm Friday through Sunday, turning cool again early next week. Precipitation will average about 1-10 to 2-10 inch as showers Sunday.

3. The nerve impulses stimulate the adrenals to release some adrenalin—about 1,000 times as much as when you're just resting—and stimulate nerve endings in the heart to release some nonadrenalin. Adrenalin and nonadrenalin are the hormones that mobilize energy to fight or run away.

4. The hormones reach the muscle cells of your heart.

5. But they don't act within these cells, and this is one new finding. Instead, they activate an enzyme, or chemical governor, which appears to be located in the cell membrane or wall.

6. This activated enzyme then brings about the release inside the cell of a special chemical, nicknamed cyclic amp.

7. Cyclic amp then activates one or more enzymes inside heart muscle cells.

8. And this enzyme — or enzymes — actually does the job of making your heart speed up and work harder — all because of what your eyes saw an instant ago.

Hormones are chemical messengers playing powerful roles in maintaining health and normal body functions. Different hormones are produced by the adrenals, the sex glands, the pituitary, and other glands. Each hormone affects only one or a few body organs or tissues.

Now, from reseach at Vanderbilt University, it appears that hormones carry their "messages" only part way. Upon reaching their target organs, they turn over the job of delivering the message to a kind of errand boy inside cells of the organ. And this errand boy is cyclic amp.

This chemical can mimic or do the job of at least some hormones, the researchers find.

These new studies of hormone action were described to the American Chemical Society recently by a team of Vanderbilt researchers, including Dr. Earl W. Sutherland, who first discovered amp; and Drs. R. W. Butcher and G. Alan Robison.

Cyclic amp seems to mediate or control the action of a variety of hormones, they said.

Recording Rips UNICEF's Award Of Peace Prize

The Nobel Prize was awarded to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). Children on Halloween collect pennies for UNICEF.

The recording, entitled "Let Freedom Ring" says "This UN organization gets gullible American parents to have their children go panhandling on Halloween for the world welfare state instead of traditional American trick or treat."

The recording also charges that large amounts of money collected by UNICEF go to Communist countries.

Robert G. King, district commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here, said Ohio Bell has no control over the recording.

King said the service was purchased by a Canton man who said the "Let Freedom Ring" movement is sponsored by a doctor in Sarasota, Fla.

Mrs. Paul Moon, chairman of the Central Stark County Inter-Faith Committee for UNICEF, said "We don't have any money for lawsuits. All our money goes to UNICEF. We probably will simply ignore it."

If Columbus had been born earlier, he probably could not have made his 1492 voyage to America. Boats were small; seamen could not sail into the wind and so stayed close to land; the compass was not available, and the stars had not been charted accurately. It was not until the mid-15th century that ocean navigation was established as a science, the National Geographic says.

Ex-Chester Woman's Husband Given Medal

Col. Eugene C. Barbero, deputy commander of the 2nd Support Brigade, was awarded the Legion of Merit at a recent review ceremony in Hanau, Germany.

The presentation was made by Maj. Gen. David B. Parker of the 7th Army.

Much Of Ritual As Going To Work

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Quitting time is as much a daily ritual in the American business office as coming to work in the morning.

If you check the lowing herd in your own white collar zoo, you might note the following familiar characters at the hour of closing:

Methodical Milton — Somebody stole a paper clip overnight from Milton 15 years ago and he is determined never to let it happen again. He puts everything that is on top his desk inside his desk, checks each drawer carefully to see that it is locked, then locks his file cabinet, padlocks his typewriter and hides the cushion of his swivel chair in his locker.

Fun Loving Freddy — As soon as Milton is gone, the office boy, who has keys to everything, opens Milton's desk, puts a well-chewed apple core in the top drawer, then relocks it. Milton will worry for a month how the apple got there.

Hangover Harry — He has spent the day hiding out in the washroom. At 5:29, still a bit foggy, he wheels in and calls out, "Anybody ready for lunch? I found a great place — the house buys every third martini."

Suburbanite Sam — In the summer this prisoner of the outer spaces sneaks out at 5 p.m. so he can spend more time whacking away at his crabgrass before dusk. In winter he starts wrapping up in heavy clothing at 5 p.m. so he can make the long voyage home without freezing.

Madcap Molly — The office Cleopatra never gets much done after 4 o'clock. From then on she tours the place, sitting on the desk of one junior executive after another, swinging her shapely legs and indulging in gay banter. Her big hope: One of them will weaken and take her to dinner and a movie.

Light-Fingered Leo — Tne office wolf has everything tidied up at 5:15. Then he stations himself near the door, hoping he can get in one more pinch as the girls from the stenographic pool pass by.

"Why do I have to think of everything around here?"

CORNPUTER. Computers help plant scientists figure out the correct combination of parent ears, in the technician's left hand, that produce the larger ears in her right hand.

Study Launched Of Proposed Bill On Birth Control

CHARLESTON (AP) — A subcommittee of legislators has begun study of a proposed bill which would permit birth control services under state aid.

The measure for "family planning and child spacing" programs, drawn up by the legislative service bureau and the attorney general's office, was received by the seven-man subcommittee Tuesday.

The subcommittee will consider whether to recommend the bill to the full Joint Committee on Government and Finance.

Details of the proposed bill were not made public. It was understood, however, to have the same general aims as another measure which would have allowed local health departments to set up birth control clinics under state aid.

The bill was passed by the state senate during the 1965 session, but bogged down in controversy and never came to a vote in the house. The legislature finally called for study of the matter by the interim committee.

Negro Gains Seen Under Reapportion

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Negroes could elect 15 members of the next legislature under reapportionment plans submitted by Republican state officials to a three-judge federal court, an administration spokesman estimated today.

Llewellyn A. (Jack) Coles, a Negro and an aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, said at least 12 House members and three senators could win seats.

During the last legislative session, two representatives and one senator were Negroes out of 137 House members and 32 senators.

House members are Reps. Carl B. Stokes, Cleveland Democrat and candidate for mayor in the Nov. 2 election, and David D. Albritton, Dayton Republican and former Ohio State University Olympic star. The only Negro senator, Robert C. Blackburn, Dayton Democrat, was killed Oct. 17 in a traffic accident.

The federal court in Cincinnati has a dozen plans to revamp the Ohio House and Senate under study. Judges are expected to announce soon how Ohio legislators must be elected next year for the 1967 general assembly to conform with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" directives.

Acting under orders of the federal judges to submit a proposal after the legislature failed, Ohio's Republican apportionment officials—Rhodes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Auditor Roger Cloud, former House speaker—drafted an "official" reapportionment to become law if the court approved. Suits have been filed in other courts to halt newspaper advertising and other efforts to make the plan effective.

Churchill Home In London To Be Sold At Auction

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's famous London home, 28 Hyde Park Gate, will be sold at auction here Thursday and the buyer could be an American, said an official of the auctions — Knight, Frank & Rutley.

The house—really two houses, because it includes No. 27 Hyde Park Gate next door—is expected to bring between $224,000 to $280,000.

The auctioneers have imposed no condition of sale concerning the use of the house or who buys it, but a move is under way to have it declared a historic building. It then could not be moved or substantially altered without official approval.

Sir Winston moved into the house during World War II and bought No. 27 for his staff.

Fun Loving Freddy — As soon as Milton is gone, the office boy, who has keys to everything, opens Milton's desk, puts a well-chewed apple core in the top drawer, then relocks it. Milton will worry for a month how the apple got there.

Hangover Harry — He has spent the day hiding out in the washroom. At 5:29, still a bit foggy, he wheels in and calls out, "Anybody ready for lunch? I found a great place — the house buys every third martini."

Suburbanite Sam — In the summer this prisoner of the outer spaces sneaks out at 5 p.m. so he can spend more time whacking away at his crabgrass before dusk. In winter he starts wrapping up in heavy clothing at 5 p.m. so he can make the long voyage home without freezing.

Madcap Molly — The office Cleopatra never gets much done after 4 o'clock. From then on she tours the place, sitting on the desk of one junior executive after another, swinging her shapely legs and indulging in gay banter. Her big hope: One of them will weaken and take her to dinner and a movie.

Light-Fingered Leo — Tne office wolf has everything tidied up at 5:15. Then he stations himself near the door, hoping he can get in one more pinch as the girls from the stenographic pool pass by.

"What a menagerie," he mumbles. Then, as he goes around switching out the lights, he grumbles:

"Why do I have to think of everything around here?"

Study Launched Of Proposed Bill On Birth Control

CHARLESTON (AP) — A subcommittee of legislators has begun study of a proposed bill which would permit birth control services under state aid.

The measure for "family planning and child spacing" programs, drawn up by the legislative service bureau and the attorney general's office, was received by the seven-man subcommittee Tuesday.

The subcommittee will consider whether to recommend the bill to the full Joint Committee on Government and Finance.

Details of the proposed bill were not made public. It was understood, however, to have the same general aims as another measure which would have allowed local health departments to set up birth control clinics under state aid.

The bill was passed by the state senate during the 1965 session, but bogged down in controversy and never came to a vote in the house. The legislature finally called for study of the matter by the interim committee.

Churchill Home In London To Be Sold At Auction

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's famous London home, 28 Hyde Park Gate, will be sold at auction here Thursday and the buyer could be an American, said an official of the auctions — Knight, Frank & Rutley.

The house—really two houses, because it includes No. 27 Hyde Park Gate next door—is expected to bring between $224,000 to $280,000.

The auctioneers have imposed no condition of sale concerning the use of the house or who buys it, but a move is under way to have it declared a historic building. It then could not be moved or substantially altered without official approval.

Sir Winston moved into the house during World War II and bought No. 27 for his staff.

Negro Gains Seen Under Reapportion

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Negroes could elect 15 members of the next legislature under reapportionment plans submitted by Republican state officials to a three-judge federal court, an administration spokesman estimated today.

Llewellyn A. (Jack) Coles, a Negro and an aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, said at least 12 House members and three senators could win seats.

During the last legislative session, two representatives and one senator were Negroes out of 137 House members and 32 senators.

House members are Reps. Carl B. Stokes, Cleveland Democrat and candidate for mayor in the Nov. 2 election, and David D. Albritton, Dayton Republican and former Ohio State University Olympic star. The only Negro senator, Robert C. Blackburn, Dayton Democrat, was killed Oct. 17 in a traffic accident.

The federal court in Cincinnati has a dozen plans to revamp the Ohio House and Senate under study. Judges are expected to announce soon how Ohio legislators must be elected next year for the 1967 general assembly to conform with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" directives.

Acting under orders of the federal judges to submit a proposal after the legislature failed, Ohio's Republican apportionment officials—Rhodes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Auditor Roger Cloud, former House speaker—drafted an "official" reapportionment to become law if the court approved. Suits have been filed in other courts to halt newspaper advertising and other efforts to make the plan effective.

Measures To Strengthen Back

"I need special exercises to flatten my stomach. The trouble is, I have a weak back and cannot take strenucus exercise. I weigh 160 pounds for 5'5". I'm 45."

Ida Jean Kain

This exercise request is quite common. A protruding abdomen is often associated with back ailments. With swayback there is a sharp incurve at the small of the back. A compensatory outcurve of the abdomen is the natural consequence. There is sometimes a question of which is cause and which is effect.

—:—

EXCESS FAT in the abdomen adds to the bulge. However, it isn't always a question of added fat, but of flabby muscle. Many normal weights are plagued with back troubles. As life gets physically easier, we do not exercise anything like enough to keep physically fit. The big muscles of the body, not being used, tend to lose tone. This is particularly true of the muscles of the abdomen and the back.

When the girdle muscles become flabby, the organs in the abdominal cavity, lacing proper support, sag and crowd against each other. The sagging exaggerates the bulge and adds to back ailments. When the problem is recognized, the correction isn't too difficult.

With overweight, the correction is threefold: Eat to build leanness and reduce gradually; exercise to restore tone to the muscles which brace the abdominal wall and strengthen the back muscles. Avoid all exercises which involve a twist or which put a strain on the lower back muscles. Third, and this is all important, practice good posture in sitting, standing and walking.

In sitting, have back of hips against chairback, abdominal muscles pulled up and in firmly. In standing and walking, keep pelvic girdle centered. Pull up and in with abdominals and contract with the hip muscles.

From same starting position, one knee flexed, bring opposite knee to chest, pulling up snugly with abdominals, straighten leg, and very gradually lower leg to floor. . .again, keeping small of back flat against floor. Repeat three times, then flex opposite knee to chest, straighten leg and slowly lower to floor.

Finally hug both knees to chest and rock back and forth.

Bringing Up A Family

Questions—Answers Improve Reading

Many a child who can read aloud fairly well often doesn't know the meaning of what he reads. A mother writes from upstate New York about her daughter, 10: "Her reading is at grade level (C) but her written expression and ability to solve problems and answer questions is failure. I've made her read aloud and then asked her questions on what she has just read. She answers pretty well when I ask her orally, but when I put the questions on paper, she's a complete blank."

Dr. Garry Myers

My reply in part:

—:—

YOUR PREOCEDURE has merit. Go on with it but write or type the questions you ask. As she reads each question silently you should read it orally. Sometimes you should type or write a few questions before this child reads a short story or feature. Have her answer the questions after she has read the story or feature aloud or silently.

In some of her textbooks there may be many printed questions at the beginning or end of a chapter or subject, as in history or geography. Read these questions often with her to make sure she gets their meaning before trying to answer them. You should often read with her the paragraph or chapter on which these questions are based.

Show her, moreover, how to say in a sentence or two in her own words what is in the paragraph. She might like to make up some questions of her own and then answer them.

NO DOUBT she has at school one or more workbooks. If she will bring one of them home you could profitably read aloud with her each question and have her answer it orally before she writes this answer in the blank space.

Furthermore, read daily to her from other sources she will enjoy hearing. About the best thing you could do is to read to a younger child to amuse him. It would be wonderful if you could get her to read aloud such books as Robinson Crusoe, which has an easy vocabulary.

The extra books she reads should be easier than her regular school books. But she may feel embarrassed if other children see her reading from such easy books. You can aid her to save face by helping her to do similar reading when other children are not around.

Several of the children's magazines have much in them she might like to read for fun. They are different from school books and contain a wide variety of illustrated features and stories.

IN SOME children's magazines are features full of questions which challenge the child to think and reason by recalling his experiences and using what's already in his head. They are different from the textbook and school assignments on which he often is tested. They are not chores but exciting challenges.

Ohio Merchants Council Blasts Tax Boost Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, basing its claim on the opinions of two former Ohio tax commissioners, say the proposal to increase the state sales tax is unconstitutional and unenforceable.

Executive Director George B. Hammond said C. Emory Glander and Stanley J. Bowers both felt the proposal, to appear on the Nov. 2 ballot, lacks an amendmment to a section of the existing bill without which it is discriminatory among sales tax vendors.

"These opinions," Hammond said Tuesday, "further substantiate our strong conviction that the drafting of this bill is inexcusably poor and that complicated legislation such as this, especially in the section dealing with taxes, should be left to the legislature."

The proposal to increase the sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent was iniatiated by the Ohio Council for Education, made up of a dozen school groups. Officials of the group estimate it would yield an extra $116 million annually for public schools.

Young Pickets Protest Making Of War Toys

A marcher, John Gazurian, explained that with the approach of Christmas, it's hypocritical to preach "peace on earth, good will toward men" and "then give the kid a machine gun."

The signs carried by the pickets Tuesday read, "War is not for children" and "Don't toy with war." The group's name: Playful, Educational Artifacts for Children Everywhere — PEACE.

Stepped On Gas Pedal, Then Came The Crash

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Everything appeared normal as Samuel Ginger got into his car Tuesday, started it and pressed down on the gas pedal. Then came the crash.

During the night a thief had stolen a front wheel and tire and left the car propped up on a jack.

Measures To Strengthen Back

"I need special exercises to flatten my stomach. The trouble is, I have a weak back and cannot take strenuous exercise. I weigh 160 pounds for 5'5". I'm 45."

Ida Jean Kain

This exercise request is quite common. A protruding abdomen is often associated with back ailments. With swayback there is a sharp incurve at the small of the back. A compensatory outcurve of the abdomen is the natural consequence. There is sometimes a question of which is cause and which is effect.

—:—

EXCESS FAT in the abdomen adds to the bulge. However, it isn't always a question of added fat, but of flabby muscle. Many normal weights are plagued with back troubles. As life gets physically easier, we do not exercise anything like enough to keep physically fit. The big muscles of the body, not being used, tend to lose tone. This is particularly true of the muscles of the abdomen and the back.

When the girdle muscles become flabby, the organs in the abdominal cavity, lacing proper support, sag and crowd against each other. The sagging exaggerates the bulge and adds to back ailments. When the problem is recognized, the correction isn't too difficult.

With overweight, the correction is threefold: Eat to build leanness and reduce gradually; exercise to restore tone to the muscles which brace the abdominal wall and strengthen the back muscles. Avoid all exercises which involve a twist or which put a strain on the lower back muscles. Third, and this is all important, practice good posture in sitting, standing and walking.

In sitting, have back of hips against chairback, abdominal muscles pulled up and in firmly. In standing and walking, keep pelvic girdle centered. Pull up and in with abdominals and contract with the hip muscles.

From same starting position, one knee flexed, bring opposite knee to chest, pulling up snugly with abdominals, straighten leg, and very gradually lower leg to floor. . .again, keeping small of back flat against floor. Repeat three times, then flex opposite knee to chest, straighten leg and slowly lower to floor.

Finally hug both knees to chest and rock back and forth.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Questions—Answers Improve Reading

Many a child who can read aloud fairly well often doesn't know the meaning of what he reads. A mother writes from upstate New York about her daughter, 10: "Her reading is at grade level (C) but her written expression and ability to solve problems and answer questions is failure. I've made her read aloud and then asked her questions on what she has just read. She answers pretty well when I ask her orally, but when I put the questions on paper, she's a complete blank."

Dr. Garry Myers

My reply in part:

—:—

YOUR PREOCEDURE has merit. Go on with it but write or type the questions you ask. As she reads each question silently you should read it orally. Sometimes you should type or write a few questions before this child reads a short story or feature. Have her answer the questions after she has read the story or feature aloud or silently.

In some of her textbooks there may be many printed questions at the beginning or end of a chapter or subject, as in history or geography. Read these questions often with her to make sure she gets their meaning before trying to answer them. You should often read with her the paragraph or chapter on which these questions are based.

Show her, moreover, how to say in a sentence or two in her own words what is in the paragraph. She might like to make up some questions of her own and then answer them.

NO DOUBT she has at school one or more workbooks. If she will bring one of them home you could profitably read aloud with her each question and have her answer it orally before she writes this answer in the blank space.

Furthermore, read daily to her from other sources she will enjoy hearing. About the best thing you could do is to read to a younger child to amuse him. It would be wonderful if you could get her to read aloud such books as Robinson Crusoe, which has an easy vocabulary.

The extra books she reads should be easier than her regular school books. But she may feel embarrassed if other children see her reading from such easy books. You can aid her to save face by helping her to do similar reading when other children are not around.

Several of the children's magazines have much in them she might like to read for fun. They are different from school books and contain a wide variety of illustrated features and stories.

IN SOME children's magazines are features full of questions which challenge the child to think and reason by recalling his experiences and using what's already in his head. They are different from the textbook and school assignments on which he often is tested. They are not chores but exciting challenges.

One of the children's magazines specializes in stimulating children from two to twelve to think and reason.

My bulletins, "Home Helps in Reading I & II," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Ohio Merchants Council Blasts Tax Boost Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, basing its claim on the opinions of two former Ohio tax commissioners, say the proposal to increase the state sales tax is unconstitutional and unenforceable.

Executive Director George B. Hammond said C. Emory Glander and Stanley J. Bowers both felt the proposal, to appear on the Nov. 2 ballot, lacks an amendmment to a section of the existing bill without which it is discriminatory among sales tax vendors.

"These opinions," Hammond said Tuesday, "further substantiate our strong conviction that the drafting of this bill is inexcusably poor and that complicated legislation such as this, especially in the section dealing with taxes, should be left to the legislature."

The proposal to increase the sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent was iniatiated by the Ohio Council for Education, made up of a dozen school groups. Officials of the group estimate it would yield an extra $116 million annually for public schools.

Young Pickets Protest Making Of War Toys

A marcher, John Gazurian, explained that with the approach of Christmas, it's hypocritical to preach "peace on earth, good will toward men" and "then give the kid a machine gun."

The signs carried by the pickets Tuesday read, "War is not for children" and "Don't toy with war." The group's name: Playful, Educational Artifacts for Children Everywhere — PEACE.

Junior Editors Quiz on SPEEDY ANIMALS

QUESTION: What are the fastest animals?

ANSWER: Many studies have been made of the speed of animals by driving along side them in cars or from planes. It is difficult to get an exact speed figure in this way, so one must allow for possible error. But experts agree that the pronghorn antelope (A) is the fastest native land animal in America, having been clocked at over 60 miles an hour (compared with 40-45 miles per hour for the fastest race-horses). (B) is the duck hawk going 175 m.p.h. It is when hawks and falcons dive down on their prey that they attain such terriffic speed. There is disagreement about their top speeds—and some say the claim of great speed is exaggerated, others insist that the Swifts of Europe and Asia have been clocked at 200 m.p.m. which would make them the fastest living creatures. Experts agree that the prize for the world's fastest land animal goes to the cheetah of Africa and Asia (D). These are cats, but have the long legs and deep chests of dogs, making speeds up to 70 m.p.h. They are often trained to hunt. The fastest fishes are (E) the sailfish and (F) the dangerous barracuda, which sometimes attacks human beings.

FOR YOU TO DO: Next time you are iin a car or bus, watch for some flying birds and see if you can judge their speed. You may be traveling 40 or 50 miles an hour. Are the birds flying faster or slower?.

How Can I?

ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean stained suede shoes?

A. — First brush them to remove all dust particles, then hold the shoe over the spout of a steaming teakettle long enough to raise the nap, but not long enough to get the shoe wet. A steam iron is fine for this, too. Finally, brush the nap with a soft brush and let the shoes dry thoroughly before wearing them again.

Q. — What can I do when cream seems to be too thick to whip properly?

A. — Place the dish of cream in another dish containing cold water. When it is chilled, place it in a dish of hot water for a few minutes. It should then whip readily.

Q. — What can I do when the wax polish on my furniture begins to take on a streaky appearance?

A. — It's probably time for you to remove that old wax which has become mixed with dirt and has collected on the surface. Mild soap and lukewarm water will usually do the job, but don't let the soap remain on the furniture any length of time. Be sure also to polish or rewax the furniture immediately after washing it.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My friend seems to think it is improper for my 12-year-old son to undress in my presence at bedtime. Sometimes the boy takes his clothes off in front of me and doesn't think a thing of it. At other times he develops streaks of bashfulness and asks me to leave the room, which is okay. I always oblige.

There's no way of telling how he's going to feel about this from one day to the next.

And while we are on the subject, what about a mother undressing in the presence of her 12-year-old son? I never have made a point of hiding when I dress or undress because I don't want my son to grow up thinking the human body is something to be ashamed of. What are your views? — NO FIG LEAFER.

Dear No Fig: Most 12-year-old boys want privacy and they deserve it. You are wise not to make an issue of it when your son develops "streaks of bashfulness."

You should be wanting privacy, too, Mother. No point of covering up should be made to small children but by the time they are 12 years old children should not see a parent of the opposite sex parading around nude.

Grandmother's Place

Dear Ann: I make my home with my daughter who was widowed two years ago. She needs me badly because I take care of her three children while she works.

I just learned the terrible truth about something I have suspected for almost six months. My daughter is having an affair with her supervisor. He is a married man with a family.

My religion always has meant a great deal to me. I feel that I'm offending God by living in a home where there is shameless sin. I could manage financially if I took a room elsewhere and I think perhaps I should do just that.

It would be difficult to leave the children but at least I would feel right with my conscience. I read the Bible every night for comfort but I cannot find the answer to my problem. Can you help? — TORMENTED MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Keep reading. When you come to the line, "Hate the sin but love the sinner," put a bookmark in that place and read it every day.

If you leave, your daughter would have to hire a housekeeper. Your grandchildren would be the losers—and so would you. Stay where you are needed.

Perplexed Teen

Dear Ann: Please do us teenage girls a favor and publish this in the paper.

How can a girl who isn't especially beautiful keep a fellow interested without letting him get away with murder?

My cousin, who has gone steady with five different guys, says the best way is to let a fellow make slow gains.

Her system didn't work out very well. She is now in a home for unwed mothers.

Another girl says it's best to let the boy know from the first date that good conversation is all he is going to get because boys respect girls who draw the line from the very first. Maybe she is right but she sure stays home a lot.

I'm not an extremist. I believe the best policy is to stay in the middle of the road. What do you say?—PUSSYCAT.

Dear Pussycat: Get out of the middle of the road, kiddo. That's where most of the accidents happen.

That girl who stays home a lot has the right idea. When she does go out it will be with the right kind of fellows. The girl who feels she must resort to intimacy in order to keep a boy interested admits she has nothing else to offer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Highway Patrol Chief 'Sold' On His Organization

Chiaramonte, named to the top post by Gov. James A. Rhodes Tuesday, said he believes both the efficiency and public image of the patrol are "tops" and that it is "the finest law enforcement agency in the nation."

Chiaramonte, who has been assistant superintendent, succeeds Col. Anson B. Cook, 55, who resigned to become director of the new Ohio Peace Officers Training Council. Chiaramonte, a 23-year veteran of the patrol, also gets Cook's rank of colonel.

Shortly after Chiaramonte's appointment, Maj. Clifford E. Reich, also 45, was named to succeed him as assistant superintendent.

Reich, a native of Wooster, was promoted to lieutenant colonel effective Nov. 1, when the promotions take effect.

In his climb up the ranks, Chiaramonte, a native of Ashtabula county served in the Warren and Geneva posts and as an instructor at the Patrol Academy.

Man, 53, Heads To Ohio Pen For 2nd Life Term

CINCINNATI (AP) — John McIntosh is headed for the Ohio Penitentiary for his second life sentence in 13 years.

The three common pleas judges who convicted him Oct. 20 of first degree murder, Tuesday refused to grant a new trial and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

Counsel for the 53-year-old Cincinnati man argued for his acquittal on the grounds that he was insane at the time he shot and killed his 30-year-old stepson, Michael McIntosh, on June 11, 1961.

Police say the slaying apparently stemmed from an argument over the younger man's testimony at the 1952 trial when McIntosh was convicted of killing Carl Hyatt during a dispute over car payments.

The murder conviction was commuted to manslaughter by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, and McIntosh was paroled in 1960.

After the second slaying, McIntosh spent several years in state institutions.

McNamara Says He Hasn't Talked About Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has relayed a denial: he hasn't talked with President Johnson about resigning.

The statement came after a syndicated news column reported Tuesday that the Defense Department chief had told the President he planned to return to private life by the end of the year.

He reported: "Mr. McNamara told me he never has had any such discussion with the President."

Other McNamara associates insisted that the secretary plans to stay on the job as long as the President wants him.

Girl Sentenced, Fined In Smuggling Blades

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old Dayton girl was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $50 and costs Tuesday for smuggling hacksaw blades into the Greene County Jail in a bag of potato chips.

The girl, Betty Metcalf, and Lois May, 17, of Dayton, who has been turned over to juvenile authorities, were accused of smuggling the blades to Jimmy Griffie, 31, and Arthur Fugate, 30, both of Dayton, who were foiled in an attempted jail break.

Auto Mishap Fatal

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Elijah Cummings, 55, was killed early today when his auto turned over. Police said the car apparently hit a curb.

Police Detain Driver 'To Sober Him Up'

The policeman opened the door and the man got out. His car was straddling the divider strip of a freeway with the back wheels spinning in the air.
